OIL RELIEF PLEDGED DEC. 23!

OPA TO RELEASE SMALL SUPPLY THRU 7 STATES

Considers Raising Coupon Value.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS.

Chicago fuel oil consumers pour out complaints against rationing in public forum at city hall. Details on page 7.

Office of price administration explains in 19 page statement its reasons for modifying straight percentage basis in fuel oil ration. Story on page 7.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Office of price administration officials at Washington, D. C., last night made their first fuel oil rationing concession to metropolitan Chicago and the middle west by advancing the effective date for the No. 3 coupons from Jan. 5 to Dec. 23.

Fuel oil dealers said it was a small concession. They said that it was inadequate; that it left them still operating under the same "unworkable and unadministrable" regulations as before and left the fuel oil users, at least for the next five days, in no better position than they have been since the whole rationing system broke down.

Consider Raising Values.

In the OPA order it was stated the OPA and OPC [office of petroleum coördinator] were considering whether midwestern conditions justified an increase in the unit value of the No. 3 coupons. If such an increase were made, it was said, it would be announced before Dec. 23. The No. 1 and No. 2 coupons were worth 10 gallons each.

The order affects all of Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Nebraska.

Prior to the OPA announcement, complete suspension of fuel oil rationing until Jan. 15 was urged by Gov. Dwight H. Green yesterday in telegrams to President Roosevelt and the OPA. He made the request, he said in his wires, "to permit study of this problem with a view toward determining sound and practical criteria for rationing computation to meet individual home needs."

Suggests 68 to 72 Degrees.

He suggested "that a minimum heat range from 68 to 72 degrees be adopted as the essential basis for rationing requirements."

The governor made the request while he was working with three heat experts, who with himself made up a committee he named at a meeting of oil distributors Thursday, to formulate a substitute fuel oil rationing plan. Incorporated into this plan were to be a number of practical suggestions made by the distributors, who have condemned the OPA's present regulations as "unworkable."

The OPA order was issued from Regional Director John C. Weigel's office at about 5 p. m., after six of the top men in the petroleum industry charged that the present fuel oil program is unworkable "because it simply can't be administered." These men said that the OPA order falls far short of what they are demanding.

Top Executives on Committee.

They made the statement after a meeting in headquarters of the petroleum industry committee for district 2 at 624 South Michigan avenue. Attending were Frank Phillips, general chairman, head of the company bearing his name; E. G. Seubert, president of Standard Oil Company of Indiana; Otto Donnell, president of the Ohio Oil company; Paul Blazer, president of the Ashland Refining company; Bernard Majewski, vice president of the Deep Rock Oil corporation, and B. R. Bay, president of the Northern Natural Gas company.

"What we complain of is that the rationing program is unworkable and that it is not being administered and cannot be administered," Phillips said.

Majewski added: "We have taken steps to do something about it. We hope to get the supply in better shape and we are urging OPA to give the people a workable rationing plan."

Phillips said rationing is silly unless it works an equitable distribution. "There ought not to be any rationing at all if we have a supply," he added, "and there is a surplus in the Chicago area because we can't get transportation to ship the oil east."

Asked what the committee for district 2 was doing about the breakdown in fuel oil rationing, which it

Robbers Get $20,000; Touhy Gang Suspected

5 Masked Men Take Armored Car; Shoot One

Five masked men, who may have been members of the "Terrible Touhy" gang, attacked an armored money car outside the Buick plant in Melrose Park yesterday, shot a guard and sped away with the captured vehicle and the $20,000 it contained.

Anthony Griffo.

"It seems that the Touhy mob has come out of hiding to get a stake," said Lt. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police after he had investigated the robbery, carried out in typical Touhy style. Roger Touhy, Basil [The Owl] Banghart, and five other convicts escaped last October from Stateville prison, where they were serving long term sentences for the kidnaping of John [Jake the Barber] Factor. They have since been in hiding.

Dash Up Brandishing Rifles.

The car was owned by the North Town Currency exchange, 2345 Devon avenue, and the guards, Anthony Griffo of 3516 Montrose avenue and John Fasulo of 4811 North Wolcott avenue, were cashing pay checks for Buick company employés when the bandits, brandishing 30-30 rifles, dashed up in two automobiles.

They fired at the truck windows, and the glass, designed to resist revolver bullets, was shattered. Thrusting the barrels of their guns thru the apertures, they ordered Griffo, who had been shot in the forearm, and Fasulo to lie down in a nearby vacant lot. Two of the men drove off in the truck, followed by their accomplices in the two other cars.

An hour later Al Grandt of 25th street and Grand avenue, Franklin Park, was walking down a roadway near that address when the truck halted in front of the Liberty Chemical laboratories. Two men jumped out, tossed handfuls of money into a following car, slammed the truck doors, and sped away.

Sees Money in Truck.

Grandt said there were bullet holes in the truck and that he had seen currency scattered about the interior before the door was closed. "One of the men was a tall, skinny guy wearing a dark coat and a light hat," Grandt said. He was unable to obtain the license number of the car in which the men escaped.

Meanwhile Griffo had been taken into the Buick company hospital for treatment. Doctors there said his wound was not serious.

State police picked up, near the spot where the truck was abandoned, a 1942 Illinois automobile license plate. It was examined and found to have been made by soldering different numbers together.

Strike on 'L' Due Tonight; WLB May Act

As representatives of the Chicago Rapid Transit [elevated] lines and their 4,500 employés last night reached a deadlock in negotiations for a new wage contract, bringing with it the threat of a strike at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow, word came from Washington, D. C., that the war labor board may step in and order the employés to continue service.

Contract negotiations between division 308 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Elevated Employés [AFL] and representatives of the transit company were heard by a three man department of labor conciliation panel headed by William G. Murray. He said negotiations had broken down when "both sides stood pat" on their demands and so telegraphed John R. Steelman, director of conciliation of the labor department.

Predicts Warning Against Strike.

In Washington a spokesman for the department said last night it will give "very prompt attention" early today to the report of the conciliators and that if the United States conciliation service is convinced that a settlement cannot be reached the case probably will be certified to the national war labor board, which undoubtedly will telegraph the employés, "telling them not to strike."

Union demands, said William F. Levander, president, are for a blanket 9 cents per hour wage increase and a 14 cent increase in lower brackets. In their 1941 contract, the workers were granted a 5 cent pay increase, longer vacations, and pensions.

Vote Follows Negotiations.

The union's contract with the elevated lines expired last May 31 and any new agreement would be retroactive to June 1. Levander reported that negotiations with "L" representatives had broken down on Dec. 11 and on the next night 500 of the union's members adopted unanimously a strike resolution, effective at 12:01 tomorrow.

Conferences with the federal conciliation panel, composed of Murray, Paul S. Williams, and Byrne Badenoch, began Thursday. Levander represented the union and the elevated lines were represented by H. A. Johnson, general manager; Bernard J. Fallon and Col. A. A. Sprague, trustees; Thomas Marshall, attorney for the trustees, and Hal M. Lytle, public relations counsel.

U. S. SUBMARINES SINK 7 JAP VESSELS; WAR'S TOTAL, 105 DESTROYED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—American submarines, relentlessly blasting away at Japan's maritime strength, have sent seven more enemy ships to the bottom of the Pacific, the navy announced today.

A communique listed the latest prey of the undersea raiders as a large tanker, a large cargo ship, a medium sized tanker, two medium sized cargo vessels, one medium sized transport and a trawler.

These vessels raised to 155 the number of enemy ships of all types which have been successfully attacked by United States submarines. The total consists of 105 vessels sunk, 22 probably sunk and 28 damaged.

Business Section Burns at Newfoundland Port

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Dec. 18.—Fanned by strong winds, a fire this afternoon destroyed a large portion of the business section of Carbonear, a port on Conception bay. Communication has been cut off since 5 p. m., when the fire still was raging. Fire fighters with apparatus, police, doctors, and nurses have been fighting their way thru snowdrifts since late this afternoon in an effort to reach the scene. Carbonear is about 3 miles from Harbor Grace.

Blind Student Enlists Skill in Army Post

The United States army has engaged the services of a blind De Paul university honor student to teach its men how to repair radios—in the dark.

The youth, Byron H. Webb, 23, of 3333 Cullom avenue, will be graduated from De Paul this morning and go to work tonight in a blacked out room at the American Television laboratories, 433 East Erie street, where his extra-sensitive fingers will teach soldier students in United States army signal corps classes how to make emergency repairs on radios under conditions of darkness.

Courses Read to Student.

The youth's job was made possible to a large degree by the volunteer work of the Blind Service association, whose members have read aloud to him from his De Paul textbooks thru the last four years. His "eyes" during the course of study were those of Mrs. Harry Brewer, who now believes that, in addition to helping a sightless youth attain scholastic honors, she has helped the army in bringing it Webb's special talents.

"He's an unusually bright boy," Mrs. Brewer said. "He learns fast, and it was a pleasure to see how quickly his mind grasped the facts in his textbook as I read to him."

Webb's outside school activities have been in radio work. He has been a licensed amateur wireless operator for several years and his associates say he is an expert on radio signal code.

Hearing Supplants Eyes.

Now he has developed his special talents to such an extent that his fingers and keen hearing take the place of his eyes in radio repair work.

The method he has developed depends largely on the use of ear phones instead of meters, which are more commonly used in radio repairing. Where normally voltage is checked by meters, or the repair man breaks in a coil by means of a meter, Webb estimates the voltage by the strength of the signals he hears in the ear phones. He can locate any break in the wiring with the same method. His fingers suffice for the rest of the job.

Webb's services were sought by the army, when the Blind Service association reported his unusual talent.

Out of the Depths. II.

(An Editorial)

Mr. Leon Henderson has resigned his position as director of the office of price administration. In his letter to the President he mentions ill health and failing eyesight, but it is clear that Mr. Henderson could have the health of a half back and the vision of a pursuit pilot and still would have been forced to relinquish his office.

In reality, Mr. Henderson lost his job on Nov. 3 when the believers in American constitutional government asserted themselves at the polls and elected an anti-New Deal congress. The removal of Mr. Henderson is the first dividend to have been received so far. There will be others, for from day to day it becomes clearer that the election was one of the great turning points in our history.

The sense of enlargement that led The Tribune to choose the title, "Out of the Depths," for its editorial of thanksgiving immediately after the election is spreading thruout the country. The disposition to accept tyrannies as inevitable is fast fading. Mr. Roosevelt, no doubt, hopes that the removal of Mr. Henderson will quiet an aroused public but, if so, is due for the surprise of his life. It is not Mr. Henderson alone nor Mr. Henderson chiefly whom the voters had in mind on Nov. 3. They were determined to put an end to a theory and system of government. Mr. Henderson's scalp is a token of what is to come.

Mr. Henderson has been called the "price czar." A more meaningful term would be "price commissar," for the kind of burocratic absolutism that he represents bears the totalitarian brand. He is one symbol of the scheme to replace constitutional government and free enterprise with a dictatorship and a controled economy. In pursuit of that scheme the war has provided a convenient excuse. Any efforts that the New Dealers have made to win the war have been far overshadowed by their determination so to disorganize our economy that after the war there can be no hope of restoring the form of civilization which has made us strong in our freedom.

Therein lies the explanation for the rationing devices. Shortages that might have been overcome as they were in the last war by appeals for coöperation on the part of consumers were made the excuse for the imposition of burocratic control reinforced with savage penalties. The inexcusable oil rationing in the middle west is an example. The absurdity of discouraging the fattening of cattle at a time when a meat shortage is threatened is another.

Some of the worst of these schemes were postponed until after the election in the knowledge that the public would rebel, but enough of the purpose was evident to the voters to defeat the strategem. The hope in Washington was that another rubber stamp congress would be elected to indorse anything that the administration might suggest. So confident was Mr. Roosevelt of the outcome that he proposed, just on the eve of the voting, that he be given authority to nullify statutes at his pleasure. He expected that his majority would be returned and he could claim a mandate for that or any other revolutionary action.

But it didn't work out that way. His proposal has been rejected by the lame duck congress and will surely meet with little favor from the new one. He has now been forced to remove the arch-symbol of collectivism from his official family. The widespread resentment at the activities of his war labor board is coming to a head. Congress is going to look into the deprivation of civil liberties thru censorship and prosecution. Misrule in Puerto Rico by Commissar Henderson's colleague, Commissar Tugwell, is being exposed.

In all these ways and in many others Americanism is again asserting itself. The day is coming when the sadists who find pleasure in spreading misery, the commissars who are determined to fasten an alien rule upon us, the burocrats who are seeking for more power over us will follow Henderson into oblivion.

When in Africa, Dip Food with Hands, Yanks Taught

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 [Special].—Social graces such as dipping your right hand into your food and shouting to women to "cover up" before approaching them are being taught the Yanks fighting in Africa, the war department disclosed today.

A 42 page booklet describing in detail the Emily Post rules of etiquet à la Africa has been issued to United States soldiers in Morocco and Algiers. The booklet warns specifically about table manners, respect of religion, and conduct toward native women.

And Bring Your Cigarets.

"When dining with a Moslem host," the Yanks are advised, "adopt his table manners and—always with your right hand—dip into the tasty, fluffy grain dish called kuskus, leaving something in the bowl for the women and children who will be served later. Accept three cups of mint flavored tea but never a fourth. Be generous with your cigarets, they are much appreciated.

"When you are about to enter a house or yard, call out to the women 'Taghattu!' which means 'cover up.' Never bring a dog into the house.

"Shake hands gently with North Africans. Never strike one; while no bruisers, they are handy with knives. Never give Moslems alcoholic drinks or pork.

Different but Not Queer.

"When you shop, bargain for all you're worth, but politely. Try to learn to talk to the North Africans in Arabic; they will like you for it no matter how poorly you pronounce it.

"Remember that a people whose customs and conduct differ from your own are not to be regarded as queer.

"Watch out for lice, scorpions, cobras, asps, and too much sunburn."

The soldiers were cautioned against arguments about religion and the necessity of respecting the religion of Islam.

They were told that they were courting serious injury if not death at the hands of Moslem men if they did not obey rules in regard to native women folk. Previously announced "don'ts" warned against staring, jostling, speaking to or trying to remove the veil of native women.

SAYS CHINA HAS DESTROYED 993 JAP AIRPLANES

Orlando, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP).—The Chinese air force, dangerous despite its small size, has taken a terrific toll of Japanese warships, planes, and installations, Maj. Yuh Foo Chiang, acting air attaché of the Chinese embassy at Washington, D. C., said here today.

From August, 1937, thru December, 1941, Chinese planes destroyed 993 Japanese aircraft, with a loss of 3,163 enemy flyers; destroyed 49 warships and damaged 35 others, and wrecked three ammunition depots, besides bombing enemy supply lines and air fields in enemy occupied China, Maj. Chiang said.

U. S. PLANES SET FIRE TO WARSHIP NEAR BIZERTE

Bomb Tunisia Bases 8th Straight Day.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Dec. 18 (AP).—Flying Fortresses, continuing their daily attacks on Bizerte, today scored a direct hit and set fire to one of two enemy warships, both believed to have been cruisers, 15 miles off the Tunisian naval base.

[A Reuters news agency dispatch to London from allied headquarters said an Italian troopship also was hit.]

Other Fortresses battered the Bizerte docks for the eighth successive day, registering a number of hits squarely on their targets. Then they fought their way out in a 15 minute running battle with German fighter planes defending the base which is held by the axis.

Shoot Down Three Planes.

The bombers shot down at least three of the 15 planes that jumped them and damaged six others. One Fortress was lost, however.

Lightning fighters accompanied the Fortresses, but it was not learned at allied headquarters immediately whether they took a further toll of the German air force.

Billy Mitchell [North American B-25] and Martin B-26 twin motored bombers rounded out the day's air assault on axis positions with a raid on the railroad yards at Sousse, just south of Tunis. Direct hits were seen along a 2,000 foot section of the yards and bombs were also believed to have hit the roundhouse.

Two Bombers Lost.

Two of the Martin bombers were lost when the raiders encountered intense anti-aircraft fire from ships in Sousse harbor. One of the two, with one motor knocked out, was last seen descending while still under control and with all its guns concentrating on one of the ships.

These attacks followed others yesterday in which Flying Fortresses again bombed the docks at Bizerte and Tunis where they left fresh fires raging, a headquarters communique announced.

Spitfire pilots escorting the big bombers over Tunis said they counted at least 25 large fires still going strong from previous raids.

The communique said medium bombers attacked El Aquina airdrome near Tunis. The fire from these bombers was believed to have put a radio station out of commission there. Other medium bombers also struck at Gabes on the east coast of Tunisia.

Allied Patrols Active.

On the ground British and American patrols were increasingly aggressive. Improving weather conditions gave promise of large scale fighting in the near future, and an allied communique said allied patrols were active all along the front.

A headquarters spokesman said this activity was particularly marked in the central part of the front around Mejez-El-Bab, 35 miles southwest of Tunis, where a number of small enemy mine fields were destroyed—usually the preliminary to an offensive.

French forces, also active, announced the capture of an important place near Pont-Du-Fahs, about 22 miles southeast of Mejez-El-Bab.

Fight Along Libyan Coast.

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP).—The British army of Libya, in absolute command of the air, beat powerfully at Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreating African corps today. The British were in pursuit of the enemy rear guard to a point more than 100 miles west of the start of Rommel's flight at El Agheila.

Along the line of the axis flight in Libya, there was fighting on a fluid front stretching 50 to 60 miles along the Mediterranean coast—around Zauta En Nofilia at the western end [of the front] back to the section between Marble Arch and the gully Matratin, where earlier the British army had cut the axis columns in two by a flanking movement.

Believe Foe Broke Thru.

A communique from the British command in Cairo spoke significantly of "the remains of axis rear guards," but was somewhat reserved as to the situation in the area of the cutoff, saying only:

"The extent of the damage inflicted on the enemy in the area between Marble Arch and Wadi [gully] Matra-

SCIENCE AND U. S. INDUSTRY JOIN IN RUBBER QUEST

New and Old Botanical Sources Studied.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18.—In a race against exhaustion of America's rubber supplies next year, industry, science, and government are engaged in a hectic hunt for supplies from new and old botanical sources now growing or which might be grown and harvested in the western hemisphere.

The news of this hunt has been overshadowed by the government's 750 million dollar program for construction of factories with a capacity to produce 1,000,000 tons of synthetics annually.

Two Recent Developments.

The search for natural rubber, however, has come to the forefront as a result of two recent developments:

1. Rubber Director William M. Jeffers reported that delays in the synthetic program will cause a crisis about next October. The stockpile of crude rubber, accumulated immediately before Pearl Harbor, will be down to 400,000 tons by Jan. 1. The Baruch committee estimated the requirements for next year, including natural and synthetic rubber, at 577,000 tons. Jeffers said the amount of synthetic rubber the nation will get in 1943 is speculative.

2. It has transpired from official and industrial sources that engineers and chemists have been unable to devise a truck, military, or high speed tire made of synthetic rubber without using large quantities of natural rubber. Latest reports on tires captured from the enemy have indicated the Germans are no more ingenious, having to mix natural with synthetic rubber about 50-50.

Vines and Weeds Studied.

With Japan's capture of 90 per cent of the world's rubber plantations, America is exploring trees, shrubs, vines, and weeds for latex. The department of agriculture plant introduction garden, 13 miles south of Miami, has become a front line observation post in this campaign.

A botanical dictionary lists approximately 1,000 varieties of plant life with traces of rubber in addition to the hevea tree, which produced 95 per cent of the world's supply when the war started. Only a score or so of these 1,000, however, are considered to offer any possibility of sufficient rubber quickly enough to relieve our plight. Approximately 150 varieties are growing in the government plant introduction garden here in a specimen collection of rubber producers started in 1925.

An advisory committee headed by Bernard M. Baruch reported to President Roosevelt on Sept. 10 an outlook for 41,000 additional tons of natural rubber in 1943 and 68,000 tons in 1944.

Increase Expected.

The outlook today, altho confused by many conflicting reports, is for substantially larger quantities.

"The functions of the board of economic warfare, the rubber reserve company, and the state department in the development of natural rubbers from South and Central America are confused," Jeffers reported two weeks ago. "I am studying this situation and hope to determine a definite program under which these agencies will operate."

Harold F. Loomis, senior agronomist of the department of agriculture, in charge of rubber work for the bureau of plant industry, escorted a Tribune reporter thru his rubber garden here today and mentioned guayule, cryptostegia, castilla, Russian dandelion, goldenrod, and milkweed as possible life savers in the rubber shortage. These and other natural rubber sources will be discussed in subsequent articles.

PHYSICIANS WARN 'APPLE A DAY' IS WISE DURING WAR

Civilians Told Army and Navy Come First.

The people of this country, and Chicagoans in particular, must give up the "doting" medical attention to which they have become accustomed. That is, if you have a pain and your favorite doctor can't get there in 15 minutes, bear up—the country has given up 42,000 doctors to the army and navy the last year and promised more for next year. They need them worse than you probably do!

This was the advice given at a regional conference yesterday of the physicians procurement and assignment committee of the war man power commission which met with officers of the United States public health service in the Palmer House.

Illinois Above Average.

At the conference it was revealed that Illinois still has one physician for each 1,165 residents, compared to one for each 1,468 persons in Michigan and for each 1,427 persons in Wisconsin. The national ration now is 1 to 1,360 persons as compared with 1 to 1,022 persons before the war. Illinois' pre-war ratio was a physician to each 863 residents.

"But don't think that there is any reason to get panicky about the care of civilian populations," said Dr. Harold S. Diehl, member of the group's directive board and dean of medicine at the University of Minnesota. "Recruitment of doctors is not being carried on without regards for the needs of civilian populations. We have a well considered program, and are not releasing any doctors from regions that would otherwise have inadequate care."

Must Obtain Release.

Dr. Diehl said that any doctor obtaining a commission in the medical service of the army or navy first had to obtain a release from the regional committee. These releases are not being granted unless the community the doctor is serving is adequately protected. Such protection he said is a doctor for each 1,500 citizens, varying according to transportation and density of population.

Several hundred complaints a week are being received from small towns and defense communities, alleging an intolerable lack of medical care, the conference heard. Investigation has been made in each case and steps taken to right such wrongs at once if they are true.

Corrective Measures.

In cases where a lack of care is true, three corrective measures are possible by the commission. They can:

1. Provide care from neighboring towns thru a permanent relay office for calls.

2. Send in a doctor from some amply supplied community.

3. As a last resort, have the United States public health service send a physician.

Dr. Diehl revealed that in only one case to his knowledge was the last step taken, and this was outside the midwest. The committee has regional headquarters at 30 North Michigan avenue. The regional chairman is Dr. Charles H. Phifer. Each state has a chairman, as do localities. The group derives its power from the war man power commission, but works in conjunction with medical groups and the 6th service command.

Honor Miss Lenroot

Miss Katharine Lenroot, chief of the department of labor's children's bureau since 1934, received the Rosenberger medal at the 211th convocation of the University of Chicago yesterday. The award was made in recognition of her 30 years of service devoted to the welfare of children in North and South America.

Speaking at the convocation, Dr. Paul R. Cannon, chairman of the university's department of pathology, declared that food will win the war only when the military strength of the united nations has retaken the conquered countries of the world. He said that until this is accomplished the Germans will eat while the conquered countries starve or succumb to diseases fostered by malnutrition.

Vice President Emery T. Filbey conferred bachelors' degrees on 94 and advanced degrees on 131.

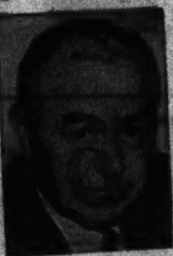
Pope Pius to Broadcast Christmas Eve Address

ROME, Dec. 18 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—Pope Pius XII. will broadcast a Christmas address Dec. 24 when he responds to the customary expression of devotion by the Sacred College of Cardinals, it was announced in Vatican City today. The Vatican radio, it was announced, also will broadcast the Christmas holy mass which the pope will celebrate in his private chapel.

ASKS WHY ARMY SHELLS WILL NOT FIT NAVY'S GUNS

Senator Sees Hazard in Varying Calibers.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—Sen. Harley M. Kilgore [D., W. Va.], advocate of greater standardization of army and navy equipment, declared today that the varying caliber of cannon used by the two services represented a potential hazard to American fighting men.



Sen. H. M. Kilgore.

He pointed out that the army generally has adopted metric bores for its heavier weapons—75 millimeter, 90 mm., 105 mm., and 155 mm., while the navy favors even-inch calibers—3 inch, 5 inch, 6 inch, 8 inch, and 16 inch guns. The bore of a 3 inch gun is a fraction of an inch larger than 75 mm., so is that of the 6 inch weapon compared with a 155 mm. field piece.

No Difficulties So Far.

Kilgore, a member of the senate military affairs committee and also of the special committee investigating national defense, said he had heard of no difficulties thus far which might have resulted from the slight difference in the size of the weapons.

"But I can see the possibility of such a thing happening," he told an interviewer. "Suppose an army landing force with a small number of field guns and limited ammunition effected a landing and began running out of ammunition. The shells for the guns of the navy ships covering the operation would not fit the army field pieces."

Advocates One Department.

Kilgore said that and many similar difficulties could be obviated if the nation had a centralized department for war. He emphasized the word "for."

Such a department, he said, could have necessary subdivisions, including ground forces, water borne forces, air forces, and a centralized service of supply. Under his plan, the higher officers would have practical training and experience in all branches of the service, and would be fully capable of commanding amphibious operations.

A bill to consolidate all fighting services into one department died with the close of the last congress.

WAR PRODUCTION DISTORTED, SAYS BUSINESS LEADER

Essential Civilian Wares Short, Emery Holds.

Total war production in the United States has grown so much out of balance — actually distorted — that a shortage of absolutely essential civilian goods has resulted, De Witt Emery, president of the National Small Business Men's association, said last night before the Citizens' U. S. A. committee in the Engineers building, 205 West Wacker drive.

"I warned Donald Nelson that this might happen, shortly after he became chairman of the war production board," Emery explained. "Even if we have 10 million men under arms, there would still be 120 million at home on whom the soldiers and sailors would be dependent for goods. It is utterly absurd to demand a great increase in production from the farmer after his workers have been drafted and the manufacture of farm machinery has been stopped."

Civilian Gardeners Lack Tools.

He asserted the shortest way to overcome the food shortage was to effect a vast increase in the number of home gardens, but that there were not enough garden tools available. He cited the case of a hand garden tool manufacturer in Illinois who has been forced to cut production 25 per cent of what it was in 1941.

"Putting gas rationing into effect on the same day that bus transportation in Chicago was cut 15 per cent also doesn't make sense," he interpolated.

Emery said he believed a depression or financial collapse was unnecessary after the war.

"I believe if we have the sense and the nerve to stay within the framework of the American way of life—providing we have sanity in our national government—we can accomplish the transition from a war to a peace time economy without serious dislocation and widespread unemployment," he said.

Way to General Prosperity.

"When we have done that, we can have a higher standard of living and more general prosperity than ever before."

He emphasized that he was not opposed to the existence of labor unions, but he asserted that the hands of the workers in many unions must be freed from "strong arm squads" and other union restrictions fostered by labor leaders that hamper all-out production.

POLISH PREMIER WARNS AGAINST NAZI PEACE BIDS

War Enters Final Phase, Gen. Sikorski Says.

The global war has entered its final phase with the victories in the North African campaign, Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, prime minister of the Polish government in exile, told a press conference yesterday in the Drake hotel. But he warned that Hitler may attempt to seek a peace of his own choosing under the guise of avoiding further bloodshed.

Gen. Sikorski asserted that this final phase of the war might be long in duration, but the ultimate victory of the allies is assured. Realizing this, he said, Hitler will seek peace terms to keep the German nation from being completely crushed.

"Such a peace would be extremely dangerous and must not occur," he said. "The German people must be completely demobilized and reëducated to prevent the recurrence of war."

War Against Entire Nation.

He said that the war gainst the German is not merely against Hitlerism but against the entire German nation.

"The people of Germany have been poisoned to their roots," he continued. "We have seen no evidence of the bulk of the people being against Hitlerism, and unfortunately must conclude that it is their choice.

"Hitler is not merely the symbol of a temporary condition, but represents long thought out appetites of the German people for world domination."

Gen. Sikorski denied emphatically that there exists any agreement between England and Russia to grant Polish territory to Russia after the war.

Partition of Poland "Void."

"The German and Russian partition of Poland at the start of the war was declared null and void in a pact signed between my nation and Russia in July, 1941," he asserted.

"We are working toward the establishment of good relations with Russia, and any territorial claims by Russia have no significance. A strong Poland will be the best Russian safeguard."

In discussing the post-war plans of Poland Gen. Sikorski said that the nation is hoping for a strong federation with the Slovak states that will make close collaboration possible between the nations of central eastern Europe.

Poland will want access to the Baltic sea, he said, and its armies will be used to help occupy Germany when it is conquered, altho the question of territorial claims against the Germans had not yet been decided by the allied nations.

Not War Over Frontiers.

"However this is not a war over frontiers of various countries, but a war of 'to be or not to be,' from which we will emerge victorious," he said.

In the morning Gen. Sikorski exchanged greetings with Mayor Kelly. He also was visited by representatives of the American-Polish Trade unionists, representing 60,000 organized workers of Polish descent. Thru their president, Joseph Pyzik, they expressed their appreciation for the general's stand against Hitler and promised him their full support to work for a free Poland.

DEFERS HEARING ON PLEA FOR BUS LINE RENEWAL

Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal District court yesterday continued a hearing on a petition of State Rep. Raymond T. O'Keefe that the surface lines be ordered to restore service on seven bus routes eliminated Dec. 1 in complying with an ODT order to curb bus mileage 15 per cent. Judge Igoe said he doubted he had jurisdiction, and added ODT was considering a change in manner of reducing mileage. The new ODT plan is being worked out in conjunction with its own engineers, the city's and a representative of the Illinois Commerce commission. It is understood that service may be restored on some of the seven routes, particularly those with heavy traffic.

TO 1943 BABIES: TELL STORK YOU NEED CARRIAGES

Babies born next year may have to be cradled like papooses, if the shortage of baby carriages continues to increase, an official of the National Retail Furniture association said yesterday.

Roscoe R. Rau, executive vice president and secretary of the association, said, "Washington just forgot about the national birth rate, which is setting new highs. Baby carriages, cribs, high chairs, bassinets, and play pens are wholly sold out in some retail establishments. If the present increased demand and reduced production continues, all supplies will be exhausted by early spring."

He explained that, altho the manufacture of infant equipment has not been curtailed, a maximum of only six pounds of vital metal may be used in the production of each carriage. Some manufacturers already have given up their regular line of baby furniture for war contracts.

YULE GREETING WIRES BARRED IN U. S. AFTER DEC. 21

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—Christmas messages by telegraph in the United States after Dec. 21 were banned today by the board of war communications.

The board, revising a recent order, directed telegraph companies not to accept messages of greetings, felicitations or congratulations, effective Dec. 22, if they originate within the country for some other point in the nation. The rule would not ban greetings by wire to men in the army or navy outside the continental United States.

The board also ordered telegraph companies to discontinue all nontelegraphic services, such as errand service, effective Dec. 22. Originally the board had ordered the changes into effect Dec. 15, then postponed them indefinitely, and now fixed the date as Dec. 22.

FARMER ADMITS SLAYING WIFE; GETS LIFE TERM

Buffalo, Minn., Dec. 18 (AP).—Frank Marketon, 30 years old, a farmer, pleaded guilty today of murder in the shooting of his wife last week and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Mrs. Adeline Lenoue, also arraigned on a charge of murder, pleaded innocent and was ordered held for trial. County Attorney Walter Johnson said Mrs. Lenoue is pregnant, and will not be tried until after the child is born.

Sheriff Paul Kritzeck said Marketon admitted he had shot his wife while she was asleep, at the urging of Mrs. Lenoue. The sheriff said Mrs. Lenoue admitted she suggested getting rid of Mrs. Marketon, but declared she was only joking.

RIVER 'BUS' LINE PROJECT JOLTED BY COAST GUARD

Naval Regulations Cited at Council Hearing.

Naval and coast guard opposition yesterday threatened to scuttle plans for a river "bus" service to relieve Chicago's public transit congestion. In testimony before the city council committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges, coast guard officers declared that the proposed service would violate many wartime restrictions.

The river service, as outlined by John Keeshin, head of the Keeshin Freight lines, would provide 28 minute service to the loop area from Irving Park road on the north and Kedzie avenue and Pulaski road on the southwest, utilizing 60 passenger, double hulled motor boats.

In lodging their objections to the proposal, coast guard officers listed the following rules which boats and passengers would have to obey:

1. Every passenger would be obliged to carry a coast guard identification pass and a waterfront pass issued by the captain of the port.
2. All packages carried by passengers would have to be inspected.
3. No enemy aliens would be permitted on the boats.
4. Boats would not be permitted to travel more than six miles an hour.
5. At two "restricted areas" along the river boats would have to stop and get special permission to pass.
6. If a freighter or barge carrying war material went down the river passenger boats would have to tie up and wait until the larger vessels passed.

"Amazed" by Objections.

Keeshin, who attended the meeting of the city council committee, said that he was "amazed" by the coast guard's objection, in which Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, was reported to have concurred.

"This service was proposed as a measure to relieve traffic congestion and to save time and rubber," he said, adding:

"Under the restrictions imposed by the coast guard operating a river bus service would approximate the impossible. We would have to ask each passenger to produce a birth certificate to prove he wasn't an alien, for one thing."

Referring to the rule that all packages brought aboard the boats would have to be inspected, Keeshin said, "We would have to hire a crew of package wrappers. Maybe the navy would assign the WAVES to that job."

Puzzled by Secrecy.

Keeshin also expressed surprise that the Chicago river, with which every Chicagoan is familiar, suddenly should have been invested with such cryptic secrecy by the navy department.

"There's not a point along the whole river," he said, "that a thousand people couldn't go down to the bank and see everything that's going on. They walk and drive across all bridges, and no one compels them to open packages or produce birth certificates."

Keeshin said that on an experimental cruise on the river recently he saw "nothing that could qualify as a military secret; only an opportunity to save time for thousands of Chicagoans."

Port Captain Opposed.

Lt. Comm. Anthony Glaza of the coast guard, captain of the port, who presented the navy's objections to the project, said that reluctance to allow the bus service is based primarily upon movements in the river of naval vessels.

A river bus service, he said, easily could become a nuisance to navy activities, with additional companies receiving franchises, and the resultant cluttering of the waterway with small passenger craft.

"There are additional reasons why such a plan would not be feasible during wartime," he said, "but they cannot be made public."

WPB NAMES AID TO BE DIRECTOR OF SHIPBUILDING

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—William Francis Gibbs of New York, noted naval architect and designer of mass built cargo craft, was designated by the war production board today to become "controler of shipbuilding."

The official announcement said Gibbs "would coördinate the shipbuilding effort between the WPB, the navy, the army, and the maritime commission," but it was learned he has received approval of sweeping plans to institute speedier methods, standardized plans, and mass construction techniques in the building of merchant and naval craft.

An official who declined to be quoted by name said Gibbs proposed to spread among shipbuilders generally the pre-fabricating and high speed techniques which have contributed to the record breaking performances of some shipyards.

2 MARION MILEY SLAYERS LOSE PLEA FOR LIFE

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 18 (AP).—The Kentucky court of appeals today refused to reconsider its approval of death penalties for Raymond Baxter and Tom Penney, convicted of the slaying of Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., golf star.

Baxter and Penney will die Jan. 22, barring executive clemency or some other successful court appeal.

Robert Anderson, third man convicted in the shooting, in which the golf player's mother, Mrs. Fred Miley, was wounded fatally, did not ask reconsideration of his case. He is sentenced to die in the electric chair Jan. 1.

Censors Pass Pictures of Decatur Landing in Tripoli

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP).—Like all other pictures, some photographs which arrived recently showing scenes and figures of an American landing in North Africa had to go thru military censorship. But they were released as all right for publication. They were photographs of paintings of Stephen Decatur's naval expedition to Tripoli in 1804.

SOLDIERS TO GET STATE STREET'S YULE GARLANDS

The Christmas decorations that have added to the holiday spirit on State street in previous years will be used this year in the three service men's centers in Chicago, it was announced yesterday. During the day eight tons of evergreen boughs and 10 foot wreaths were taken to the Auditorium center.

The American Institute of Decorators has planned arrangements of the materials and the wreaths and garlands were completed by the Garden Club of Illinois. On Monday 15 members of the Drapery, Window Shade, and Tapestry Decorator's union, local 17, will donate their services in hanging the decorations.

The decorations for State street were being prepared when Elmer T. Stevens, president of the State street council, received a request from Donald M. Nelson of the War Production board, asking that the plans be abandoned to conserve materials and man power. Raynor F. Starr of the council said that Christmas carols will be heard, however, by shoppers as usual.

GEN. GIRAUD SAYS SOLE DUTY IS TO LIBERATE FRANCE

African Commander Bids Patriots to Fight.

Gen. Henri Giraud.

ALLIED HDQ. in North Africa, Dec. 17 [Delayed]—(AP).—Gen. Henri Giraud, escape nemesis of the Germans in two wars 25 years apart, today said he knew only one duty: "To throw out the boche from the empire and deliver my country. I will do this at the head of my mission."

The hero of two generations of French soldiers spoke in his first interview since he outwitted the Gestapo [secret police] and escaped from France.

Explains His Stand.

Gen. Giraud, who is commander of French forces in North Africa, declared his position in French affairs thus:

"I will not mix up in politics. For French patriots there is only one politics and that is to gather behind the army."

Gen. Giraud said that "I leave politics to those who are prepared for them." This statement was taken as explaining why, with the backing of Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, he had stepped aside for Adm. Jean Darlan and had announced he would devote all his attention to military matters.

Speaks of Weygand.

Gen. Giraud, whose tranquil attitude belies his unquenchable spirit shown by his escapes from German prisons, was interviewed in the old palace where Gen. Maxime Weygand had his offices when he was commander of French forces in North Africa.

Of Weygand, Giraud said:

"What a strange and cold destiny—Weygand ought to be here with us and instead he has taken my place in a cell at Koenigstein from which I escaped. He knows the Germans well. He who was Foch's collaborator and who dictated the armistice conditions in 1918 well knows that it is impossible to come to an understanding with them before they are crushed.

Only One Hope Left.

"Only one hope is left for French patriots, and that is to join in the struggle by the side of our traditional allies until the defeat of the axis results in the liberation of France."

He related some of the feats of the French army fighting in Tunisia and then said:

"The thing that counts is the reconstruction of the real French army and to make it so strong as to participate efficiently in the victory.

"I will have all necessary arms and material. Our American friends have formally assured me of this. But we will receive them only little by little. That is why we are organizing our mobilization carefully."

British Pursue Axis Forces in Libya

Situation in the fighting along the Libyan coast west of El Agheila, according to the British communique yesterday.

U.S. PLANES SET FIRE TO WARSHIP NEAR BIZERTE

tin [a distance of 25 miles] is not yet known."

Some commentators thought the details were purposely being withheld pending the liquidation of the trapped Nazi forces. However, the possibility was accepted that at least some of those forces had managed to break thru the barrier and flee on to the west.

Estimate 10,000 Men Caught.

Dispatches to the London News Chronicle had estimated that 10,000 of Rommel's men and perhaps half his remaining tanks had originally been caught in the Matratin pocket.

Aloft, there was no question of allied mastery. The British command thus described it:

"Extensive fighter patrols carried out by allied aircraft have entirely prevented enemy air forces from interfering with the advancing 8th [British] army."

It went on then to report strong allied air raids on the enemy's air base on Lampedusa Island, between Malta and Tunisia, in which considerable damage was worked to grounded axis planes; the destruction of five big enemy planes flying south off Sicily and of a German Junkers plane off Bengazi, Libya.

Enemy barges sailing northward off the coast of Tripoli also were successfully attacked and in all these widespread sweeps only two allied planes were lost.

Nazis Admit Flanking Drive.

BERLIN, Dec. 18 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The high command reported today that German and Italian operations in Libya "are progressing systematically despite attempts by British tank forces to disturb axis movements by continuous attacks into the flank of the axis army."

"The enemy suffered heavy losses," the war bulletin said in a two-sentence reference to the fighting in Libya.

Activity in Tunisia was said to have been confined to reconnaissance patrols and air attacks on allied mechanized forces and artillery emplacements. Night raids were made on railway installations in Algeria.

Avoided Trap, Italy Says.

ROME, Dec. 18 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—The Italian high command said today that attempts to encircle axis forces west of El Agheila had failed.

The communique reported the loss of an Italian torpedo boat "while escorting supplies to Africa."

It told also of patrol activity in Tunisia and air fights above that sector in which seyen British or American planes "were destroyed."

'CRAZY' YANKS BATTLE BIG TANKS WITH LIGHT ONES, NAZIS COMPLAIN

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Dec. 18 (AP).—A German soldier captured in Tunisia complained, in admitting he didn't like American soldiers: "They are crazy enough to attack our heavy Mark 4 tanks with light ones and get away with it."

Sergt. Henry Furowski of Akron, O., told the story today in relating how his major led an attack in which 12 German tanks were destroyed while Americans lost only four.

The major, who later was killed, won high tribute from the sergeant for defying heavy enemy fire to bring back a wounded soldier during a night battle Nov. 25. It was impossible to send a tank for the wounded soldier because of the danger of running over him in the darkness.

BRITAIN TO SPEND 20 MILLIONS TO HELP WEST INDIES

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP).—The British government is preparing to spend 20 million dollars in the British West Indies on projects to relieve unemployment and other social and economic conditions such as underlay recent disorders there, it was disclosed today.

The program is being expedited by the work of the Anglo-American Caribbean commission. Co-chairman Charles Taussig, United States molasses magnate, has been here a week conferring with Prime Minister Churchill and other British officials.

The joint commission was established last March, recognizing the United States interest in the progress of the British West Indies because of the strategic importance of some of the islands as sites for American 99 year lease bases and from the standpoint of their welfare in relation to American spheres, such as Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

FIND JAPANESE ON KISKA FISHING TO AUGMENT DIET

HDQ. ALASKA DEFENSE COMMAND, Dec. 17 [Delayed]—(AP).—Army air force officers disclosed today that in their latest raid on Kiska they found the Japs on that unfriendly island apparently trying to supplement their slender food supply with fish.

United States bombers and fighters, going over the island on Dec. 11, attacked and hit a refloated ship in the Kiska harbor, which previously had been grounded in Gertrude cove.

The pilots strafed two Japanese who apparently were trying to fish from a rowboat and also strafed a dozen Jap troops, apparently a working party, along the shore. One of the bombers was piloted by John F. Nealon, 764 Vermont street, Gary, Ind.

DISCLOSE ALLIES NEARLY BEAT THE ENEMY TO TUNIS

Troops Outran Air Cover in 400 Mile Dash.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 18.—It was "touch and go" for the capture of Tunisia when American and British forces sprinted 400 miles after landing at Algiers, it was disclosed today in the first comprehensive summary of allied operations in North Africa. The summary was prepared by American and British headquarters and was made public by the American military commentator here.

The Americans and British, aided by the French, deliberately took the risk of outrunning their own air cover and not waiting until they had a strong land force. They nearly accomplished their purpose, but couldn't quite get to Tunis because the Germans were able to produce stronger concentrations from their base [possibly Sicily] than the allies could send up from their base 400 miles away.

Other Conclusions Reached.

Other conclusions deduced from the graphic day to day chronicle were:

1. The present allied operation zone is more or less north and south thru Mejez El Bab, 35 miles southwest of Tunis, altho it is difficult to designate any battle line definitely.

2. Time is one of the most important elements as the axis is trying to drive the allies away from Bizerte and Tunis to get elbow room for making secure the only two good air fields in that part of the world right now, while the allies are building up as fast as they can sufficient strength to attack and repel the enemy.

3. Normally when an army goes overseas, advance parties are sent ahead to make preparations for the troops. But in this campaign, because the allies were unable to gauge the attitude of the French, our army had to proceed ahead of transport and supplies. Therefore the paraphernalia necessary to establish and maintain a large air field was not included in the first convoy.

The rapidity with which services of supply overcame this early handicap backs up the statements of American war leaders that the African operations thus far actually exceeded expectations.

Routes Allies Must Take.

It appears also that allied troops in Algeria and Tunisia must take the following routes to reach Bizerte: From Bone, on the northern coast of Algeria, eastward thru Tabarca to the Tunisian naval base by road and the railway alongside this highway except between La Calle and Tabarca where the railroad is nonexistent. Another way to reach Bizerte is by road and railway from Souk Ahras, south of Bone, and thence thru Beja, Tunisia.

Here are the routes to Tunis: By road eastward from Souk Ahras thru Mejez-el-Bab, and by road and railway from Tebessa, south of Souk Ahras, northeast thru Pont du Fahs.

This is the way to reach Sousse, port on the east coast of Tunisia: By road from Tebessa thru Feriana to the southeast, thence by road and railway northeast thru Kairouan.

The allies can reach Sfax, which is south of Sousse, by road and railway from Feriana to Gafsa, thence to the Mediterranean port.

A Chronological Story.

The summary of operations after detailing the allied landings in North Africa, tells of American paratroops dropping at Youk-les-Bains, Algeria, 10 miles west of Tebessa, and occupying an air field on Nov. 15. Youk-les-Bains is about 125 miles south of the Mediterranean port of Bone. Chronologically the summary continues:

Nov. 18—The British 1st army was attacked by the Germans at Dj Abiod, 20 miles east of Tabarca. The attack was repulsed and 11 enemy tanks destroyed. There were heavy Nazi casualties also.

Nov. 22—American and French troops took the air field at Gafsa, almost 100 miles southeast of Tebessa.

Nov. 25—The allied forces destroyed 40 axis aircraft, 15 tanks, and three armored cars and drove the enemy from Mejez-el-Bab, after stubborn fighting.

Allies Occupy Town.

Nov. 26 and 27—The allied southern column occupied Tebourba, 35 miles south of Bizerte. An armored column fought successful engagements against a German armored force southeast of Mateur, which in turn, is southwest of Bizerte.

Dec. 2 and 3—The allies withdrew from Tebourba because of a heavy enemy tank and dive bomber attack. At the same time, American and French troops captured Faid, 60 miles west of Sfax.

Dec. 6—The 11th axis offensive from the northeast was hurled back.

Since then there have been only comparatively small attacks by both sides.

SOBBING SON, 53, DENIES BEATING MOTHER FATALLY

Joseph Ruff, 53 year old meat cutter, on trial for murder in Judge Rudolph Desort's Criminal court, yesterday sobbed on the witness stand a denial that he had beaten his 84 year old mother, Rachel, to death in their home at 1818 South Springfield avenue.

A jury of eight women and four men received the case at 8:51 o'clock last night and was locked up for the night at 10:50 after failing to reach a verdict.

Ruff, the father of two grown sons, repudiated a confession allegedly made shortly after his mother's death, and testified that he had returned home to find the aged woman beaten and dying on the floor.

Assistant State's Attorney Edmund Grant, who cross-examined Ruff, did not ask the jury to return a death verdict, but requested that the defendant be found guilty of manslaughter.

BRITISH FIGHTING MAD OVER BOOBY TRAPS IN DESERT

Rommel's Robots Take Toll of Advance Troops.

BY DON WHITEHEAD.

EL AGHEILA, Libya, Dec. 17 [Delayed]—(AP).—This British army chasing the axis troops of Marshal Erwin Rommel is fighting mad—and I've seen the hatred grow this last week as German mines and booby traps have taken a toll of the advance elements of the 8th army.

It was an impersonal hatred at first, but now it's something alive and real. And the reason is that Rommel left robots to fight a rear guard action. Thousands upon thousands of them are concealed in the roads, under the sand, in discarded clothing and equipment, in buildings, and even under the bodies of German dead.

Along the road from El Brega to El Agheila groups of our men are buried in the sands, victims of these mines, which spring from the sand and explode with a shower of shrapnel when a concealed wire is tripped.

Sappers Are Real Heroes.

"Our men won't forget it," one young lieutenant said grimly after watching the burial of two mates.

But with the achievements of all troops considered, to me the sappers have been the real heroes of the advance thru El Agheila. They've cleared the way for the army's advance thru areas in which death lurked at every step.

It's one thing to face an enemy you can see, and quite another to walk into a deathly silence in a desert where mine traps are hidden. You see sappers prodding the road shoulders with bayonets seeking mines, searching for them with magnetic sweepers and lifting them out on the surface along the Balbo highway, the main paved artery in this country.

Mark Off Mined Areas.

You see piles of ugly mines alongside the roads where the sappers lifted them from vehicle tracks. Mined areas are marked by white strips of cloth or fenced off by barbed wire to keep the unwary from death. And sometimes you see the still bodies of sappers lying in a minefield.

Like many men who handle high explosives the sappers become hardened to danger and think nothing is heroic about their work. I saw one sapper dig a heavy mine from the roadside and carefully uncover a concealed anti-personnel mine. At that moment a flight of Spitfires roared over.

"Those lads are doing a dangerous job," he said. "I want none of their work."

An airman would shudder at the thought of doing the job of that sapper.

Mystery Why Nazis Fled.

It's difficult to understand why Rommel left the El Agheila line without a fight after seeing the difficult terrain and depth of the minefields. Off the main roads the vehicles bog down in deep marshes which would have made tank advances almost impossible.

An infantry advance across the flat marshes would have been done at terrific cost. The position is just as strong as the British thought—but Rommel turned tail and ran to save them the necessity of these losses.

HUNGARY PICKS NEW GUARDIAN FOR CROWN, CONTINUING TRADITION

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 18.—A special session of the Hungarian parliament today elected a new guardian of the crown of St. Stephen to replace Count T. Teleki, who died recently. The man chosen for one of the two highest posts in Hungarian public life was Baron Albert Radvanszay, vice president of the upper house of parliament.

The new guardian is a Protestant. Tradition has it that the two keys giving access to the interior of the vault in which reposes the crown of Hungary's first Christian king, St. Stephen, shall repose one each in the hands of a Catholic and a Protestant. The Catholic functionary holding the other key is Baron Sigmund Perenyi, second vice president of the upper house.

Following his election, Baron Radvanszay went to the palace and placed his seal on the lock entrusted to his care.

PLAN TO MAKE ROME OPEN CITY NEARLY SETTLED

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 18.—Negotiations with Vatican mediation between Italy and the United States and Britain with the object of obtaining formal recognition of Rome as an open city were believed in diplomatic quarters here today to be nearing completion.

London and Washington, D. C., were said to have agreed "in principle," but were reported to have demanded further guarantees. Among these were said to be:

1. Withdrawal of certain military missions.

2. Departure of King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini with their staffs and cabinets.

3. Removal of certain auxiliary war industries from the immediate neighborhood of the capital.

4. Removal from an unspecified zone around the capital of all reserves of gasoline and other war stores.

WAR WORKERS IN GERMANY URGED TO SLOW DOWN

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP).—Eduard Benes, president of the Czecho-Slovak government in exile, broadcast an appeal to millions of workers from occupied countries in German arms factories tonight to "prepare for the day" of Germany's final collapse. Urging them to slow down their work and hinder production in every way possible, Benes said the allied offensive successfully under way "on external fronts must be followed by general resistance and action on Germany's internal front."

Nazis Quit Air Bases on Channel, London Reports

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Daily Express said today that the Germans have abandoned airfields close to the channel coast and blocked them with obstructions as a precaution against possible landings by allied planes in an invasion. The newspaper said that demands on the luftwaffe on other fronts and the difficulty of getting replacements probably was causing the Nazis to retire from their channel springboard bases.

NEW U. S. SECRET WEAPON MAY BE CHASING ROMMEL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—A new tank destroying weapon, capable of blasting an enemy tank with a single shot, may be helping to hammer Marshal Erwin Rommel's Africa corps to pieces in a trap on the Libyan coast.

Not only could such a weapon destroy a tank, but it could presumably outrun—or at least equal in speed—any enemy tank and at the same time bring to bear great fire power. Developed in closest secrecy by American ordnance experts, details of such a new weapon still are shrouded in mystery.

But it is known that many experiments were pointing toward the mounting of a big field piece on a speedy tank chassis, thus providing a fast-moving and highly maneuverable heavy weapon that could stay at the front in swift assaults or pursuits.

Some of those experiments contemplated the use of an M-3 tank chassis as a mount for a field piece. If the armor were stripped away from one of the larger tanks it could conceivably mount a 90 mm.—maybe even a 105 mm. Howitzer—on the tank chassis.

TELLS ITALIANS RAID SHELTERS TO BE IMPROVED

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 18 (AP).—Premier Mussolini's newspaper today devoted a large share of its space to soothing the tempers of Italians complaining of the arrangements made to protect them from bombs and chided those who seem unable to take it.

Admitting that much is to be desired in the provision of air raid shelters, Il Popolo D'Italia gave assurances "with absolute certainty" that a general revision of private air raid shelters was in progress. The people of Milan alone, it was disclosed, have written 4,000 letters complaining of the present arrangements.

The Fascist press is devoting many columns a day to the problem of evacuating nonessential citizens from endangered cities, and airing complaints against villa owners reluctant to open their properties to refugees. Mussolini himself has set an example, it was announced, by placing his Forli home at the disposal of children evacuated from Genoa.

RUSSIANS SMASH FORWARD ALONG CENTRAL FRONT

Indicate Army 60 Miles from Smolensk.

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 [Saturday]—(AP).—Russian troops on the snow covered central front northwest of Moscow advanced again near Veliki Luki yesterday, killing more than 300 Germans and destroying 26 enemy planes, the soviets announced early today. At Stalingrad, which now is in its 117th day of siege, the Russians reported another enemy company was destroyed.

In a two day fight west of Rzhev, which is 150 miles northwest of Moscow, the Russians also said their troops killed 500 Germans and destroyed six tanks, 19 trucks, and two artillery batteries, but the only specific Red army advance mentioned was in the Veliki Luki sector.

The extent of this gain in the area where the Russians are trying to reduce the German held Veliki Luki-Rzhev-Vyazma triangle was not disclosed. An official announcement yesterday implied that the soviets were within 60 miles of Smolensk, well outside the triangle, and were less than 80 miles from the Latvian border in the swirling struggle around Veliki Luki at the northwestern tip. Smolensk is 225 miles southwest of Moscow. Vyazma is about midway between the two cities.

Reds Pour in Ski Troops.

The midnight communique said the Russians captured two tanks, nine guns, four wireless stations, 22 trucks, 10 machine guns, and two stores of clothing in their latest advance.

Field dispatches said the Russians were pouring increasing numbers of white shrouded ski troops into the struggle on a front where piercing temperatures and heavy snowfalls still had not halted heavy tank or aerial engagements.

Southwest of Stalingrad, where the Russians were reported menacing Kotelnikovo, 90 miles away, the communique said hundreds of Germans were killed in the struggle for one village which the Red army lost to the enemy and then regained with a counter-attack.

Three Nazi tanks were destroyed in the engagement, and six more were disabled in another sector of that front where the Germans have mounted stubborn counter-attacks for several weeks, the Russians said.

Battle for Hilltop.

Northwest of Stalingrad, between the Don and Volga rivers, where the Red army has been trying to close a huge trap on the enemy's Stalingrad siege army, the communique said two German infantry companies were wiped out in a struggle for one hilltop.

Another enemy company was declared destroyed in brisk fighting on the southern outskirts of Stalingrad itself as the Russians fought to oust the Germans from the city in a block by block struggle.

Action within the city was confined to artillery and mortar duels interspersed with small shock groups attacking each other's dugouts.

Another German infantry company was reported wiped out and eight Nazi tanks disabled in the repulse of an enemy counter-attack in the Mozdok area of the mid-Caucasus.

The Russians yesterday denied German claims to have killed or captured nearly 20,000 Russians near Toropets, a short distance northeast of Veliki

Nazis Claim Gains.

BERLIN, Dec. 18 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The high command reported today that German forces had gained ground west of Stalingrad after breaking thru strong soviet positions and destroyed 101 Red army tanks in two days of fierce defensive fighting on the Don river front.

Soviet offensive thrusts in the immediate Stalingrad area, in the Terek section of the Caucasus and in the Don bend all were declared frustrated with heavy Russian losses. Red air force plane losses for yesterday were listed at 90 craft, against 11 Nazi losses.

Red army attacks on the central front were said to be continuing, but without success.

INVASION FEARS HIGH, NAZIS RUSH NORSE DEFENSES

Report New Shipping Rules and Closing of Fjords.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 18 (AP).—Feverish German military activity pointing to a growing invasion complex is reported from Norway.

Hand in hand with this development, it was stated that the Norwegians, encouraged in their resistance by allied successes, were conducting an active campaign to undermine the morale of the German soldiers occupying their land.

New security measures designed further control of shipping and forestall chances of a surprise attack during the long winter nights have been introduced along the coast.

Masara and Talgja fjords, near Stavanger, were reported closed to sea traffic, while at Trondheim only ships under 300 tons are permitted free movement. The Germans have warned that ships violating orders will be fired upon, advices to Sweden said.

Expand Defense Zones.

Moreover, barbed wire barricades now are being erected around constantly expanding defense zones to aid in protecting them against saboteurs. Norwegian advices also said the Germans were sending considerable reënforcements into Finnmark, Norway's northernmost province.

The troops were said to be arriving there mainly by roads which were started before the war, but have been finished since by forced labor. Altho the route is slow because of 12 fjords which must be ferried, the reports said it was safer than shipping along the coast.

Russian submarines were said to be active off northern Norway while the RAF is sowing mines in various coastal areas.

Norwegian sources said the number of German escort and other vessels damaged in recent months was so heavy that wharves in the north were clogged and many ships were being towed south to Oslo for repairs.

Paint "1918" on Walls.

Norwegians said that the isolation of the long Arctic nights, the "cold shoulder" of the Norwegians and other factors were contributing to the breaking of the morale of the German soldiers.

"Almost anything gets us into trouble with the Germans," said one Norwegian who recently came out of his homeland, "but we are making them realize that all Norway is against them and that they can't win."

The practice of painting "1918" on the walls was said to be spreading thru Norway. Placards warning the Norwegians are torn down at night and replaced with allied propaganda, reports added.

Norwegians said they estimated there was enough food to get them thru the winter, but that it would be the last one they could endure under prevailing conditions.

Live Chiefly on Fish.

They are living mainly on fish. A shortage of potatoes has been recorded altho the harvest was better than the year before. The greatest deficiency, it was said, is in butter, margarine, and other fats. Fuel is short.

[In London, meanwhile, the Daily Express said the Germans had abandoned air fields close to the channel coast and blocked them as a precaution against possible landings by allied planes in an invasion. Lt. Gen. Andrew G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian expeditionary force in Britain, indicated that the Canadian forces might see action before long. "In the war against Germany many plans are prepared," he said last night. "North Africa was one of them. The ones we were studying just didn't happen to be North Africa."]

URGES MOSCOW BE ABSOLVED OF AGGRESSIVE AIMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 18.—Members of parliament and representatives of the allied nations spoke at a "Fight for Freedom" round table conference today.

Arthur Greenwood, a former cabinet minister, described the war as "the most beastly of all time." He said the first condition of a just peace must be a complete military victory absolving Russia of all aggressive intentions. Russia's internal problems are so vast, he added "that with the vision of Josef Stalin, they will be his for his preoccupation." As a condition of peace, it will be necessary "first to deprive the German people of the commodities which could be used for war purposes," he concluded.

Brig. Gen. J. H. Morgan, who served as a member of the disarmament commission in Germany after the last war, said it is impossible to "draw a distinction between the Nazis, the Gestapo [secret police], and the German army." He said high German officers "should be treated as common criminals and hanged. You've got to destroy the war potential of Germany. Germany isn't fit to have any chemical or aviation industry. They must be rooted out completely."

R. A. F. Squadron Takes Up Sub Chase Off U. S. Shore

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 18 (AP).—An entire RAF coastal command squadron has been transferred to this side and now is participating in the antisubmarine patrol along the Atlantic coast of the United States, the royal Canadian air force disclosed today. The unit, which includes 17 Canadian pilots and crewmen, still is flying the same battle-toughened Hudson bombers originally sent from the United States to Britain to carry the air war to the axis.

Australia in Deal with Communists; Ban Lifted

CANBERRA, Australia, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Australian government has lifted the ban on the communist party and its press, which was imposed in June, 1940, Herbert V. Evatt, Australian attorney general and minister for external affairs, announced today. A committee representing the communists had guaranteed to assist the dominion's war production and to prevent work stoppages and absenteeism.

PRESIDENT OF CUBA RETURNS TO HAVANA AFTER VISIT TO U. S.

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 18 (AP).—President Fulgencio Batista arrived by special Pan American Airways plane from Miami, Fla., today after a visit to the United States during which he conferred with President Roosevelt.

Fêted in Miami.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP).—The special plane bearing President Batista of Cuba and his party to Havana left here today under escort from Cuban and United States military aircraft.

"I am very profoundly satisfied by my visit," Batista told newsmen in a parting statement. "I found things finer than I had believed them possible to be."

A combat unit of the United States army, fresh from maneuvers in the Everglades of Florida, passed in review before Batista and Col. Charles G. Mettler of the United States air force shortly before Batista boarded his plane.

TURK ENVOYS TO NAZIS AND REDS RETURNING HOME

ANKARA, Turkey, Dec. 17 [Delayed]—(AP).—The Turkish ambassadors to Berlin and Moscow were en route home today for consultation with their government.

Saffet Arikan, envoy to Berlin and former Turkish defense minister, originally was scheduled to reach Ankara Tuesday, but now is expected Saturday. He will be followed within a few days by Cevat Achikalin, ambassador to Moscow.

Both visits were attracting considerable diplomatic interest here, following Turkey's pro-allied reaction to allied successes in the Mediterranean, and the recent report that Turkish-Russian relations had improved.

BRITISH RAIDERS BOMB GERMANY; 18 PLANES LOST

RAF Also Lays Mines in Nazi Waters.

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP).—The royal air force turned from Italian targets last night to bomb Germany for the third time this month, but encountered bad weather and suffered heavy losses.

Eighteen bombers were missing from the attack on objectives in northeastern Germany, the air ministry said. The targets were not otherwise identified.

The German high command said several places were attacked in the German northwest coastal district and that 21 bombers—14 of them four engined craft—were shot down.

Mines Laid in Nazi Waters.

Low clouds prevented observation of the results of the raid, the air ministry said. It added that mines were laid in German costal waters. The previous attacks on Germany this month were on Frankfurt Dec. 2 and southwest Germany Dec. 6.

Meanwhile, some German raiders were active over England last night and today.

Fewer than 10 enemy planes visited northeast England last night, but they caused some damage and casualties. The German high command said heavy explosions and fires were observed along the Humber river. It admitted the loss of two planes.

Three Villages Attacked.

Two villages in Kent and Sussex were bombed today. One bombing caused havoc in an apartment building and wrecked several houses, including a vicarage, but only one woman was injured.

Shops were wrecked in the second village by a lone raider. Several persons were killed. Several also were killed in a third village which was strafed.

Among those killed were at least nine Christmas shoppers in one store that was demolished. A Dornier 217, one of Germany's latest model bombers, crashed on some shops.

OPA PROMISES TO LIFT GAS BAN IN EAST MONDAY

Ration Will Be Based on Curtailed Supply.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—Price Administrator Leon Henderson said tonight that today's suspension order stopping sales of gasoline to 7 million motorists in 17 eastern states may be lifted by midnight Sunday.

A revised gasoline ration is being worked out for eastern motorists, Henderson said. Other OPA officials predicted that the revisions will make substantial cuts in gasoline rations, particularly for holders of A books. They said, however, that a definite plan has not yet been determined.

Available Supplies Lower.

Late today the OPA received from Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes a statement indicating that gasoline supplies for the 17 eastern states for the rest of December and January will be 20 to 25 per cent less than recent levels of consumption.

The report said that motor fuel shipments to the east, exclusive of military demands, will average 365,000 barrels daily for the rest of December and 331,000 barrels daily in January. This compares with recent consumption under gasoline rationing of 450,000 barrels, a spokesman for Ickes said. The reduction in supplies was attributed to increased demands for shipments of petroleum products from the east coast to the army and navy in North Africa.

OPA officials, working on a plan for revising gasoline allotments, are attempting to tailor the over-all rations to Ickes' supply estimates.

Order Creates Stampede.

The suspension order, issued by Henderson at 10:40 a. m., prohibited the sale of gasoline at noon to all motorists in the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia, except for holders of T rations [commercial vehicles] and for honoring one A, B, or C coupon for emergency use.

Officials said the order was issued to stop "runs" by motorists who were alarmed by reports that gasoline supplies in the east were scraping bottom.

The effect of the order, however, was to create a stampede in Washington and other eastern cities by motorists who wanted to fill up their tanks before the noon deadline.

Motorists, gasoline station operators, and local OPA officials were also up in the air as to the meaning of "emergency" sales which the OPA order permitted.

"Emergency" Covers Workers.

Asked for a clarification of the emergency provision, OPA headquarters here said this afternoon one ration coupon could be honored for "any car bound on necessary travel which would be unable to reach its destination without additional gasoline. This includes all professional trips of doctors and nurses."

Tonight Henderson said emergency purchases may be made by workers in war plants where their transportation to and from work depends on getting gasoline. He also said that filling stations should honor ration coupons of mail carriers and requirements for cars used by the army and navy.

These rulings still left the door wide open, however, for motorists to obtain gasoline by posing as war plant workers, and placed no restriction on a motorist's using one emergency coupon at each of several different stations. In the New York region, which included also the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware, an order stipulates that no motorist with three gallons of gas or more in his tank could obtain an emergency ration.

Predicts Much Lower Supply.

Ickes' report on petroleum supplies estimated that shipments of gasoline, kerosene, fuel oil, and residual oil to the 17 eastern states until Jan. 31 will be only two-thirds the total for the comparable period a year ago. This excludes supplies for export.

Deputy Petroleum Administrator Ralph K. Davies predicted these supplies will be enough for war industries and for minimum home heating requirements, but said gasoline usage will have to be cut.

The sudden issuance of today's suspension order, with no satisfactory alternative to keep essential driving going, was seen in congressional circles as another example of burocratic bungling. Previous bungling of the gasoline rationing program aroused protests from members of congress and citizens which contributed to the downfall of Price Czar Henderson, who resigned yesterday. It was predicted that Petroleum Czar Ickes will also be further on the spot with congress as a result of today's muddle and current midhandling of the fuel oil ration program.

BARBOUR URGES PAY AS YOU GO INCOME TAX LAW

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—Sen. W. Warren Barbour [R., N. J.] said in a statement today that the new congress should enact pay as you go taxation before the staggering 1942 income tax bills come due March 15.

He said living costs have risen but there has been no incentive to save from current income for the inevitable tax bill.

"Few in the lower brackets realize what they will have to pay," he added. "Too many American citizens are going to have an unpleasant session with the tax collector at that time. To prevent official embarrassment and wholesale attachment of available assets, pay as you go seems inevitable."

WASHINGTON SET RIDES AS USUAL; U. S. SUPPLIES GAS

Officials' Wives Shop in Federal Cars.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—The shortage of gasoline that today deprived thousands of eastern drivers of the use of their cars failed to halt the use of government cars for pleasure purposes by the wives and families of Washington office holders.

Fulton Lewis Jr., Mutual Broadcasting system's commentator on political affairs in the nation's capital, tonight on his regular broadcast told of six different instances noted today in a little over an hour's time, of government cars being used for nothing but pleasure. Use of government cars for other than government business is forbidden by law.

Recall Ickes' Egg Delivery.

The broadcast recalled the furore created last May when Interior Secretary Harold [Donald Duck] Ickes was found to be using a government truck to deliver eggs from his $85,000 Maryland estate to a Washington grocery. Ickes, who also acts as petroleum coordinator, asserted at the time that he was saving the tires on the limousine furnished him by the government when he used the truck to bring his eggs to town.

Lewis, in a previous broadcast, told of seeing government cars being used to take officers to football games, dinner parties, evening affairs, luncheons, and their families on shopping tours, and the like.

Tonight he gave these details of his observations following the suspension of gasoline sales in 17 eastern states—and the District of Columbia.

"At 1:55 p. m. a large black sedan, with license A-2198, picked up a lady in a fur coat at the east door of Woodward & Lothrop's department store. She had a number of bundles with her.

Circles Block 4 Times.

"At 2:10 p. m. a large black sedan with United States license 508 circled the block, in which the same store is located, four times, slowing down each time it passed an entrance, obviously waiting to pick up a passenger.

"A little later a Plymouth sedan, painted in army drab, bearing the black numbers W-12388, and carrying United States license 929, after circling the same block four times, picked up two civilians who came out of the store. One was a man in his late fifties, the other a slender lady in her twenties.

"Shortly thereafter, a large, dark blue Buick sedan [all of these cars were driven by government liveried chauffeurs] rolled up to the main entrance. It had United States navy license 13752, but carried no United States license plate. In it were two girls, in their teens, both blonde and wearing no hats; an elderly lady and a middle aged lady, handsomely dressed, and a naval officer.

"They stopped, let out the elderly lady who went into the store, and went their way.

Circles Almost Two Hours.

"A large black sedan, which appeared to be a Cadillac, began circling the block at about 3:45 p. m., and one of my assistants who remained until after 5:30 said it was still circling when he left. The number of that one was U. S. 129.

"A black Buick sedan, U. S. 140, began circling the same block at about 3:45 p. m. and after several loops a tall woman in a mink coat came out of the store, put a pile of bundles in the front seat next to the chauffeur, then went back into the store. Incidentally, that U. S. 140 had a busy day today, one of my assistants reporting that it stood in front of a grocery on Connecticut avenue from 12:30 to 12:45, motor running, while a lady in a fur coat and a red hat was inside.

"Another of my assistants reported U. S. 140 came to the Mayflower hotel at about 2:45, and left a lady in a fur coat and red hat.

"There it is for what it's worth to you. Let's see whether the government departments stop this practice now, or whether we'll have to go further."

REPORT FRENCH GOVERNMENT TO RETURN TO PARIS

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Petain government has definitely decided to return to Paris, the Geneva Tribune said tonight in a dispatch from Paris. [Originating in Paris, the story may have been inspired by German or pro-Fascist French sources.]

Altho the change implies elimination of the old demarcation line between occupied and unoccupied zones, the paper said a 30 mile wide strip along all France's boundaries would be declared a "forbidden zone" to which entrance could be gained only by Nazi permission. France thus would be sealed off from the rest of the world.

The dispatch said some circles believed the change to Paris would be made by Jan. 15, but that most sources believed it could not be arranged before March. Petain is expected to be installed in Elysee palace, the residence of French presidents, and the rest of the government in ministry buildings, it was said.

Japs Launch New Group to Tighten Press Rule

TOKIO, Dec. 18 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Domei, official news agency, reported today that "a mammoth press association to be known as the 'Association of Greater East Asia Journalists' was inaugurated here yesterday in a solemn ceremony, to combat the ideological warfare of the enemy." Attending the meeting, in addition to newspaper men, were press spokesmen of the army, navy, imperial readquarters, the foreign office, and other government departments.

[This indicates another step in the government's campaign to bring the press under full official, especially military, control.]

RELIEF ARRIVES FOR OIL USERS IN MIDWEST STATES

Coupon No. 3 Available Starting Dec. 23.

admitted exists, Chairman Phillips replied:

"We are powerless. All we can do is make recommendations and we are certainly making them."

Surplus in Storage Here.

All the oil men asserted there is a surplus of fuel oil in storage in the Chicago refinery tanks. They said there is an overall shortage in the country and in the 15 midwestern states they represent. But they said if consumers would economize and save say 25 per cent over last year, it would be enough. Under rationing, all consumption has been cut from 33 to 50 and 60 per cent.

In general the oil men said the oil in the country should be allotted three ways:

1. To the army and navy—they should have first call.

2. To the war plants, but only for gasoline freeze was necessitated by a hurryup order for gasoline for United States forces in North Africa. He said that because it would take longer to make shipments to North Africa from Texas than from the east coast, the actual processing of their war material and not for heating the plants.

3. To the small home owners. Commercial buildings of all classes, including apartment buildings and hotels, should convert to coal.

Act to Speed Transit.

The big refiners appointed Charles R. Musgrave of Phillips' company—and Phillips is lending him for the purpose—as manager of supply and distribution for district 2. They said the district 2 committee wants first to supply the middle west, then the east, which is crying constantly for more oil.

Mr. Musgrave is to attempt cutting out nonessential movements of tank cars, so more of them may be employed in forwarding the oversupply in the Chicago area tanks and that in Texas and Oklahoma.

Too Small, Spencer Says.

Informed of the concession on the couponscoupons by the OPA, Frank E. Spencer, president of the Burning Oil Distributors association, commented last night:

"Too late with too little!

"We can only say it's a step in the right direction, but it's simply not big enough or quick enough."

"There are hundreds—and I'm personally confident thousands—of people in Chicago who will need oil between now and Dec. 23. These do not have any valid coupons to use for deliveries prior to that date.

Forced to Break Law.

"The only way they are going to get oil is by their dealers violating the rationing order. I said this in Weigel's office [office of John C. Weigel, regional OPA director] the other evening with six OPA lawyers present and nobody denied it would have to be so, and I say it again.

"We'll have to keep on breaking the law. Unless they substantially increase the value of the units, we'll still be in the same fix—and so will the users. Until they eliminate the thermal periods we're all going to be in a trying position."

E. W. Miles of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, a member of Spencer's committee of fifteen to bring order, if possible, out of the present rationing chaos, said:

"It's a very slight help—not a great deal. Merely a step—the first breakdown in their stubborn attitude, but they're very timid."

Sue 11 Indiana Landlords Under Price Control Act

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 18 [Special].—The office of price administration today filed suits against 11 landlords in this aera, charging violations of the emergency price control act. The suits were the first of their kind in this area. Among those named was Theodore J. Lerner, secretary of the South Bend-Mishawaka real estate board, accused of failing to register property with the OPA.

ROBBED OF $87 AND RING.

Walter K. Malmstrom, 2100 Lincoln Park West, reported to police yesterday that three bandits in a car curbed his automobile in front of 1300 North Mayfield avenue and robbed him of $87 and a Masonic ring valued at $650.

See Oils and Fats Shortage; Soy Beans Overtax Storage!

Rationing Studied

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—Latest surveys on this year's production indicate, an agriculture department official said today, that the United States faces a shortage in 1943 of between 800 million and 1 billion pounds of fats and vegetable oils for food and industrial purposes.

This shortage would be equivalent to between 7 and 9 per cent of present requirements, which already have been curtailed by government orders restricting industrial use.

The major products listed as fats and vegetable oils are lard, butter, oleomargarine, cooking compounds, cottonseed oil, soy bean oil, peanut oil, olive oil, tallow, linseed oil, cocoanut and babassu oil.

Shipping Is Problem.

The official, who asked that he not be quoted, said that apparently action would have to be taken to limit consumption of some of the fats and oils, or shipping needed for war purposes would have to be used to bring in supplies from South America.

Before the war the United States imported a substantial portion of its vegetable oils from the orient. These sources were cut off after the attack on Pearl Harbor. To meet the deficit the government encouraged farmers to increase the production of soy beans, peanuts, and flaxseed. It asked also that hogs be fed to heavier weights so that lard production might be increased and that more milk be produced for making butter and other dairy products.

Lard Output Disappointing.

Altho farmers planted record acreages of the oil crops, the production of oil is expected to run short of expectations. Because of the labor shortages, adverse weather, and price factors, not all these crops were harvested. Likewise, a shortage of processing equipment in the midwestern soy bean area is expected to affect soy bean oil production.

Disappointing to food authorities has been the production of lard. Altho hogs are going to market at heavier weight than a year ago, the output of lard per hog was said to be smaller.

Overflow in Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 18 (AP).—Soy beans are overflowing available storage space into old garages, abandoned schoolhouses and one farm woman has consented to storing soy beans in her parlor, it was learned today.

Only a dozen years ago soy beans were produced in Indiana only as hay or soil builder. Walter Van Nuys, statistician for the Indiana office of the AAA, reported the national acreage this year 1,470,000, with an anticipated yield of about 210 million bushels. The yield was particularly high in the five principal producing states—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Missouri—a department report said.

Bought—Then Stored.

Van Nuys said the Commodity Credit corporation is purchasing the crop from farmers as rapidly as it can be stored. However, the storage has created a problem analagous to the west's wheat crop which overflowed into Kansas farm homes.

"It's being stored in every spare shed on farms," Van Nuys reported. "In fact, near Marion, a farm wife consented to storing soy beans in her parlor, and I've heard of many farmers using spare rooms in the house to store them."

This year's acreage brought soy beans' rank as the state's second crop. It surpassed wheat and oats and is second only to corn.

Processing Plants Taxed.

Van Nuys said the Commodity Credit corporation now plans to ship some of the Indiana crop to Florida and east coast processors since the state's processing plants are operating at capacity.

Despite the huge harvest, an estimated 50 per cent of soy beans in the heavy producing northern Indiana counties still is unharvested for lack of man power and combines. Joseph Wihebrink of near Anderson reported he had made repeated efforts to get his 33 acre crop harvested, but combiners said they wouldn't risk their machinery at this time of the year.

HOLIDAYS DEFER TRIAL OF WOMAN WHO STOLE BABY

Trial of Mrs. Anne Tyrell Lussier, 29 years old, on a charge of abduction of an infant, was put over until after Jan. 1 by Judge Ralph J. Dady in Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan yesterday. Both Harry A. Hall, state's attorney, and Paul La Rose of Zion, counsel for Mrs. Lussier, agreed that, because many jurors include women now, the trial should be delayed to avoid taking them from home during the Christmas holiday period. Mrs. Lussier, accused of kidnaping Gary Botsford, 3½ month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Botsford, 523 Ash street, Waukegan, Nov. 24, is in the Lake county jaid in default of bail.

School Closed for a Day as Fuel Oil Supply Fails

The St. Ignatius parochial school, Loyola and Glenwood avenues, was dismissed at 10:30 a. m. yesterday, and 650 pupils were sent home because oil that had been ordered for heating had not been delivered. The Rev. F. G. Dinneen, pastor, said that the oil company experienced difficulty in making delivery on account of the weather and trucking conditions. The oil was delivered later.

VOTE TO INDICT 2 IN PLOT TO BILK BOOKIES BY RADIO

Two men who operated a 15 watt radio transmitter in an alleged scheme to defraud handbook operators were named in an indictment charging illegal radio broadcasting yesterday by the federal grand jury. According to United States .tty. J. Allen Woll, Milton Ruthstein, 32 years old, operated a transmitter from a post near a local race track. As soon as he determined the winner, he broadcast the information to his confederate, Hubert Price, 25, who was posted in an automobile near a handbook. Price would rush into the handbook and place bets, beating the bookies to the results by from two to 15 minutes.

Colombia Rail Workers Call Off 2 Day Strike

BOGOTA, Colombia, Dec. 18 (AP).—Colombia's railway workers returned to their jobs last night, restoring service after a two day strike for a wage increase. They agreed to submit their demands to arbitration. The government, declaring the stoppage illegal, had ordered mobilization of railroad workers from among army reserves to operate the roads.

OIL CONSUMERS RUN FEVER OVER RATION CHILLS

Tell How Cold Plagues the Ill and Aged.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

Chicagoans spoke their mind yesterday against the fuel oil rationing plan.

More than 200 citizens packed the city council chambers to demand opportunity to recite their suffering and bewilderment under the broken down OPA rationing program.

The public hearing was called by a special committee headed by Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], a physician. Ross explained the meeting was intended to determine the problems and to convey them to the Chicago metropolitan area headquarters of the office of price administration which handles fuel oil rationing.

Hear of Suffering.

In the three hour session, the aldermanic committee heard complaints that rationing was too severe, that the aged, sick, and very young are suffering, that the rationing system is unwieldy and confusing, and that the overburdened volunteer ration boards are unable to cope with individual problems.

Those who related their stories of bewildering experience with red tape spun by OPA experts in Washington came from all sections of the city. Also there were the burning oil dealers who have been plagued for weeks by customers dissatisfied with the rations allotted them, and by customers who have exhausted their supplies and need more in a hurry.

When Edward F. Stegen, regional OPA rationing executive, rose to read a 19 page statement explaining the fuel oil program, the crowd rebelled and shouted, "We don't want him to read it. It's too long."

File It, Crowd Says.

Chagrined, Stegen dumped some copies of the statement on the rostrum and strode to his seat.

Mayor Kelly interposed: "Shall we let him read it?"

"No, no!" roared the crowd. "Don't read it. File it."

Stegen, who was shutting his brief case and ready to leave, was called back to the front of the hall and asked to make a short report. He read excerpts from the long memorandum in which he stressed the need for coping with the shortage of petroleum products.

Mayor Kelly told the meeting that Henderson promised him that oil users would be allowed to use future coupons if the weather is extremely cold.

"Henderson said this would take care of the emergency situation," the mayor said, and added, wearily, "but up to now nothing has come from Washington to permit this."

Says Health Comes First.

OPA affairs may be confused or chaotic in Washington because of Henderson's resignation, the mayor said, in attempting to explain the delay in the issuance of an order providing Chicagoans with increased oil allotments.

"Some rationing officials may think the people are chiseling. We believe no citizen is not war minded enough to make sacrifices. We would like the regional director of the OPA to know that we have no desire for conflict. All we want is to safeguard the health and comfort of our people. We do think that when people are cold they should be allowed more fuel.

"Chicago is asking for more oil. It should be forthcoming soon.

Wants No Suffering.

"The OPA fears that if the bars are let down the people might be extravagant. Henderson said the purpose of rationing is not to freeze people or impair their health. I have great confidence that OPA will allow use of future coupons to alleviate the situation.

"In instituting a project as big as the OPA there was bound to be chaos at the start. Chicago is not criticizing the government. But we are militant in that we don't wany any one to suffer. No one can be patient with cold."

Speaks for 1,800.

Among those who spoke at the meeting were:

Arthur Turnbull, 4632 South Michigan avenue, Negro school teacher: "I represent 90 per cent of the 2,000 tenants of the Rosenwald Garden apartments. The fuel oil allotment has been cut by the OPA from 379,744 gallons used last year to 278,489 gallons. Th engineer says he can maintain only 55 degrees."

Ald. Benjamin Grant, who lives in the Rosenwald building: "Turnbull speaks the truth. It's cold as hell."

William J. Sandberg, 4411 North Hermitage avenue: "Last year I used 2,000 gallons to heat only one of the two apartments in my building. I need 3,500 to heat both flats. And the OPA expects me to heat the flats with 1,500 gallons. The ration board won't listen to me when I ask for more. I'm personally acquainted with Mr. Ickes [Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and petroleum administrator]. He's a gentleman who would never do anything wong. He's made political speeches to me, so I know.

Wants Redress Now.

"Now I want some redress. My wife and I are 75 years old and we can't stand the cold. Do they expect us to pay our taxes and bear such conditions?"

Anthony C. Champagne, 3538 Polk street: "I used 1,966 gallons in 1941 and I find it impossible to maintain any comfortable warmth. I have two boys, 3½ and 6 years old. They are ill and require more warmth. But when I appealed to my ration board I was met by a huffy clerk who was too busy to talk. When I asked for some consideration she ordered me to leave. When I refused the police were called and finally I was given a chance to state my case. I have 80 gallons of oil left and I use 12 gallons a day.

Joseph A. Hollander, 3427 Palmer street: "I never got angry or lost patience with government orders until fuel oil rationing started. We operate three north side manufacturing plants. I have tried in vain to get some information from three ration boards. Our oil allotments were cut 30 to 50 per cent. We have difficulty keeping our heat at 63 degrees and we are losing our stenographers who refuse to work in the cold."

Has to Install Stoves.

Hollander was applauded when he threw up his hands in desperation and cried, "Who knows what to do? I can't find out. If you can straighten out this muddle it's yours."

Frank Leighton, 7712 Coles avenue: "My son has a 5 apartment building and last Wednesday he ran out of oil. All they gave him was 175 gallons for five families. I have a 3 apartment building and I was forced to install coal stoves because the fuel oil allowance was too small."

William F. Zernitz, 1528 Ardmore avenue: "My allowance was cut from 2,700 gallons last year to 1,707 gallons. My wife is a partial invalid and we have to keep her warm by covering her with blankets. My sister-in-law just returned from a hospital. The ration board refused to listen to my plea for more oil. I have only 35 gallons left."

Lack Leads to Fire.

Miss Elizabeth J. Foudray, 77 years old, 413 North Central Park avenue, a retired teacher: "We ran out of oil. A radiator burst and when I tried to fix it with a blow torch a fire started and did $150 damage."

Edward La Fontaine, 857 Armitage avenue: "My son is in the marines and I am willing to make sacrifices. But my ration board gives me the runaround. I need 500 gallons and I got only 220."

Mrs. George Schumacher, 4325 North Winchester avenue: "The OPA cut us from 1,200 gallons to 690. We can't shut off large rooms in our house because some of the rooms do not have doors. And we have a small baby who will catch cold if we don't get enough heat."

Frank F. Barth, Homewood: "I am a veteran of five wars but I've never gone thru anything like this. They cut my fuel oil supply 55 per cent. My mother-in-law lives with us. She is under a doctor's care and must be kept warm. I asked for more fuel Dec. 3 but I have not had a word."

Takes 55 Per Cent Cut.

Clayton Nielsen, 5750 South Justine street, manufacturer of welding equipment and tools for war industries: "All I am interested in is equality. I used 3,300 gallons last year. Now I am allowed only 1,440. That is a 55 per cent cut. I thought there was an equal percentage cut? If there is, what is it?

"Is there a maximum cut? I wouldn't mind getting a 25 or 33 per cent cut but why 55 per cent? All I want is to be treated like my neighbors. I appealed and was given 300 gallons more, but that won't be enough. I am busy in war production and I should not be spending my time at ration boards."

Tells of Threats.

Frank E. Spencer, president of the Burning Oil Distributors association, was applauded when he branded the fuel oil rationing system "unworkable, illogical, and complex." He revealed that Washington OPA officials had tried to "muzzle" him by making veiled threats to his superiors. He heads a division of the Socony-Vacuum Oil company.

"We tried to help our unfortunate customers by giving them oil without coupons," Spencer said. "We couldn't stand off and see people suffer. But this was a technical violation of the rationing rules and somebody in Washington reminded my superiors there was a penalty of $10,000 fine and a year in jail for such well-meant indiscretions.

"But they can't muzzle me. Mr. Mulcahy [Michael F. Mulcahy, OPA director for the Chicago metropolitan area] tried to whitewash the charges we made early this week that the rationing system has broken down.

Hears of Insolence.

Spencer said he did not wish to criticize the rationing boards despite the reports he had from customers that board employés were "careless, inefficient, and insolent."

"I would overlook all that," he said. "They could do their job if they only had an efficient system to work with."

Dr. Ross requested the protesters to be patient and submit their problems to the central office of the local OPA organization at 228 North La Salle street.

New Consul

HENRY HUGH THOMAS.

The "suicide complex" displayed by the whole Japanese nation will make necessary the virtual annihilation of their army and navy before victory can be achieved by the united nations, Henry Hugh Thomas, British representatives in the far east for the last 15 years, said yesterday as he arrived to assume his duties as consul here. He was released by the Japanese from interment in an exchange of diplomatic personnel last August.

This complex in Japan has been carefully fostered by its military leaders for many years to the extent that the people feel they are obligated to die if necessary for their myth of national destiny, Thomas said.

He warned against the assumption that Japanese morale would eventually crack under the continued hardship of supplying their army from a limited source of raw materials. They have been suffering from privation for so long that it has become their accustomed way of life, he said.

OPA TELLS WHY IT MODIFIED OIL RATION PROGRAM

Takes 19 Pages to Defend Plan's Operation.

Herewith is a summary of the 19 page statement setting forth arguments in favor of the present system of fuel oil rationing which was offered yesterday at the public protest meeting in the city council chamber by Edward F. Stegen, regional OPA ration executive. Those attending the meeting refused to hear it in entirety and excerpts were read.

Mr. Stegen explains that in devising the rationing program the OPA considered allowing every one a flat percentage of the oil he used last year, but rejected this plan for the following reasons:

1. It would give an advantage to the wasteful user and penalize the efficient user.

2. It would not serve to promote conservation of oil.

3. It would not give every one the same opportunity to reach the same relative level of comfort.

No Variance for Weather.

4. When last year's use is not known or is not accurately proved, a straight percentage plan would not work.

5. It would not take account of abnormal weather conditions last year.

As to suggestions that these difficulties might be handled by giving the local rationing boards full discretion to handle each case, Stegen said the OPA decided it would be unreasonable to expect the boards to assume such additional burdens. It was decided, therefore, to determine rules and principles for the boards to apply, Stegen explained.

He said the entire plan and all operations under it are set forth in tables and work sheets. When the floor area of a house and the last year's oil consumption is known, it is merely necessary for a board to refer to tables which it has received and make arithmetical computations.

Board May Aid Infirm.

To take care of individual cases, he continued, boards are given certain discretionary powers. They may grant auxiliary rations to meet the requirements of sick persons and infirm persons. Additional allowances are provided for children. Adjustments may be made to take care of persons who cannot get along on the ration given to them.

In setting up the rationing plan, Stegen said, the following factors were considered:

1. Past consumption was taken into account.

2. Past consumption figures were adjusted to allow for abnormal weather last year.

3. A fuel requirement formula was used to test the reasonableness of past consumption and to make the rations vary roughly with the size of a house.

4. If an individual's consumption is found to exceed the reasonable maximum for his floor area, such a person may be cut more than 33⅓ per cent, but he can make up the difference by greater economies in use.

Stegen's statement admitted that difficulties are arising under the program, but contended that rough spots are being eliminated.

SUBWAY TRAINS MAY BE RUNNING NEXT MARCH—IF

Mayor Kelly said he received a telegram yesterday from Maury Maverick, director of the governmental division of the war production board, informing him priorities needed for completion of the State street subway have been extended from Jan. 1 to May 31.

The action clears the way for operation of trains in the subway in March, unless new delays develop, Kelly said. The priorities cover about $17,000 of electrical equipment essential to completion of the tubes.

The mayor said he will continue to press Maverick for high enough priorities to complete the south district water filtration plant at 79th street and the lake. He said the filtration plant, needed to protect water supplies on the south side, could be completed with comparatively small amounts of additional materials. Most of the work has been finished.

DEMAND FOUR RATION BOARDS FOR RURAL AREA IN LAKE COUNTY

A delegation of Lake county residents yesterday demanded more ration boards of Carter Jenkins, state director of the office of price administration outside the Chicago metropolitan area. They reported that the suffering and inconvenience caused by rationing is heightened by the fact that there is only one ration board for 14 townships in the county not served thru the Chicago office.

Paul King, head of the Lake county rationing board, said he has only eight paid employés to serve from 40,000 to 50,000 persons and his office has been able to process only 80 per cent of its fuel oil applications.

Frank L. Davis, chairman of the Lake county board of supervisors who called the meeting with Jenkins, proposed that four sub-boards be set up in Zion, Lake Villa, Grayslake, and Barrington. The lake shore townships now are served by one main board in Waukegan and six sub-boards in central locations.

State legislators from the 8th district, Sen. Ray Paddock and Representatives Thomas A. Bolger, Nick Keller, and Harold D. Kelsey, all warned that better distribution of rationing headquarters is imperative.

NEW FIBER AUTO PLATES DELAYED FOR 3 TO 4 WEEKS

Difficulties in producing the 1943 Illinois fiber board automobile license plate will delay delivery of the tags until after the first of the year, Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes said yesterday. He estimated that the distribution of the plates would start three weeks to a month later than usual.

At the same time Hughes said that plans were being made to collect the 1942 metal license plates for salvage purposes. W. L. McFetridge, Chicago area office of civilian defense salvage section head, had suggested last week that plans be made to provide salvage barrels for the plates at distribution centers.

Hughes said details of his plan for collecting the metal plates, which could yield up to a thousand tons of high grade metal, would be announced in a few days. Suggestions made several months ago that motorists be required to hand in their old plates when the new ones are received were turned down by the secretary's office on the ground that the statutes do not allow any such regulation.

JAPS ON ANXIOUS SEAT IN FEAR OF U.S. BOMB RAIDS

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Tokio radio indicated today that the Japanese continue to be anxious concerning United States air raids on Japan proper, asserting steps were taken to forestall such an attack on the recent anniversary of their attack on Pearl Harbor.

The radio broadcast said:

"From about Dec. 4, the enemy air force, especially American units, began suddenly dispatching squadrons of bomber and fighter planes to Kweilin, Kwangsi province; Hengchow, Hunan province, and other places, making various suggestive moves.

"But the Japanese air corps was not to be caught napping and in its usual fashion took a headstart on the enemy by swooping down on the chief enemy bases in huge formations of fighter and bomber planes from Dec. 6 to Dec. 8."

Domei asserted that such attacks, which have not been confirmed by allied sources, did such damage to the American air bases that "the enemy plot was nipped in the bud."

Cincinnati Police Seize Two for Chicago Holdup

Police learned yesterday of the arrest in Cincinnati, O., of two youths who confessed robbing John Okonski, a cab driver, 3646 South Honore street, of $11 when they accosted him at Division street and the river on Dec. 14. The men in custody are Anthony Vedelle, 17, of 1148 Huron street, and Roy Faires, 17, of 1924 Huron street. Racine avenue police, in whose district the robbery took place, have instructed the Cincinnati police to hold the youths pending extradition.

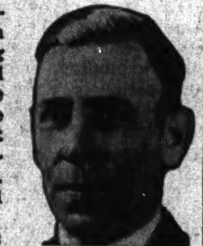
YANK AIRMEN IN INDIA BOMB JAPS 14 TIMES A DAY

Their Little Raids Build Up the Big Ones.

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 18 (AP).—The United States 10th air force has gone out on as many as 14 raiding operations in one day during the last week and not a single American plane has been shot down in that period, Brig. Gen. Clayton L. Bissell disclosed today.



Brig. Gen. C. L. Bissell.

Gen. Bissell is in command of the United States air forces in China, Burma, and India. His flyers have been conducting numerous operations over Burma daily, he said, adding:

"But we haven't said anything about most of them because most are on a small scale and not particularly newsworthy."

Catch Japs at Their Dinner.

He emphasized, however, that small scale operations are necessary to build up to success in the subsequent big ones. Some small scale operations turned out better than had been anticipated, he said.

On Dec. 4, for example, four Curtiss P-40s attacked a group of buildings at Weshi, Burma. Pilots reported merely that Japanese ran out of the buildings, but later information disclosed that 38 Japanese had been killed and others wounded.

"They were caught eating their noon meal and were well salted and peppered with machine gun bullets," Gen. Bissell said.

A raid on Bangkok [Thailand] Nov. 26 also was more successful than first reported. The city's electrical system was knocked out and an underground oil pipe system badly damaged. A refinery there still is not working as a result of the raid, he revealed.

Yanks to Have a Good Xmas.

Discussing the Americans' Christmas plans, the general said the troops were going to have a good holiday dinner, "despite the unsuccessful attempts of some Indian merchants to raise turkey prices."

He said the troops already had received a considerable quantity of Christmas mail and packages.

A British communique reported that royal air force bombers yesterday attacked the Japanese occupied village of Rattledaung, near Akyab, Burma.

25 Planes Destroyed: Japs.

BERLIN, Dec. 18 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Twenty-five allied planes were destroyed during Japanese raids Tuesday and Wednesday on allied air bases at Chittagong and Fenny, India, just across the Burmese border, a Berlin broadcast of a Tokio dispatch reported today. Five Japanese planes were said to have been lost.

JAPANESE PUT UP HEAVY FIGHT IN BUNA SECTOR

Resist Encircling Allies; Bombers Raid Timor.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Dec. 19 [Saturday].—(AP)—As allied rings tightened about the trapped Japs on either side of Buna village, heavy fighting erupted in northeast New Guinea, the high command announced today.

The heaviest fighting has broken out on the allies' right, which is the Buna Mission sector.

Allied planes kept up their unceasing attacks on the enemy ground positions. Allied bombers, meanwhile, paid another visit to Portuguese Timor where enemy installations were attacked in the towns of Maobisse and Mindelo. It was the second visit in as many days to Mindelo.

Japs Raid Port Moresby.

Jap bombers raided the rear areas of the allies and also paid a visit to Port Moresby in southeast New Guinea, but the brief communique of Gen. Douglas MacArthur said the raids were "without effect."

Japanese outposts in the Salamaua area 140 miles northwest of Buna were reported pushed back by allied patrols. One reason for the allied moves in that area was to protect friendly natives whom the Japanese have been attempting to enslave as carriers. Besides Salamaua, the enemy on New Guinea still holds the port of Lae, a little further to the northwest.

[Allied ground action in the Salamaua area has been previously—tho rarely—mentioned in Gen. MacArthur's communiques. One of the last previous mentions concerned an attack on Mubo, 12 miles south of Salamaua, in the communique of Oct. 4. It has never been explained how the allied troops reached that area.]

Jap Graves Spotted.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 18 (AP).—Freshly made mounds of earth in the Kumusi-Mambare river region 45 miles northwest of Gona were spotted by aerial reconnaissance, indicating the deadly toll of allied planes which raided a Japanese landing there Monday.

Allied planes made 230 sorties there, sprayed the reënforcements with 34,000 rounds of machine gun and cannon fire and cascaded 82 tons of bombs. The beach was littered with broken landing barges and burned out native huts. It was considered doubtful that the Japanese landed any appreciable force.

Particularly effective were fragmentation parachute bombs devised by Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, air commander in the southwest Pacific. Gen. MacArthur decorated him for developing the explosives, released from planes at 80 to 100 feet. Kenney spent seven years perfecting the bomb.

NEW GUINEA JAPS HIT BY EPIDEMIC OF FATAL FEVER

BY JACK TURCOTT.

[By Wireless to the New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Dec. 18.—An epidemic of scrub typhus which is prevalent in the orient under the name of tsustugamushi, or Japanese river fever, has attacked Japanese soldiers in New Guinea, causing large numbers of casualties. The disease, also known as mite fever because it is transmitted by a tiny mite which carries a germ called Rickettsia orientis, was traced by allied doctors after they examined numerous dead Japanese who bore no wounds.

Only occasional cases had been reported earlier in New Guinea. It was never considered a mortal ailment in that area, altho the death rate in Japan from it has been high. The Japs apparently brought the disease from home.

American medical officers say the disease spread among Jap troops because the enemy permitted no medical attention for soldiers as soon as they were stricken. After the ailment gained headway it was usually too late to effect a cure by the use of sulfa drugs, which seem to be less potent in tropical jungles.

CHINA FREEZES ALL COMMODITY PRICES, WAGES

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 18 (AP).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, taking the lead in a campaign to combat rising living costs in China, announced today that commodity prices, transportation charges and wages would be frozen Jan. 15 at their levels of Nov. 30, 1942.

Observers predicted that the order might result in another drop in the black market [illegal] rate for the American dollar, which has slumped more than 25 per cent in the last two weeks.

According to economic experts, prices of most commodities in China today are about 50 times what they were before the war.

JAPS' AIR BASE ON NEW GEORGIA IS BOMBED AGAIN

Airacobras Go Along in Solomons Raid.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—The navy announced today that army Flying Fortresses with fighter escorts had made another attack on the Japanese base at Munda on New Georgia Island in the Solomons, but said results were not reported.

The communique said:

"South Pacific [All dates are east longitude]:

"1. On Dec. 17 a force of army Flying Fortresses [Boeing B-17s] escorted by Airacobra fighters [Bell P-39s] attacked the Munda area of New Georgia Island. Results were not reported.

Reduce Bag of Japs.

"2. Navy department communique No. 222 announced that 12 Japanese Zero fighters had been shot down in the vicinity of New Georgia Island on Dec. 16. A correction has been received from the South Pacific stating that the number shot down was three instead of 12."

The correction in the number of Zeros destroyed in the Dec. 16 raid made the total of Japanese planes reported destroyed in the Solomons campaign to date 640.

Counter Enemy Planes.

The use of Airacobra fighters as escorts for the Flying Fortresses apparently was the result of the attack by Zeros against the Fortresses in the Dec. 16 raid.

That was the first time since the attacks on the Munda area began Dec. 9 that Zeros had gone up to intercept American planes.

The interception was made by 12 land type Japanese fighters and yesterday's communique reported that "the entire intercepting force" was shot down.

GUNS SILENCED, SHIP AFIRE, BUT CREW FIGHTS ON

Tells How Jap Battleship Was Torpedoed.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, Dec. 18.—The story of how the crew of an American destroyer, her guns out of action and her ammunition magazines exploding, managed to torpedo and seriously damage a 30,000 ton Jap battleship a few minutes before the destroyer was abandoned, was told here today by Comm. E. N. Parker of Lexington, Ky.

The engagement occurred during the third battle of Savo Island, in the Solomons group [Nov. 12-13]. This was the battle in which Rear Adm. Daniel J. Callaghan and Rear Adm. Norman Scott were killed and 23 Jap ships were sunk.

The bronzed, youthful commander said the action was like "a barroom brawl with all the lights out."

Parker's destroyer, leading ship of the task force of destroyers and cruisers commanded by Adm. Callaghan, was combing the sea north of Guadalcanal on the night of Nov. 12 for Jap forces reported in that vicinity.

Lights Five Jap Warships.

At 1:40 o'clock the morning of Nov. 13, Parker sighted three Jap destroyers 2,000 yards ahead. Thirty seconds later he sighted a large Jap cruiser off his starboard bow, then a Jap battleship mounting 14 inch guns 1,000 yards off his port bow.

"Simultaneously we opened fire on the lead destroyer and fired a torpedo at the battleship," Parker said. "The Jap destroyer turned its light on us and answered our fire with its 5 inch guns. At the same time the battleship, missed by our torpedo, opened fire with her machine guns.

"We were watching her 14 inch guns, trained fore and aft, and were comforted to see that she did not swing them upon us.

"The battleship passed astern, and we concentrated on the Jap destroyer. However, we already had suffered hits in both firerooms and in the engine room which would stop us dead in the water in a few minutes. We were making only ten knots at that time.

Fire Six Torpedoes.

"Looking astern, I saw the battleship, which, under the heavy fire of our cruisers, apparently had suffered a damaged steering gear, swinging back toward us in a great circle. As she passed, we fired six torpedoes at 1,000 yards range. I believe three of these smashed into her, and she left the action, proceeding northwest toward Savo Island, two miles away.

"To fire our torpedoes, we had to remain on our ship, which had three of her four 5-inch guns out of action. We were dead in the water from damage, but fired our last gun at a Jap destroyer and another ship.

"For five minutes we were lucky that no ship fired at us. In this time I watched Adm. Callaghan's cruiser San Francisco slugging it out with a Jap ship. Our executive officer fired our last three torpedoes at a Jap ship which passed, but I don't know whether it was hit.

"Then our luck changed. A Jap light cruiser, 1,200 yards off our starboard bow, turned its lights on us and opened fire. Another ship stumbled upon us and did likewise.

Put Wounded on Rafts.

"I went to the main deck and issued the order to abandon ship and the crew went over the side. Sixty-three wounded were placed on life rafts and the others clung to the rafts. I remained aboard, and finally an electrician's mate with a raft came back to the ship and we put five more men on the raft. Then we left the ship.

"The next morning we were picked up by boats from Guadalcanal. All day of Nov. 13 our ship lay off the island, burning and its ammunition exploding. It sank late that afternoon."

Parker said it was only 20 minutes from the time he sighted the first destroyer until the action had ended, with his destroyer dead in the water and her torpedoes expended.

"We left ship at 3:15 o'clock in the morning," he concluded.

2 FROM CHICAGO AREA MISSING IN ACTION ON EUROPEAN AIR FRONT

Capt. W. N. Frost.

Capt. William Nathaniel Frost, 22 years old, former Knox college athlete, has been missing in action over western Europe since Dec. 12, his parents, Dr. and Mrs. George N. Frost, 726 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, learned yesterday. He was a flying fortress pilot.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Shaw of 16 Iowa avenue, Joliet, have been advised that their son, Staff Sergt. Floyd J., 28 years old, aerial gunner attached to the crew of a flying fortress in England, is missing in action.

Capt. Mark T. Goldstine Jr., 32, former Illinois civil service employé in social service work in Chicago, is a Japanese prisoner on the Philippine Islands, his wife, Mrs. Berna Goldstine of Chesterton, Ind., was informed by the war department.

After experiencing 70 bombings and 20 shellings safely in two months of active fighting in the Solomon Islands, marine Pvt. John Gordon Elliott, 19, was wounded in a Jap air raid on a destroyer on which he was a passenger on his way home on leave, he told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott, 870 Deerpath, Lake Forest, in a letter writen from an Oakland, Cal., hospital.

MILWAUKEE PILOT LOST IN CANADA WITH R. A. F. PLANE

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—Officials of a west coast station of the royal air force today listed eight men as missing and two others dead in flights off the east coast of Vancouver Island during the last week.

One aircraft has been missing since Wednesday and the other crashed yesterday off nearby Salt Spring Island. Each was a medium bomber, carrying a crew of five. Among those aboard the missing plane, object of a widespread search, was Pilot Officer W. W. Harris of Milwaukee, Wis.

Loss of a second plane yesterday also was announced by the R. A. F. with two men listed as killed and three missing.

Last evening the veterans were entertained by notables from night clubs and theaters who donated their services.

200 JAPS FREED FROM U.S. CAMPS TO ACCEPT JOBS

Return to West Coast Areas Barred.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—Approximately 200 of the 110,000 west coast Japanese who were sent to relocation centers after Pearl Harbor have been released to resume normal activity in American life.

Statisticians of the war relocation authority estimated today that others are emerging at the rate of 10 a day, after being investigated for character and loyalty to the United States. They leave voluntarily to take jobs outside the proscribed areas of California, western Washington and Oregon, and southern Arizona.

The WRA said it was fostering this method of dispersing some of the Japanese, approximately two-thirds of whom are native United States citizens, as one means of solving the problem of crowding in 10 camps.

Many Get Temporary Leaves.

Granting of indefinite leaves to those obtaining regular work supplements the program under which some 250 were allowed to transfer from Pacific coast to midwestern and eastern colleges and under which large groups were granted temporary leave for seasonal work.

More than 9,000 were allowed to go out on temporary leave to help harvest sugar beet crops in the west, but most of them have returned to the centers.

Those who have gone out on indefinite leave have been offered jobs as domestic servants, nurses, and clerical, restaurant, laundry, and floral nursery workers. In addition, there have been a few mechanics and engineers.

None is allowed to displace another worker or to work for less than the prevailing wage for his type of work.

Pro-axis Groups Termed Few.

John Baker, director of WRA's office of reports, said there are few pro-axis sympathizers among those remaining in the centers.

He said they include temperaments ranging from the gentle to the rough—and tensions resulting from a mass of persons living together account largely for recent disorders in the centers at Manzanar, Cal., and near Parker, Ariz.

Baker said that back of these troubles are a variety of nervestraining factors common when large groups live together under crowded conditions, and a complexity of other factors such as personal differences and jealousies and factional disputes.

AMERICAN BOMBERS ATTACK 2 IMPORTANT ENEMY BASES IN CHINA

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 18 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters said in a communique today:

"Renewing the offensive against Japanese installations in occupied China, the United States army air forces struck two important objectives.

"On Dec. 12 Tengchung [Tengyueh], possible advance base of enemy operations in Yunnan, was attacked by a bomber-fighter mission. Oil storage dumps were set afire, hits were scored in a troop area, and a number of buildings were strafed.

"On Dec. 14 Gialam airdrome at Hanoi was badly damaged by our bombers with fighter escort. Direct hits were made on repair shops, barracks, two large hangars, and runways. A large fire was also started in an area believed used for oil and munitions storage."

Japanese forces attempting to drive northward along the western bank of the Salween river in western Yunnan province have been thrown back to their base at Tengyueh, the Chinese command reported.

NAZIS CAPTURE SHIP'S CAPTAIN; WIFE MISSING

AN EAST COAST PORT, Dec. 18 (AP).—A ship captain's wife who for three dangerous war years sailed at her husband's side is missing at sea after seeing him taken prisoner aboard an axis submarine that torpedoed their merchant craft.

Other crewmen, describing the enemy action, said she sought to board the undersea raider and become a prisoner with her husband, but was ordered back by a sailor armed with a machine gun.

Occupants of three of the four lifeboats that left the attacked ship were rescued, but one boat with eight persons in it, including the captain's wife, has not been heard from. One torpedo sank the vessel, which flew the Norwegian flag, in eight minutes in the Atlantic in mid-November.

The sinking brought to 563 the number of vessels lost in the western Atlantic area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation by the Associated Press. The attacks have cost the lives of 3,756 persons, 2,258 are missing, and 16,984 have been rescued.

A POEM WRITTEN FOR 'RICK' IN '18 HOLDS GOOD IN '42

It Recalls Flyer's Feats in the Last War.

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's return to the United States after his ordeal in the South Pacific, where he drifted for three weeks after his plane crashed, has recalled to friends of the noted aviator a particularly pertinent tribute paid to him under somewhat similar circumstances back in 1918.

The tribute was a poem bearing the title, "Rick Returns." It was embossed on a scroll which was presented to Rickenbacker when he came back to the United States after his aerial exploits in France in the last war.

Gave a Party for Flyer.

The poem was written by Worth Colwell, who then was secretary of the Motor Racing Drivers' association. It was presented to Rickenbacker at Christmastime in 1918 at a party given for him by some of his auto racing colleagues, including George Robertson, Ralph De Palma, and the late Louis Disbrow.

Rickenbacker's recent brush with death in the Pacific caused his friends to recall his daring flying during the first World war. At that time, too, the aviator was said to have had a "charmed life." This fearlessness was mentioned in the poem of 1918, which follows:

RICK RETURNS.

Skirmisher of the skies, who knew no peer,
Who blazed about the clouds, and one by one,
Plucked down the Prussian from the atmosphere,
Struck terror in the air fleets of the Hun!

He used his ship, his mitrailleuse, his brains,
He gave the Boche some hellish, deadly chases;
Shot down, "official," six-and-twenty planes,
And now returns to us our Ace of Aces.

Some pals of his will not return today;
These he avenged in valiant, bold attack;
He rode in fearless luck; he dared—and say,
We're glad our Eddie Rickenbacker's back!

Well may the mother of that boy be proud—
He who helped stem the tide and turn the trick!
To Capt. Rickenbacker, long and loud
We'll yell our thanks—only we call him "Rick"!

Principal Approves Slacks, but Bars the Boys in Skirts

South Haven, Mich., Dec. 18, (AP).—Girls in slacks get by—but J. R. Hervey, high school principal, draws the line at boys wearing skirts. Hervey met a dozen youths in skirts at the school doors today and ordered them back into trousers.

FLAT BLAZE CAUSES $10,000 LOSS.

RICKENBACKER SEES MOTHER; 'GRATEFUL' FOR BEING RESCUED

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 18 (AP).—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker arrived by air today from San Francisco for a brief visit with his 79 year old mother—who never lost hope during the days Eddie floated on the Pacific after his plane was forced down. He reached San Francisco yesterday.

"My only regret," he said here, "is that we lost one of our boys when our plane went down. I want to say that I am very grateful to both the army and navy for the rescue."

Rick's plane was late, and his mother waited nearly six hours at the airport with his brother, Dewey. She scarcely could control her emotion as he ran into her outstreched arms.

Rickenbacker is en route to Washing, D. C., to report on his adventure. He has declined to talk of his ordeal before making an official report.

FBI ARRESTS 16 IN CALIFORNIA ON PLOT CHARGE

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 18 (AP).—Sixteen leaders of the organization Mankind United have been arrested in California on charges of sedition conspiracy and 150 other persons are being questioned, the federal bureau of investigation announced today.

Federal agents accused sponsors of the group of disseminating false reports and attempting to interfere with the prosecution of the war. R. B. Hood, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said that in San Diego followers were urged to forget the phrase "remember Pearl Harbor" and to substitute "remember the cherry trees."

An indictment charging conspiracy to violate sedition laws was returned by a federal grand jury here yesterday. Hood said Arthur L. Bell, 42 years old, leader of Mankind United, and his chief assistant, George Gouverneur Ashwell, were arrested in San Francisco. Others were taken into custody in Fresno and San Diego.

CHIANG'S REPLY TO F. D. R. HAILS PHOTO SERVICE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, replying today to a message from President Roosevelt which opened radiophoto service Tuesday between this country and China, expressed hope the service "would be a symbol of the rapid progress of the allied nations' war effort."

Mr. Roosevelt had sent the generalissimo a handwritten letter—in which he used two "l's" in generallissimo. The office of war information fixed up the error with ink eradicator.

"May this be a symbol of the rapid progress of the allied nations' war efforts and of the early realization of our common war aims in advancing the cause of freedom and equality in a world of peace, order, and happiness," Chiang replied. "I am deeply appreciative of the warm welcome accorded Mme. Chiang by you and Mrs. Roosevelt and the American people."

CITY PLANS CUT IN RESERVES TO MEET PAY HIKES

Cost of Boosts Is Set at $4,300,000.

City Controler Robert B. Upham said yesterday the city undoubtedly will reduce its reserves for loss and cost in collection of back taxes to finance 1943 wage increases of 10 to 12 per cent voted its employés Thursday night when the city council finance committee approved next year's budget.

Meanwhile, Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic federation, which has followed closely the development of city budgets, expressed opposition to any policy of setting up new continuing expenses financed out of nonrecurring revenue.

The wage increases in the corporate [operating] fund alone, according to estimates of the finance committee staff, will cost the city about $4,300,000. After the pay increases are written into the budget, the staff estimated, corporate fund appropriations will total $58,690,000, or $3,178,937 more than the $55,511,063 provided in appropriations for 1942.

By reducing the reserves for loss and cost in collection of back corporate taxes 1 per cent of the total tax bills involved, Upham said, about 3 million dollars of additional appropriable money woud be available for the corporate fund.

"We had to raise employés' pay, in view of the rising cost of living," Upham said, in justifying this bookkeeping maneuver. "And in the second place, the city can afford it, because the city never was in better financial conditon. By selling all 1942 corporate fund tax warrants we could pay up all current corporate fund bills as of Dec. 31. This situation exists for the first time in many years."

The city has built up its reserve for loss and costs in collection of taxes, Upham said, by diverting unexpended appropriations at the end of each year into the reserve, and adding these sums to the 10 per cent of corporate fund taxes provided each year for loss and cost by the city council.

It is a matter of opinion, Upham said, whether these reserves are adequate, but aldermen believe these reserves can be reduced and still be sufficient. Tax collections have been showing marked improvement, he said, and unexpended corporate fund appropriations have been running larger than usual in recent years. In 1942, he predicted, they will exceed the $2,857,586 left over at the end of 1941.

Sutherland said that until the budget has been worked out in detail he is withholding definite comment. The council is correct in restoring 1941 pay cuts, he said, if the money is available. "If to finance these other increases," he said, "the city must rely on a surplus, then the council has no business doing it. New continuing expenses must be based on recurring revenue."

> Let it be impressed upon your minds, let it be instilled into your children, that the liberty of the press is the palladium of all civil, political, and religious rights of free men.—Junius.

THE REAL FRIENDS OF CIVIL LIBERTY.

Sen. Burton Wheeler, demanding that Atty. Gen. Biddle review the grand jury proceedings by which an indictment was brought in the city of Washington against 28 persons accused of conspiring to injure the morale of the armed forces, aligns himself with those who manifest a serious concern for the preservation of civil rights in wartime. Sen. Taft and Rep. Hoffman have also had the courage to speak their minds about this proceeding, but it is striking that so far the professional organizations and almost all of the individuals who usually set up a clamor when they conceive civil liberties to be threatened have not responded to the issues raised in this case.

Certain reasons for this silence suggest themselves. Some of the better known organizations have in the past displayed a tendency to rush to the defense of the principle of civil liberties only when the particular individuals or groups that might be injured by their abuse happen to share political, social, or economic predilections popular with the champions of the persecuted. The well publicized cases of Angelo Herndon, the Scottsboro defendants, and others providing a serviceable class angle demonstrate that the zeal of the professional exponents of civil rights is most easily aroused when there is a fair possibility of creating convenient political martyrs.

The defendants in the Washington indictment lack this attraction. Most of them are outcasts and crackpots and those of them not previously convicted as seditionists voiced opinions unpopular not only with civil liberties crusaders but with the overwhelming majority of the American people. It is the virtue, however, of such men as Wheeler and Taft that they are able to draw a distinction between specific utterances and the right to utter. That distinction is what makes the Washington proceedings important as they bear on the principle of civil rights.

The senators may despise the defendants as individuals and abhor the opinions they have expressed, but they may still feel that the department of justice has contrived to deprive those facing trial of their rights under the Constitution and before the law. It has been charged that entrapment was employed to bring them hundreds of miles from their homes to stand trial in a hostile jurisdiction, where every venire is dependent directly or indirectly upon the government. One of the grievances of the American colonists was the practice of transporting for trial. The practice is as heinous now as then. The political bias of the administration was further revealed in these proceedings by gratuitously dragging in mention of the America First committee and other organizations whose sin it was to differ with the administration over national policy.

Senators Taft and Wheeler and the others who have had the courage to speak in behalf of the principle of civil liberties, no matter how unpopular the men and women may be who are shielded by their advocacy, have given proof of the constancy of their dedication to the Bill of Rights. It would seem that now, if ever, is the time that they hear from those who have so loudly professed their devotion to civil rights that they have allies in the fight. We have often heard the professional crusaders voice the famous words of Voltaire, "I do not agree with a word that you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it." Is that just a pat quotation, or does it really mean something to those who repeat it?

ROOSEVELT FIXES THE PAY.

Mr. Roosevelt promises to make a speech on income prohibitions before the first of the year. He put a $25,000 net limitation on salaries altho congress twice refused to pass a law limiting them and all other incomes. Mr. Roosevelt thinks that what he did to the pay checks without legislative sanction will put congress on a hot seat unless it brings all other incomes under the prohibition. Why he did not make a clean sweep himself he does not explain. His executive order assumed that he had the authority. The new congress in January may meet him on this issue. The prerogative seems to have no other validity than the American Communist platform in which the limitation was advocated as a social gain.

Mr. Roosevelt does not mention that inspiration. He traces the idea back to Jesse Jones and the Reconstruction Finance corporation and recalls that bankrupt railroads seeking government loans were paying as high as $150,000 a year to railroad presidents. Mr. Jones thought he could get them down because the roads were busted and seeking loans. In such circumstances the banker has the last word and it was not an unreasonable one, for it may be doubted that the president of a busted institution is worth $150,000.

From this allegory Mr. Roosevelt extracted a moral. He observed that if this country lost the war it would be bankrupt and, consequently, the companies which were not bankrupt or seeking government money in loans should not pay their executives what they thought they were worth. What Mr. Jones had done to busted railroads Mr. Roosevelt did to solvent concerns, or to their employés, to avoid the national bankruptcy which would follow a lost war we do not intend to lose. Probably Mr. Roosevelt in his promised speech will make it clearer. His side of the question could stand a little more coherence.

What is seen in this executive order based upon a presumption of war powers is more of the old Moscow than has cropped up in any other regimenting edict. Stalin's Moscow now believes in rewards and discriminations. Mr. Roosevelt's communism is old style, but then he has not yet leveled them all down and, until that is done, he is unwilling to let any of them up. The country at large may be little interested just now in what happens to the comparatively few persons who find that what they may earn is determined in Washington.

When the usurped power has followed its natural course and has reached everybody there will be more general interest. It may then be belated.

ONE WAY STREET.

The American interest in this war would be served if Russian forces in Siberia, or at least Russian bases there, were made available against Japan. We lack that aid. Russia remains at peace with Japan.

The design of our weapons would be improved and lives of American soldiers, and the soldiers of all our allies whom we are equipping, would be saved if we could find out how the weapons we are sending Russia are performing in combat. We aren't finding out. Lend-lease is strictly a one way street. We and the British have dispatched thousands of tanks, thousands of planes, and hundreds of thousands of tons of munitions to Russia, yet not one military observer for either this country or Great Britain has been allowed to get up to a front line where real fighting was taking place.

All that the Russian government has contributed to America in its struggle is the Communist party and such Communist transmission belts as the Union for Democratic Action. The Communists were against the war until Hitler forced the Russians to line up with England. Before June of 1941 it was to them an "imperialist" war. Memory does not have to be long to recall their demonstrations against it in the streets and halls of Chicago and elsewhere.

Not until Russia was invaded did the Communists join forces with those bleeding hearts who were so busy calling for blood that they neglected to guard Pearl Harbor. As usual in such amours, the bleeding hearts found themselves the tools of the more experienced intriguers among the Communists; and so when the Union for Democratic Action undertook its recent and unsuccessful purge any one who had ever criticized a Communist, including some who had been right up in the front row with the bleeding hearts in yelling for war, suddenly found himself denounced as unpatriotic.

The Communist party's strength is centered in New York City, where in the last election it could poll only 42,000 votes. Yet this little group of anti-Americans is trying to run the country on a pretense of patriotism.

Russian contributions toward the defeat of Hitler are apparent to any one. It is equally apparent that those efforts are not made out of love of the United States, Great Britain, or any other nation. The Russians are fighting for their own lives and their soil and it is no detraction from their efforts to point that out. So far as obligations are concerned, they owe us a great deal more than we owe them, and a less alien minded administration would long ago have demanded as a price for our continued aid the liquidation of the Moscow controled Communist party and all its nasty little subsidiaries in this country.

AROUND THE WORLD IN ONE-EIGHTH SECOND.

The news that the American citizen finds in the paper and the news pictures that engage his attention, from London, from Moscow, from Guadalcanal or New Guinea, are now transmitted by radio. The electrical impulse that forms the radio wave may carry the account of a naval victory in the Solomons or it may add a stroke to a portrait of Chiang Kai-shek sent thru thousands of miles of space. But whether words or pictorial matter are being conveyed around the world, the radio impulse that carries them travels at the speed of light—186,000 miles a second.

It is easy to take such matters for granted, but even a few years ago they would have been miracles. We think they are worth emphasis because the radio links that bring news and pictures to the readers of this newspaper have just been extended virtually around the world. Press Wireless, the coöperative radio subsidiary of THE TRIBUNE and a group of other leading American newspapers, formerly operated from Moscow to the United States. Its transmission network has now been extended from the other direction so that radio-photos can be transmitted direct to this country from Chungking, China. That just about completes a friendly encirclement of the world.

Transmission of pictorial matter is by a process called facsimile, toward the development of which TRIBUNE engineers contributed a great deal. Radio impulses faithfully reproduce a photograph, a drawing, typographical matter, Chinese characters by controling the movement of a stylus over chemically treated paper. While this process was still in the development stage THE TRIBUNE engaged in experimental work in facsimile transmissions broadcast over station W-G-N. Fifty recording instruments lent to the public assisted in the research. This groundwork hastened the day when the process could be brought to perfection.

It has now reached that stage. When you look at your TRIBUNE today you see the world and the day's events compressed into columns of type and pictures to illustrate the chronicle. The ends of the earth have been drawn together faster than Jules Verne would ever have dreamed possible.

Editorial of the Day

A VERY DETERMINED MAN.

[Detroit Free Press.]

This Adm. William F. Halsey Jr. of ours is a genuinely hardboiled individual. He is blunt of both thought and word, and the only thing that seems to be encompassed by his mental focus is how to get the job at hand done best.

Witness the edict with which he concluded a demand that army, navy and marine corps forces under his command cease completely to think of themselves as separate arms. He said:

"Every man must understand it—and every blankety-blank so-and-so will understand it if I have to take off all uniforms, issue coveralls and imprint the insignia 'South Pacific Fighting Force' on the seat of the pants."

The more commanders like Adm. Halsey we can turn up as we comb over the available high officers, the more certain we will be to escape setbacks born of things other than the enemy's determination to resist us.

The army has discovered that men over 38 cannot stand the pace of modern warfare. Old gentlemen now in service will be allowed to totter home and take jobs on farms, in workships, or on the Supreme court.—New Yorker.

To a good number of people the coming of a new congress in January is even more inviting than the approach of Christmas.—Kansas City Star.

Just a few more great raids on Italy and the Duce will need a portable balcony, with vacuum cups, to snap on any standing wall.—Detroit News.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS GOES ALL OUT.

19th Dec.—Must begin to prepare for Christmas in earnest, because thus far I have been dilly-dallying and viewing the downtown crowds with alarm. Must issue greeting cards, and replenish my wine cellar, and drag home a choice one-man Christmas tree, and stagger around laden with packages, and attend eggnog parties, and do everything possible to prove there will always be a Christmas, no matter how many other things are shortaged. Between times will conduct my business as usual, so expect to be on the jump until the Great Day comes, when I count upon having a quiet week-end, sitting in meditation by the light of my Yule log, which does its tricks with gas.

Have been trying to remember what Christmas was like in the two other wars I have lived thru, but cannot remember, so they must have been normal. Count myself fortunate that every Christmas in my life but one has been spent in my own home, and nearly all of them in this city. Know a man who goes on a vacation at this season to California, but my taste for Christmas is pine trees and snow, not palm trees and sun-kissed climate.

Heard my friend Ashton Stevens play the banjo yesterday in a broadcast for the soldiers overseas and envied his skill, and wished I had learned in youth to whang or toot on something. He said he planned to restore to American soldiers their native musical instrument, which has been neglected by this generation for the ukulele and the juke box, but I hope he does not try to arm the marines with banjos.

Now for a walk down State street to get into the swing of the holiday time.

IRONY OF THE TING-A-LING.

Why is it when the postman rings
He never rings for me?
His bag is loaded down with things—
As heavy as can be.
He has a card for you, and you—
A note for little Susy Q—
A letter for my brother, too—
But not a thing for me!

Why is it when the phone bell rings,
It never rings for me?
There's no end to the news it brings
To my whole family.
It's glamor for my sister Kate—
A sailor begging for a date—
How is it that the others rate?—
It's more than I can see!

But when the boss' buzzer rings,
How wanted I can be!
I find myself bogged down with things,
While other girls are free!
Miss Jones is snapping rubber bands—
Miss Smith is sitting on her hands—
I'm swamped with work of fifty brands—
But still it rings for me!

In Memory of "Eolus."

The pseudonym, "Eolus," has been a signature to verses printed in this column for 20 years or more. It has appeared in every edition of the Linebooks since their start in 1924. It has been the trademark of an able poet whose messages, often serious, occasionally humorous, always significant, have reached millions of readers. It now becomes the editor's sad duty to communicate the news that "Eolus" has sung his last song.

Dr. E. O. Laughlin of Paris, Ill., died last Monday and was buried on Thursday, aged 77 years. He had practiced medicine in his birthplace, following his father's tradition, for 49 years and never, or hardly ever, missed a day in caring for his patients. He died in harness after completing his regular office hours.

His career as a writer began in 1890, when he published "Johnny: A Story of Boy Life." This example of his prose carried the indorsement of James Whitcomb Riley and had an active sale for 30 years.

His poem, "The Unknown," printed in the Armistice day number of a magazine of national circulation, attracted general attention. It has found its way into some of the anthologies.

"Yesterday and Today," published in 1937, was a collection of his best poems, largely taken from his contributions to the Line O' Type column. His last verses were published here within the last fortnight under the title, "The Irrational Burocrat."

He was a leader of the Line's Old Guard—and he never surrendered.

TO CHRISTMAS TREES.

If you have lived upon a northern hill,
You will have known the quiet ways of pine;
They grow so close to God's high window sill
That they have caught His wonderful design.
By day they cradle birds with tender care
And temper winds who blow with reckless might,
And when at dusk they bow their heads in prayer,
God walks among them in the soft twilight.

They are His trees, and so they come each year
To tell us stars shine always in the sky,
That peace will come again to banish fear,
Courageous faith and love will never die;
And they are wrapped in dignity and grace,
For they have lived on hills and know His face.

Mary V. Farnum.

Those who "O" and "ah" at the realism of dawn in the Adler planetarium would have their appreciation of the reproduction enhanced by arriving downtown an hour early these winter solstice mornings and witnessing the break of day over the city from anywhere in Grant park.

A Looper.

The tax assessor's office had to decide on which side of the United States-Canada border my uncle's newly purchased farm lay. Surveyors determined that it was just inside the United States.

The old man smiled in relief. "I'm so glad to know that," said he. "I've heard the winters in Canada are terrible." Severac.

Linemaster: Your 1942 Linebook was swell [that makes it unanimous], but there was one oversight. You used plenty of leads and slugs, making more space between the contributions. There was room to crowd one of mine in if you'd only measured. Carolus.

A white Christmas? Could be.

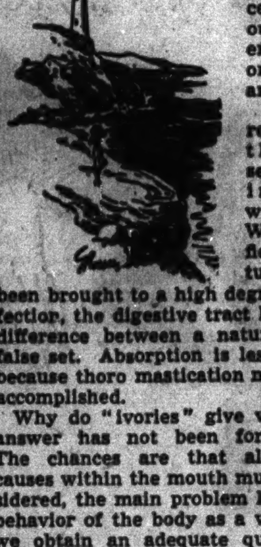
SUNNY CLIMES AND SOUND TEETH.

We have the best dentists in the world. Despite this fact our rate of tooth decay is high. One would raise a terrible fuss were he obliged to dispense with an arm or a leg. Nevertheless, we exhibit little concern when our "grinders" depart one after another.



We fail to realize that their absence may influence well-being. While artificial dentures have been brought to a high degree of perfection, the digestive tract knows the difference between a natural and a false set. Absorption is less efficient because thoro mastication may not be accomplished.

Why do "ivories" give way? The answer has not been forthcoming. The chances are that altho local causes within the mouth must be considered, the main problem lies in the behavior of the body as a whole. Do we obtain an adequate quantity of vitamin D, calcium, and phosphorus? The integrity of every bony structure depends on various factors—the circulation, the chemical character of the blood, its power to transport oxygen, etc. Good health and resistance are prerequisites.

Perhaps we can find a lesson in the report on the examination of draftees during World War I. The percentage of rejections for defective teeth was lower from Arkansas than any other state. Kansas came next, followed by Texas, New Mexico, Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Arizona. At the other extreme, the northeastern commonwealths supplied the largest ratio of soldiers with poor chewing equipment. Vermont topped the list with 103 per 1,000. Next came New Hampshire with 92, Rhode Island 79, and Massachusetts 78. The middle Atlantic group held second place with totals per thousand varying from 43 in New York to 29 in Pennsylvania.

Apparently the food habits of the applicants may offer an explanation. In the southwest region coarser edibles as well as more fresh vegetables comprise the menus. There are fewer preserved and pickled items of diet. In addition, there is some reason to believe that wild, fresh meat may play a part.

Because of the warmer climate, children residing in this area will be out of doors more days in the year. In consequence, their skins will manufacture more vitamin D by virtue of sunlight. In contrast, we may consider the shorter growing season in New England and the greater dependence upon stored products.

When we come to review the maladies which beset the inhabitants of these two widely separated sections we will probably find numerous colds and respiratory infections among the dwellers along the "rockbound coast." We know that rheumatism is rife. Then, too, we will be likely to encounter more anemia, which means that the jaws and their appendages receive less nutriment.

When Theodore Roosevelt recruited his regiment of Rough Riders he sought the cowboys of the plains and the desert. They were notoriously free from dental difficulties. Furthermore, they stood up under grueling privations with striking fortitude.

After all, it may be a question of sunlight. Just as Theobald A. Palm found no rickets among Oriental youngsters, so we find less evidence of damaged "tusks" among youths who grow up where Old Sol reigns supreme.

CROSSED EYE.

F. T. writes: My six month old son has one eye turned in. When I cover the good eye he can use the other but tries to take my hand away. What causes this?

REPLY.

A natural adjustment to avoid seeing two images. He is submerging the crossed eye. In time, this organ will become useless unless straightening can be accomplished. This procedure is not difficult.

SKIN DISORDER.

S. L. B. writes: What is erythema nodosum?

REPLY.

An acute inflammatory disease of the skin. Tender, red nodules break out. They contain blood and serum and frequently itch and burn. The lesions appear in crops and the malady may persist for several weeks.

MR. MULCAHY, MEET ALICE.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—"You see, Alice," said the Mock Turtle, "if you keep your temperature at 65 degrees, the amount of oil allotted you will be exactly enough."

"But what about high ceilings, high winds, and low temperatures?" asked Alice.

"O, that," interrupted the Welsh Rabbit, "doesn't make the slightest difference; it's all worked out by mathematics. You see, everything depends on the area of your floors, and the size of your family. Then there are the degree days and the mean temperatures."

"We're having mean temperatures all right," murmured Alice. "I understand that at least."

"Let me explain it," said the Mock Turtle. "We use averages. Some ceilings are high and some are low, but the average is what we use. The same is true of the size of families, temperatures, and winds. When we use averages we arrive at an exact result and everybody is comfortable."

"Even those with high ceilings?" queried Alice.

But the Welsh Rabbit interrupted, "There are all those people on the eastern seaboard, you know."

"I don't understand what they have to do with it," said Alice.

"O," replied the Welsh Rabbit, "they have a great deal to do with it. You'd be surprised. They have very little oil because we haven't been able to send them enough."

"Well," objected Alice, "if we can't send it to them, why can't we use it?"

At this point the Welsh Rabbit appealed to the Mock Turtle to take over, but the Mock Turtle had disappeared.

RESERVE OFFICERS NEGLECTED.

Champion, Mich., Dec. 11—In connection with your timely editorial yesterday relative to the male WAACs in Washington, would it not be well to bring to public attention the matter of the several thousand senior reserve army officers who have not been called to active duty? These men, most of whom are officer veterans of World War I., have for over 20 years pursued a course of training and study prescribed by the war department and designed to fit them as leaders of our citizen army. Thru demonstrated ability, they have from time to time been promoted until now many find themselves with commissions as lieutenant colonel and colonel, but every attempt on their part to secure active duty results only in encountering a series of "buck passings" at the hands of these male WAACs who are holding down the swivel chairs in our various army headquarters.

ANOTHER THEORY ON "SHAVETAIL."

Chicago, Dec. 16.—In regard to the origin of the expression "Shavetail," for second lieutenant, the way I heard it some 25 years ago was that the uniforms of the cadets at West Point had a swallow tail. When they graduated and were commissioned second lieutenants, however, they got to wear the regular army uniform, which, as we all know, has no tails. In other words, they shed their tail, hence "shavetail."

H. M. L.

MR. DRYER'S BOOK.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—The Tribune's review of my book, "Radio in Wartime," stated that "the kind of a solution of radio's problems Dryer envisions is just about the kind of radio setup Great Britain had in peacetime—government produced programs rammed down the subscribers' throats whether they liked them or not."

This is a shocking misrepresentation of my position.

I do not favor government control or ownership of radio. I do not favor government propaganda programs. I do not hold to the ridiculous position that broadcasters must ignore the public's taste in program techniques and themes. And from what I know of the BBC, it does not in any way represent my standard of good broadcasting nor organization.

I think that American radio has done a magnificent job on many fronts. My book, however, is concerned with the fronts where I believe radio has failed. Altho critical, my book endeavors to be constructive—and even Mr. Landry, whom your reviewer quotes as offering "the most effective retort to Dryer's complaint" has stated that "I do not dispute the thesis of Sherman Dryer that American wartime radio has been inexcusably dilatory and feminine in certain respects, that there has been rather too much of vanity and career politics, that the closed mind and the hostile attitude has all too often been typical. In counterpropaganda on the home front there has especially been an excess of daintiness and timidity . . . I do not hesitate to say that, among other forms of criticism, radio needs more analytic volumes [like "Radio in Wartime"].

SHERMAN H. DRYER.

TIRE INSPECTION FEES.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—In addition to many restrictions which we cheerfully accept as necessary war measures, and besides being constantly lashed and needled over the radio and at the movies by "holler-than thou" burocratic spokesmen, we now have tire inspection at 25 cents a car.

Does any one know what it's for? It is another political racket to give away the taxpayers' money, or is it that we, who buy war bonds and have sons fighting in Africa, may be pushed around still further?

L. B.

RESPONSIBILITY.

Chicago, Dec. 12—In petty CIO, labor and closed shop disputes such as the current Montgomery Ward situation the President loves to refer to himself as "Commander in Chief in Time of War" [c. f. Il Duce, Der Fuehrer]. I have seen no desire on his part to assume the responsibility for the tragedy at Pearl Harbor.

J. H. M.

HE'LL BE DARNED.

Riverside, Ill., Dec. 11.—The manufacture of 50 per cent wool underwear for men who work out in the cold has been stopped; the cuffs are being cut off men's trousers, and the manufacturers of suits cannot make a vest with a double breasted suit, but, believe it or not, a paper last evening advertised an all wool blanket to keep a dog warm.

I. B. DARNED.

MOTHER HAS TO STAY IN BED.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—We are using fuel oil in a small home, always having purchased more than 400 gallons at one time. Where is the saving of rubber in now having it delivered in 180 gallon quantities or less, not to mention the increased cost to us and having my mother, who is 84 years old and nervous, disturbed with many deliveries and constant worry over running out and not being able to get more.

I've spent several lunch hours standing in line, told to come back later, trying to get coupons.

What are we coming to—having to beg for fuel. We small home users do not waste it. Instead, the country is wasting all this money involved in all this unnecessary rationing of fuel oil, in our vicinity where there is plenty. In the meantime, my mother is worrying her life away because of being afraid to really heat for comfort and health, and so has to stay in bed much of the time on account of it. That is certainly not helping to keep her strength, after a bad illness this year.

Sacrifice to any extent for war effort? Yes, but these regulations destroy instead of helping.

E. M. L.

DUAL GOVERNMENT.

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 1.—The urgent question, and a grave one, is whether the people are to be ruled by burocrats not elected by them, or by their duly elected representatives in congress. The people do not want or need, and should not be asked to pay for two governments. One or the other should resign—or be kicked out.

L. H. KASSEL.

C CARDS AT THE CITY HALL.

Chicago, Dec. 15—Seems funny to see a Democratic precinct captain who has a city job list himself as a government employé and get a C card. Does this gas rationing apply to everybody but the Democrats? WALTER GULCZYNSKI.

COMPENSATION FOR HERNIA.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I should like to know whether I am entitled to compensation for the following: While at work pulling a load with a truck, I slipped and fell. For about an hour I had a pain on my side. The next day a lump appeared and I went to the first aid department of the company. I was told I had an incomplete hernia, that a hernia does not appear as quickly as the symptoms I had. The company has offered to pay for surgery but not for compensation. J. W.

Section 8 [d-1] of the Illinois Compensation act provides: "An injured employé, to be entitled to compensation for hernia, must prove:

1. The hernia was of recent origin;
2. Its appearance was accompanied by pain;
3. That it was immediately preceded by trauma arising out of and in the course of employment.
4. That the hernia did not exist prior to injury.

Section 24 provides that in case of hernia, notice must be given to the employer within fifteen [15] days after the accident.

HAROLD GRAY

KILLED CAPTAIN TO SAVE HER OWN LIFE, WIDOW SOBS

'He Grabbed Me by the Throat,' She Tells Jury.

Bisbee, Ariz., Dec. 18 [Special].—Weeping at times and nervous thruout, red haired Margaret Herlihy today told the jury in her murder trial that she fatally shot Capt. David D. Carr, whom she had secretly married two months before, after they had engaged in a terrific fight during which he shouted, "I am going to kill you!"

The slightly built girl testified that Carr, a powerful man of 200 pounds, assaulted her without warning in his car as they were returning from a night club in Agua Prieta, Mexico, the night of Aug. 14. The fighting continued as Carr drove her home, she related, and she shot him when they reached her mother's bedroom.

"Came Lunging at Me."

Capt. Carr, whom fellow army officers described as violent and immoral, suddenly stopped the car "and for no reason at all came lunging at me," the attractive defendant declared.

"He grabbed me by the throat and said he was going to kill me. I kicked him in the throat. Then we started fighting. I was terrified. I tried to scratch or do anything to keep him from choking me. He was making beastly noises, muttering foul words.

"I maneuvered the door open and fell out so I could run away. He came after me and I kicked him. He got hold of my arm and pulled me back into the car. All this time he kept making terrible noises.

"He said no one would ever accuse him of doing it. They wouldn't find anything except my bones on the desert. They would say the Negro soldiers had done it."

Chases Her Into House.

Finally, she related, Carr told her: "I'll take you home and see what your father makes of this." Her father is Lt. Col. Edward G. Herlihy, former infantry commander at nearby Fort Huachuca. When they reached the Herlihy home, the girl said, she jumped from the car and ran inside "as fast as I could."

"He was running after me," she continued. "A flash came over me that if I got a gun I could stop him. Things were awfully blurred after that. I remember telling mother it was no joke, that he was trying to kill me. Then he came lunging at me and the gun went off."

Her mother testified earlier that she had asked Margaret, "Is this a joke?" Mrs. Herlihy testified that Carr ducked under her bed when the first two shots were fired, that he was on his feet rushing at the girl again when he was felled by a third shot fired into his neck.

Carr already had a wound in his chest, inflicted, according to previous testimony, by the second of the three shots Margaret fired. The first shot, it was contended, was to scare him.

Only a short time before the attack, Miss Herlihy said, she and Carr had been sitting at a table in an Agua Prieta night club, drinking and talking of their future. It was at Agua Prieta that they were married on June 21 after a night of drinking, she told the jury.

Claims He's Free to Wed.

She testified that she and Carr fell desperately in love shortly after they met at Fort Huachuca last May 10. She said he told her he expected to obtain a divorce any day from the woman he married when he was a 17 year old student at the University of Nebraska. Defense counsel said Carr had been married twice before he met Miss Herlihy and never was divorced.

After Carr had made a trip to Jacksonville, Fla., purportedly to settle his marriage difficulties, he told Miss Herlihy that he was "a free man" and they went to Agua Prieta to celebrate, the girl related.

"During the evening," she said, "he dared me to drink a jigger glass of rum straight and finally I did. He kept teasing me to get married. We had some more drinks; he kept pushing them at me pretty fast. I realized that we went thru some kind of ceremony, but the rest of the evening was just blank."

Miss Herlihy said that "not to my knowledge" did she and Carr live together as man and wife, explaining "I considered us married only in a kind of spiritual way." The next day, she said, she learned that Carr had not obtained his divorce as he had told her.

MRS. MARGARET MANNING, 89, DIES; CHICAGO NATIVE

Mrs. Margaret Manning, 89 years old, who was born on a farm at what now is Wrightwood and Racine avenues, died yesterday in her home at 2223 Orchard street.

Mrs. Manning played with Indian children who camped on her father's farm when she was a child. Her father quartered scores of homeless after the great fire of 1871, permitting them to sleep in the barn and the yard.

After the farm was subdivided Mrs. Manning's father, James Quirk, aided in the landscaping of many of the city's early boulevards, planting the trees that now shade Dearborn parkway and La Salle street.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Monday in St. Vincent's church. Mrs. Manning, whose husband, John D., was a pioneer Chicago milk wholesaler, is survived by a son, John J., and a daughter, Mrs. Roy J. Flynn.

Gets More Time to Pay Fine as Unlicensed Doctor

Martin H. Lester, 52 years old, 7409 Sheridan road, was given another three months in County court yesterday to pay his $100 fine and $18 costs for practicing medicine without a license. Lester, who pleaded guilty Sept. 19, and was given three months to pay his fine, told acting Judge Russell W. Keeney that he is working in a war plant and saving his salary for that purpose.

His Long Suit

John P. Roeske and Mrs. Vera Roeske.

The vigor of John P. Roeske's efforts to obtain his long underwear from his estranged wife, Vera, 36 years old, 2827 Palmer street, landed him in jail yesterday to serve a five day contempt of court sentence. Mrs. Roeske charged him in Circuit court with violation of an April 28, 1941, injunction restaraining him from molesting her. The injunction and a $9 a week alimony order were issued in a separate maintenance suit, still pending.

She told Judge Thomas J. Lynch that Roeske, 50, of 3144 Logan square, a printer, embarrassed her Dec. 7 in the loop department store where she works by demanding, in a loud voice, the return of a suit of long underwear which he said he left with her when they separated April 26, 1941. She said he refused to leave and spurned an offer of $3 for a new suit of underwear. He had never paid her alimony, she testified, but she didn't want the money. She wanted to be left alone. Her attorneys, Joseph H. and Norman Becker, told the judge that Roeske had cursed his wife and had violated the injunction before.

Asked what had happened to the suit of underwear, Mrs. Roeske blushed and explained. She had cut it down for herself.

88 ARE INDICTED ON NATION-WIDE LOTTERY CHARGE

An indictment charging 88 persons, including 11 Chicagoans, with conspiracy to violate the federal lottery laws was returned by the federal grand jury yesterday before Judge John P. Barnes. J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, and his assistant, Maurice Walsh, said the defendants are accused of operating a nation-wide lottery in baseball pools, treasury balance figures, and horse races.

Woll said the lotteries grossed a million dollars a year and that 80,000 lottery tickets were printed weekly at the South Suburban Press, Inc., 2350 Walnut street, Blue Island. All of the defendants were arrested in a series of raids by the FBI thruout the country three months ago. Bond for each was set at $1,000.

Five of the leaders were named in a second indictment charging them with violating the lottery laws. They are Chris Bauer, 45 years old, 11400 Normal avenue; Ernest Bauer, 49, of 11752 Parnell avenue; Arthur Jaun, 36, of 13418 Greenwood avenue, Blue Island; Morris Luber, 39, of 7829 Essex avenue, and John Cunningham, 42, of Barrington.

MRS. ELWYN SHAW FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN HOME

Freeport, Ill., Dec. 18 [Special].—Mrs. Edith Mary Shaw, 57 years old, wife of Elwyn R. Shaw, former justice of the Illinois Supreme court, was found dead in her apartment today. She had been shot in the head, apparently with a pistol which lay near by. She was found by her daughter, Joan, 22.

Mrs. Shaw had been in ill health for several months. She had been home only about two weeks from a stay in a Chicago hospital for treatment of a nervous disorder. Coroner E. A. Diestelmier said an inquest would be held, probably tomorrow.

Mrs. Shaw, a graduate of the University of Michigan, was prominent in women's club work and in charity and church organizations here. In addition to her husband and Joan, she is survived by another daughter, Miss Mary Margaret Shaw, an attorney in Chicago. Shaw served a nine year term on the Supreme court bench and was defeated for reëlection last June by Judge William J. Fulton of Sycamore.

Charles A. Kropp.

Survivors include his widow, Emma, and two sons, Roy of River Forest, president, and Raymond of Oak Park, treasurer of the Kropp companies.

NEW 'INDUSTRIES' FOR BLIND UPSETS OTHER AGENCIES

Plea for Funds Sent Here from East.

The activities of the Illinois Industries for the Blind, Inc., in raising funds has aroused criticism from other social service agencies and the Chicago Association of Commerce. It was learned yesterday that steps have been taken by the Commerce association to have the corporate charter of the industries revoked.

The Industries was incorporated here last September by Edward S. Molineaux of Brooklyn, N. Y. Its purpose, according to the corporate application, was to provide work for the blind. Two weeks ago the organization sent letters to persons in Chicago and suburbs, stating that those who wished could make contributions to the Industries. Christmas seals were inclosed in the letters.

Jesse A. Jacobs, secretary of a committee on inquiry of the Commerce association, said Molineaux, when asked about the appeal for funds, asserted his organization had sent out a million letters to persons in the Chicago area at a cost of $30,000. The letters were addressed and sent from Brooklyn.

The letter said the organization had been approved by the secretary of state, Edward J. Hughes. Mr. Hughes informed Jacobs that he had not given the Industries special approval and asked the state department of public welfare to make an investigation of the organization.

Jerry Dolezal, superintendent for the Illinois Industrial Home for the Blind at 1900 Marshall boulevard, operated by the state department of public welfare, said many persons believed that the appeal for money had been sent out by the home.

Identical Name.

"For years the activities of the home in turning out products by the blind have been known as the 'Illinois Industries for the Blind,'" he said. "The new organization has taken the identical name of our project."

Dolezal reported that many persons did not appear at the annual bazaar held at the home a week ago, because they had made contributions to the new organization.

Homer J. Buckley, president of the Chicago Tuberculosis institute, said the sending of seals in the Industries' letter led many to believe that the institute was connected with the new corporation.

"For years the institute, which is affiliated with the National Tuberculosis institute, was the only organization that sent out Christmas seals in its campaign for funds," he said.

Sent Out Fewer Letters.

Buckley said the total amount of letters [one million] sent out by the Industries and the amount spent in that connection never has been equaled in this area. "The number of letters sent out by the institute each year is less than half of that figure," he said.

Alexander Ropchan, secretary of the Council of Social Agencies, said the council is making an investigation of the Industries, which is located at 1310 Newberry avenue. "So far we have not obtained the full coöperation of Molineaux, but we hope to," he said.

Another to complain of the Industries' activities is Alfred Allen, secretary general of the American Association of Workers for the Blind. He said Molineaux has underbid other companies for government contracts for making pillow slips and cases and is asking the public for funds to equip his factory.

"I am informed that the blind are paid $7.50 a week during a training period of four to eight weeks," he said. "Those that qualify are then paid higher wages, but only a few can stand the strain."

Names from Phone Book.

Molineaux said in Brooklyn that he did not know what the cost of sending the letters would be, but that a million had been put in the mails. He said: "I'll be quite frank and say that we took the telephone book and used that as a mailing list."

Molineaux said he did not know how much money had been received, but he said he would make a full report after the first of the year. "We'll be satisfied if we break even," he said, "because the publicity will help the blind."

He said the contracts for work to be done at the Industries were made at the market price. "However, we are having a hard time in getting enough blind to work in the plant and are using some persons who are crippled and some who have their sight," he said. "We could use about 200 more blind people."

Dolezal said those who are trained in the Illinois Home for the Blind are taken into private industry and that the number of those not regularly employed is small. The Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind also finds work for many of the blind.

Molineaux said that he is willing to coöperate with the Council of Social Agencies and give all the information it wishes.

CHICAGO LEADS NATIONAL DRIVE IN TYPEWRITERS

63 Per Cent of Quota Given Army and Navy.

Chicago is at the forefront of the nation's cities that are digging deep into their office equipment inventories to send 600,000 typewriters to the army and navy.

The city's business firms, municipal offices, and schools are combined in a program that up to yesterday had turned 16,591 late model typewriters over to procurement officers—representing 63 per cent of Chicago's quota.

The four states comprising the midwest section with regional headquarters here have released a total of 28,618 machines. Chicago also leads this area, followed by these cities with their quota percentage attained thus far: Fort Wayne, Ind., 50; Milwaukee, Wis., 49; Wausau, Wis., 49; Eau Claire, Wis., 48; Madison, Wis., 46.

Manufacture Halted Oct. 31.

Manufacture of typewriters was halted Oct. 31 so their makers could turn out special war materials with their facilities. Before that time, manufacturers were limited to 12 per cent of their machines sold the previous year. With the exception of one small firm, all typewriters to equip new army units and new warships must now come from frozen stock and the present relinquishment program.

Should the program fail in any part, typewriters will have to be requisitioned by government orders, Donald Nelson, war production board chairman, said in an announcement mailed to large users of typewriters. A typical warship still must have 59 typewriters to operate, tho an order from Adm. E. J. King last June cut in half the number of machines kept on all vessels.

City to Furnish Machines.

Mayor Kelly has promised the city will turn over its appointed quota. The public schools are now conducting a survey to locate machines. The public schools are now conducting a survey to locate machines to be sold to the government. Heading the business firms of the city is Sears, Roebuck & Co., which relinquished 150 machines yesterday, making a total of 2,489 it has turned in.

"We followed instructions in a booklet sent out by the National Office Management association," Kenneth Moore, office manager of the Chicago Title and Trust company, said. His office sent 47 machines and will send others soon to make up its 25 per cent quota. "This booklet lists 41 steps that can be taken to combine work done on typewriters. Some steps are to eliminate unnecessary records, stagger use of machines between departments, and extend hours machines are used."

The government is paying from $12.50 to $40 for the machines, depending upon what year they were made.

Eugene Clough, 17 years old, of Kankakee, Ill., who is under sentence to serve a life term, entered the state prison at Michigan City, Ind., yesterday as the institution's youngest inmate. The sentence was imposed at Kentland, Ind., last Saturday on his conviction on charges of kidnaping and stealing a truck. Clough stole the truck, abandoned it, and then hitch hiked a ride with two Kentland women whom he forced from their automobile at Kankakee last October. Most prisoners of Clough's age are sent to the state reformatory, but he was sent to the prison because of the life term.

VOTE TO INDICT MAN IN KIDNAPING SCHOOL INMATES

United States Attorney J. Albert Woll announced yesterday that a federal grand jury has returned two indictments against Harry Glen Page, alias Glen Roberts, 36 years old, of Milwaukee charging he kidnaped two inmates of the St. Mary's Training School for Boys at Des Plaines last July. The boys, Frank Faulisi, 8, and his brother, Ignatius, 10, were picked up by Page in his automobile on a road near the school. He took them to New Orleans, where they escaped while he was away looking for work as a cook. The boys made their way to New Orleans police, who notified the federal bureau of investigation.

Harry Glen Page.

Page disappeared with a third boy, 10 years old, whom authorities have refused to name. Woll said that because Page took indecent liberties with the boys and did not release them unharmed, he can be tried under the Lindbergh law when apprehended and is liable to the death penalty.

An ex-convict, Page is described by FBI agents as five feet nine inches tall, weighing 135 pounds, with blue eyes and dark brown hair. He sometimes wears glasses.

G. O. P. DEFERS NAMING CHOICE FOR MAYORALTY

Financial Doubts Hamper Sheldon Clark Boom.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Sheldon Clark, oil company executive and sportsman, was reported forging ahead last night in the Republican mayoral preliminaries. There was one phase of the Clark movement still under study—adequate financial support, promises of which had sagged somewhat under close scrutiny.

Chairman John T. Dempsey of the G. O. P. mayoral subcommittee became even more chary of comment than usual. Altho a speedy end to the deliberations had been predicted, Dempsey said last night that the subcommittee is likely to meet two or three more times without agreeing upon a candidate.

The week-end conferences, Dempsey said, will be secret in that neither the time nor place will be announced. None of the 16 candidates on the official list has been eliminated and there is much talking left to be done, he declared.

Brooks and Green Confer.

Dempsey said that at yesterday's assemblage of the eleven ward committeemen or proxies he had no message to give them from Gov. Dwight H. Green or Sen. Wayland Brooks. These two Republican leaders conferred together, however, with the added advice of Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, whose own name still is under consideration.

Republican ward leaders were represented as being naturally eager to have their first "real" chance against Mayor Kelly, the odds-on favorite on the Democratic side. To them the word "real" means well financed to buck the Kelly-Nash machine.

Representative Charles S. Dewey of the near north 9th district was said to have had some favorable comment at yesterday's conclave, in which the discussion followed a circuitous course.

The Clark forces were said to have mollified to some degree the bitterness certain committeemen felt toward Clark for his retention of a couple of Democratic inspectors on the state boxing commission staff. Clark has been indifferent to pleas which might involve whatever honor the position of chairman holds.

Jarecki Says He Won't Run.

Dempsey admitted that fusion had been discussed again. The records in office and vote getting claims advanced in behalf of State's Attorney Courtney and County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki have been mulled over. Judge Jarecki, one of the few men ever to have beaten the regular Democratic organization, said yesterday:

"If I hear of any petitions out for me to run for mayor I'll have them withdrawn. I have work to do as county judge and I intend to do it."

While the amalgamation of votes promised by the fusion plan undoubtedly attracts many of the subcommittee members, Republican leaders are looking further ahead than 1943, the city election. Their view also includes the G. O. P. national convention in 1944 and who may be in a position to influence the votes of delegates. They are determined not to be hornswoggled by any subtle machinations.

TIN CAN SALVAGE GOAL SET AT 1,000 TONS PER MONTH

The December collection of tin cans in Chicago is expected to yield 820 tons, triple that of any one month since the inception of the salvage program last August, when only 50 tons were collected, it was reported yesterday by the division of salvage.

The report said 80 per cent of the city's housewives are coöperating to maintain the standards of the drive, in which 98 per cent of the cans are usable. The other 20 per cent of the women, a spokesman said, are urged to join the drive to reach a monthly quota of 1,000 tons.

They were asked to follow the following instructions: Wash the cans, remove the top and bottom of the vessel and step on each tin, flattening it lengthwise. The cans should be left in groups of 30 or 40 in grocery bags or other containers beside garbage collections. Janitors of flat buildings will take charge of properly prepared tins if asked to do so. Collections will not be made at places where the cans are improperly prepared, it was stated.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by THE TRIBUNE. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Howard M. Phillips, 4510 North Mozart street.]

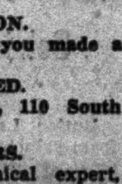
THE QUESTION.

Were you ever glad you made a mistake?

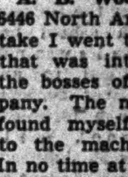
WHERE ASKED.

Westminster building, 110 South Dearborn street.

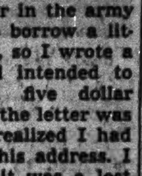
THE ANSWERS.



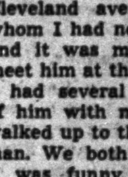
A. B. Wood, mechanical expert, 6446 North Artesian avenue—By mistake I went to a picnic that was intended for the bosses of the company. The next day I found myself demoted to the machine shop. In no time at all, I was inventing things. The job I have today is a result of that first little blunder.



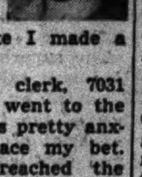
Marie Kopack, typist, 3309 Aberdeen street—My brother in the army wanted to borrow a little money, so I wrote a letter and intended to inclose a five dollar bill. After the letter was mailed I realized I had mistaken his address. I was sure it was a lost five, but later I discovered I had forgotten to inclose the money.



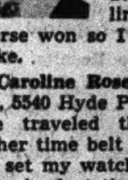
Shirlee S. Shapiro, clerk-typist, 2128 Cleveland avenue—I had a cousin whom I had never seen and it was my job to meet him at the station. I had several pictures of him with me, but I walked up to the wrong man. We both thought it was funny, and he helped me find my cousin. By that mistake I made a good friend.



James J. De Guide, clerk, 7031 Union avenue—When I went to the races I was pretty anxious to place my bet. When I reached the window I noticed I was standing at the $6 window instead of the $2 one. Rather than wait at the end of the other line, I paid the $6. That horse won so I was glad of the mistake.



Caroline Rosenthal, statistical typist, 5540 Hyde Park boulevard—When we traveled thru another time belt I forgot to set my watch ahead. I arrived at the station an hour late and was all set to wait until the next day. Then I met a friend who was leaving shortly by auto for the 300 mile trip to Chicago. It was much more pleasant.



Grace Epstein, stenographer, 635 Patterson avenue—One night I wrote a long letter and mailed it immediately. I had no sooner dropped it in the box when I began to regret having written it. I lost sleep over it that night. The next day the letter was returned to me because I had forgotten to stamp it.

TOWNSEND PARTY DISQUALIFIED BY CALIFORNIA VOTE

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 18 [Special].—The Townsend party lost its legal standing in California at the last election by polling less than one-fourth of the votes required to keep it alive, state officials disclosed today.

A party must poll 3 per cent of the total vote cast to keep its legal standing. Nathan T. Porter, Townsendite, received 15,501 votes in the governor race, compared with a necessary 67,929. The Communists polled 89,520 in the state controller contest.

Three other parties, Progressive, Commonwealth, and Socialist, have been disqualified from California ballot places since 1938 because of lack of votes. Any defunct party may be revived by registering a sufficient number of affiliates or by petition.

That Ring Around Moon? Well, Sir, Here's Answer

That ring you saw around the moon last night was pure moonshine, according to G. L. Canady, government weather forecaster at the Municipal airport. Canady explained that when certain types of cloud formations prevail the rays of the moon are diffused by cloud particles and appear to the observer as a halo around the heavenly body. "Just moonshine, but well diffused," he said.

Woman Dies of Motor Fumes; Leaves Message

Mrs. Josephine Fisher, 42 years old, of 2047 Farwell avenue, died last night as firemen sought to revive her after she had been overcome by carbon monoxide fumes while seated in the family car in the garage. Police said that a note was found on the running board of the car asking that her husband, Henry C. Fisher, a leather dealer, be notified. He told police his wife had been ill.

SPANGLER MAPS BUSY CAMPAIGN AS G. O. P. CHIEF

Plans to Vacate Post of Executive Director.

Harrison E. Spangler, new chairman of the Republican national committee intends to put in all the time he can spare from his Cedar Rapids, Ia. law practice to lead the party to victory in 1944.

He indicated that he will not need the services of Clarence Budington Kelland, prolific author, as executive director of the committee.

"I'm going to give this job practically all of my time," Spangler said. "Joe Martin had two jobs, as minority leader in the house and as national chairman. Both of them were very important and he naturally needed an executive director.

"I think that offices such as Kelland's, expired at the time of my election in St. Louis on Dec. 7."

Not Considering Baker.

For the same reasons, he said, he is not considering Frederick E. Baker to succeed Kelland as executive director. Baker, a Seattle, Wash., lithographer, who is 35 years old, had been rumored a likely prospect for the position on the heels of his surprise candidacy for the national chairmanship under the alleged sponsorship of the trailing forces of Wendell L. Willkie, representative of eastern financial interests.

"Especially between campaigns, there should be no need for an executive director," Spangler said.

The new G. O. P. chairman, appearing far younger than his 63 years, still is considering the establishment of a branch office of the national committee in Chicago. This has yet to be discussed by the committee, he said. Because the "big battle" over government now is being staged by congressmen, he saw no likelihood of the national headquarters being transferred here.

Fighters "Will Have Word."

A veteran of the Spanish-American war, he chuckled over the "palaver" of fireside internationalists who daily purport to be planning the post-war world. The men who are being hardened in the fire of mortal combat—a great contrast from their former amiable lives—will have more than a word or two to say about the arrangements after they return home, he said.

"That's why we at home can stand soundly upon this utterance: We've got to win the war first,' Spangler said.

On his way back to his Iowa home from Washington, Spangler spent several hours with Chicago friends including Werner W. Schroeder, national committeeman from Illinois.

2 DIE IN DASH THRU FLAMES OF GAS TRUCK BLAST

Compton, Cal., Dec. 18 (AP).—A taxi driver and a truck driver burned to death today and three sailors suffered burns when they fled thru 100 foot flames that roared up after gasoline from the truck exploded.

Police said the truck was parked beside a road while the driver repaired a leaking valve and that the explosion occurred when the taxi drove past carrying the sailors.

400 WISCONSIN STUDENTS GOING IN ARMY BY FEB. 1

Madison, Wis., Dec. 18 [Special].—Approximately 400 men students at the University of Wisconsin will leave the campus before Feb. 1 for active military service, officials estimated today. All are members of the army enlisted reserves. Some 800 other students will be in uniform by June 1.

Under a new wartime training plan, the enlisted reserve corps has been liquidated. In its place will be a specialized training program for men in uniform.

C. A. Dykstra, university president, warned students affected by the new regulations against concluding it would be "useless" to return to the campus after the Christmas holidays.

U. S. Jury Indicts Lawyer on Embezzlement Charge

An indictment charging embezzlement by a trustee in bankruptcy against Atty. Harold P. Block, 10 North Clark street, was returned yesterday by a federal grand jury in the District court of Judge John P. Barnes. A $1,500 bond was set by the jury. In each of the eight counts contained in the indictment it is charged that Block's accounts in cases where he was appointed trustee by federal masters in bankruptcy were short amounts ranging from $26 to $350. Partial restitution has been made, according to Assistant United States Atty. Francis J. McGreal.

Reports Army-Navy Ships Spur Puerto Rico Exports

SAN JUAN, Puerto, Rico, Dec. 18 (AP).—Gov. Rexford G. Tugwell said at a press conference today that due to the "remarkable achievement" of army and navy transport, Puerto Rico exported $7,000,000 worth of sugar, rum and tobacco to the United States in November. Sugar totaled 70,000 tons, bringing the 11 months total this year to 850,000 tons, he said. The achievement was due, he said, to the army and navy allowing exporters space in ships returning from voyages.

ARMY PREPARES SERVICE COURSES IN HIGH SCHOOLS

Offers Technical Study Before Induction.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—The war department reached into the high schools today to begin the training of thousands of specialists needed in modern mechanized warfare.

It sent to the principals of 50,000 public, private, and parochial schools outlines of five courses which could be offered to students and in night classes to older men now facing induction.

Each course calls for study of technical subjects and will give students basic knowledge of electricity, radio, shop work, machines, or automotive mechanics.

Rôle of Machines Described.

"Our rapidly growing army is a complex machine," Henry L. Stimson, war secretary, wrote in a foreword. "All of its parts, material and human, must be perfectly coördinated toward the achievement of victory over our enemy. Coördination means, above all, knowledge and skill on the part of every soldier in the use of mechanisms of many kinds.

"No greater immediate contribution, therefore, can be made by the schools of the nation toward winning the war than to give our youth the basic knowledge and technical skills needed for modern combat. By doing this job well, the schools will free resources of the army for specialized technical training."

Official Programs.

Stimson said the outlines constituted an "official pre-induction training course" and were prepared jointly by the war department and the United States office of education.

The war department said each course would equip a student with knowledge valuable in filling many of the important technical jobs of the army. It said a 90 hour course in fundamentals of electricity would provide basic knowledge for 151 army assignments such as chief telegraph operator, teletype operator, field lineman, field telephone operator, radio operator, searchlight operator, bomb sight mechanic, and signal communications specialists.

Two other courses call for 90 hours of study. They are those in shop work, leading to 188 army jobs, and in machines, which opens the way to 226 specialist assignments. Fifty jobs are available for men trained in automotive mechanics and 35 to radio specialists after courses requiring 180 hours' study.

UNDER WAY IN CHICAGO.

William H. Johnson, superintendent of Chicago schools, said last night the pre-induction training program has already been set up in schools here. Technical high schools are now giving courses to aid men preparing for the air forces and beginning in February all the high schools will offer courses in the fundamentals of shop work, electricity, and pre-flight training.

Dr. Johnson said all high school boys in their junior and senior years will be required to take the shop work and electricity courses and at least one course in pre-flight training. Girls also are being asked to take the shop work to prepare themselves for jobs in war industries.

The Very Rev. Magr. Daniel Cunningham, superintendent of Catholic schools, said aeronautic classes also are being offered in the Catholic high schools.

J., Dec. 18 (AP).—Louis Verbuchen, Hudson and Manhattan railroad motorman, was acquitted by a Hudson county jury tonight of a manslaughter charge resulting from the "tube train" wreck at the Exchange place station here last April 26. Five persons were killed and 217 injured in the wreck.

COLLEGES FIND BETTER OUTLOOK ON ENROLLMENT

Sharp Drop of 1941 Not Repeated This Year.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Despite effects of the 18-19 year old draft on college and university enrollments present conditions in many sections of the country, and especially in this fall's freshman classes, are improved over last year, when the student census of the nation fell seriously.

The drop last year of 4½ per cent of incoming freshmen was regarded ominous, but according to estimates this year, incoming groups generally are pressing toward stabilization at last year's mark, especially in liberal arts colleges. Yet when the draft begins of the 18-19 year group, the educational disruption foreseen by Secretary of War Stimson will be faced resolutely by the nation's educational administrators.

Interrupt Study for 90 Days.

Under the jointly announced army and navy programs, induction will remove the drafted students immediately from the campus for their 90 day processing period. Even in many of the institutions selected for training units, this will create a hiatus between the students' removal and reassignment to service units on the campus. Meanwhile the college must remain in operation.

Dr. Edmund Day, president of Cornell university, told educators at Philadelphia, Pa., recently that disruption caused by such a hiatus probably would be modified by assignment of qualified men now in the ranks to college units even before induction machinery cuts seriously into enrollments.

Despite the trend this fall toward stabilization of freshmen as against 1941, college and university presidents at Philadelphia and elsewhere have reported "heavy" decreases in sophomore, junior, and senior students. Those most heavily hit were announced by presidents of institutions in southern areas, with the most nearly stable situation on the North Atlantic seaboard. As in Illinois, where the five teacher colleges fell off from 5,963 to 4,954, or 17 per cent since last year, similar institutions of the country report the greatest losses.

Many May Be Closed.

The immediate disruption caused by even a relatively small precentage of drafted student will raise difficult problems for administrators, especially in weaker and younger colleges where roots of tradition do not go deep. Many of these probably will be forced either to defer classes for the duration or close their doors forever.

No educator could be found yesterday who would admit the impending disruption as spelling disaster to their institutions. "We'll find a way," was the attitude expressed. These ways included merging of departments, expansion of women's curricula to attract more co-eds, shortened courses for high school juniors who may be permitted to enroll and graduate before reaching the 18 year draft age, adult education for townsfolk, and the grim certainty of rehabilitation of more disabled service men as the war increases its spread and fury. Colleges omitted from army and navy unit lists have been described as often admirably fitted for the reëducation and physical rehabilitation of disabled veterans.

REPORT 4 NAMED IN TRUE BILL ON UNION ROBBERY

The grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted a true bill charging conspiracy and robbery against four men as the result of an alleged plot to hide a shortage of union funds.

Those reported named in the true bill are: Mike Adler, discharged assistant secretary and treasurer of the International Hod Carriers' union, local 188; Joseph Tabet, who has a police record of robbery and larceny; Martin DeTapia, who was placed on probation last February for robbery, and Robert Gemmel.

Police said Adler confessed hiring the three others to hold up Felix J. Breden, head of the local, and take a bag allegedly containing his union collections to cover up a $779 shortage.

Marine Officer Is Killed in Florida Plane Crash

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP).—Second Lt. Daniel B. Lippencott, San Diego, Cal., marine corps reserve flying officer, was killed today when his plane crashed shortly after taking off from the Jacksonville Naval Air station, the navy said tonight.

Leaps from Plane, Lands in Tree.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 18 (AP).—Ensign B. P. Burch, 23 years old, Bruceton, Tenn., jumped from his spinning plane over Granite Falls today, the 13th naval district reported, and the rigging of the pilot parachute caught on the ship. Burch was snapped like a whip at the end of the chute harness. He lost consciousness. Eventually the chute tore free of the plane. Some moments later he regained his senses as he floated earthward. He landed, slightly scratched, in an apple tree. The plane burned.

CRITICIZE ARMY'S COLLEGE PLAN AS TOO SPECIALIZED

Universities Plead for General Courses.

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—Criticism of the army's plan for use of American colleges was voiced today by heads of three leading universities who protested that the program announced by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson did not provide for any general education at the college level.

Dr. Harold W. Dodds of Princeton, Dr. Edmund E. Day of Cornell, and Chancellor Harry Woodburn Chase of New York university, at the same time, announced they would coöperate fully with the program. All three expressed approval of the navy plan, which they assert, allows some general education at the college level.

Under the army plan, men who have completed or are completing their basic military training will be sent to colleges where instruction will be provided under contract by present staffs along curricular lines prescribed by the army.

Navy Seeks Officers.

Under the navy plan selected high school graduates or others qualified will be assigned to designated colleges and universities to follow certain courses specified by the navy with a view toward the men becoming officers and specialists.

Dr. Day, who headed a committee to coöperate with military officials on working out a program for adapting colleges to military use, disclosed he had written to Secretary Stimson outlining the objections of his committee to the army plan.

These objections, he said, were that the army plan to assign 150,000 men to colleges and universities for technical training would prove inadequate and that withdrawal of other men from the colleges by Feb. 1 would disrupt the special training programs now in operation and seriously weaken the colleges.

Hoped for 250,000 Students.

He pointed out that on Sept. 24, 1942, his committee had discussed plans with war department representatives which would have placed 250,000 in an army specialist training program in the colleges.

He also asked the secretary if the 150,000 men who would be assigned to colleges were enough to provide for civilian needs.

"It is to be regretted," Dr. Dodds said, "that the army does not include in its program of training at the college level some degree of general education. I am convinced that general college education contributes to the development of leadership and officer like qualities by a method which cannot be reproduced in training camps."

Aid for Weak Colleges.

In Washington Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said that the navy would give special consideration to the use of small and financially weak colleges in the plan for training specialists in higher educational institutions.

"We will not place at the top of the priority list the large state universities and privately endowed institutions of the country which should be able to carry on unaided in this crisis," he said. "We will give special consideration to the smaller colleges whose financial resources are so meager that their existence may be threatened by the war."

Rear Adm. Randall Jacobs, chief of the navy's bureau of personnel, said that any navy man who failed in college would be withdrawn from school and assigned to active duty as a seaman.

UNION HEAD RAPS PLAN TO FREEZE SEAMEN IN JOBS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—A proposal before the war manpower commission to keep merchant seamen in their occupations was assailed today by Harry Lundeberg, president of the American Federation of Labor International Seafarers association.

Lundeberg told reporters upon emerging from a closed meeting of the WMC management-labor policy committee that the proposal was "not necessary," and added, "We don't want to be frozen; we just want to be left alone." He also said it would "create more bureaus" and "get more jobs for stooges."

The proposal, indorsed by the war shipping administration and the Congress of Industrial organizations Maritime union, would bar seamen from getting jobs outside the industry without approval from the United States employment service and would allow draft deferment for seamen as long as they remained in the industry.

LAUGHLIN SHIFT LAID TO LACK OF TECHNICAL SKILL

Abilities Decided Change, School Head Says.

Butler Laughlin.

Butler Laughlin was transferred from principal of the Lindblom High school to principal of the Harper High school because he was not qualified to administer successfully a technical school, William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, told James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, yesterday in a letter in which he reiterated his reasons for exchanging Laughlin with Harry F. Yates a week ago.

The switch in principals has been criticized by more than a score of civic groups, led by the citizens' schools committee, thruout the week. Spokesmen for the organizations charged that the sudden shift was due to politics within the school system, rather than to educational policy.

Matter of Qualifications.

Johnson explained that Laughlin was better qualified to head an academic school, such as Harper, while Harper's principal, Yates, was fitted for the vocational field by reason of his training, experience, and sympathy.

The superintendent said his attention was called to the situation at Lindblom by Wilson Frankland, member of the board of education and president of the Steamfitters' union, who asserted that on several occasions he had found the school shops at Lindblom operating without supervision, teachers absent sometimes for as long as 40 minutes, and shop equipment so poorly maintained that its usefulness for the defense program was considerably impaired.

Cites Scrap Drive Results.

"Yates was a shop teacher for five years," the letter continues. "He had taught mechanical drawing in high school and he had served as administrator of the national defense program at Tilden High school. I also found that his school, which is a half mile distant from Lindblom and serves the same community, collected 305,688 pounds of scrap metal with 1,941 pupils, while Lindblom, under Laughlin, collected only 38,100 pounds with a membership of 3,770 pupils."

Johnson pointed out that Laughlin's transfer is not a demotion, since his salary remains the same.

Civic organizations yesterday asked Mayor Kelly to investigate the reasons for the shift of principals. The mayor earlier had pointed out that he could not remove a school board member "even if I wanted to." He emphasized that he had said "if."

SING 'TOYLAND' TONIGHT ON W-G-N THEATER OF AIR

Victor Herbert's holiday time operetta, "Babes in Toyland," will be presented on the Chicago Theater of the Air over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight. Marion Claire and Attilio Baggiore will sing the leading rôles.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

All of the familiar music of the beloved operetta will be included. Among the best known tunes are "Toyland," "March of the Toys," and "Hail to Christmas."

Miss Claire will sing the parts of Jane and Mary, with Delle Gillis and Rosaline Adams taking these respective dramatic parts; Baggiore is to sing Alan, and Bret Morrison will take this dramatic part; Virginia Sellers is to sing Bo-Peep, while Miss Adams will take this speaking part. Other dramatic parts will be taken by Howard Hoffman, Butler Manville, and Bob Jellison. Marvin Muller will be the narrator.

The W-G-N Symphony orchestra and ensemble, Henry Weber conducting, will provide the musical setting. Robert Trendler is the vocal coach, and Kenneth MacGregor the producer.

DIVES 3 FLOORS WITH 2 PILLOWS, BRUISES CHEST

When Joseph Bloch, 47 years old, 1069 Fry street, gets an idea he is pretty determined about it. Hospital attendants in the third floor ward of County hospital where Bloch is a patient, discovered this fact yesterday, after they refused to permit him to go home to visit his wife.

Bloch decided to take the shortest and quickest way out. He got out of bed, tucked a pillow under each arm and with a short run dived out of the window. The attendants raced to the window only to see Bloch climb out of a snow bank, discard the pillows and speed down the alley, the tails of his hospital gown flying in the icy breeze.

Bloch was stopped a short distance away by Dr. Frank Kropik, a dentist at the hospital, who brought him back to bed, suffering only a cut on the leg and a slight bruise on the chest.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

MOTION PICTURES.

There is an urgent need in the army for men having professional experience in motion picture camera work, news reel photography, or motion picture film processing. Men having experience as motion picture cutters or directors in the production of commercial films also will be given consideration. Experience should include a thoro knowledge of camera operation [both sound and silent] and maintenance and use of professional motion picture equipment. Some knowledge or experience in aerial photography is desirable but not necessary.

In addition there is urgent need of motion picture sound file editors who must be technically qualified to edit sound motion pictures using single or double system. Applicants must know the principles and techniques of cutting and editing motion picture sound recordings, negative cuttings, etc., and be technically qualified to operate either single or double motion picture recorder, and be able to use to the best advantage the latest sound recording techniques and equipment.

Men who can meet these qualifications are urged to file applications with the Office of Officer Procurement, room 301, 225 South Clark street, Chicago, or the nearest Office of Officer Procurement.

E. S. writes: "My wife writes to tell me the insurance company agent has been to see her about my policy and told her the company wants to refund the premiums I have paid in and issue a new policy containing a 'war clause.' Can the insurance company cancel my insurance? The premiums are rather high, but we still wanted to keep it."

ANSWER: If the policy you have does not contain a war clause, naturally the insurance company is anxious to "exchange" the policy for one which relieves the company of burdens during wartime. It certainly would not be to your advantage to comply and accept a different policy. If either you or your wife are having difficulty paying the premiums, the United States government, under the terms of the soldiers' and sailors' relief act, provides protection for the Yank by assuming the premiums during the term of his service on policies not exceeding $10,000. The act protects the policyholder having insurance on the level-premium or legal reserve plan or a benefit in the nature of life insurance arising out of membership in a fraternal or beneficial association if the policy or benefit was subscribed to 30 days prior to entering service. At maturity of the policy, or while the policy is under the protection of the act, the premiums, paid by the government, plus accrued interest, will be deducted before the balance will be paid to beneficiaries. Application for this protection should be made on the Veteran's Administration form 380, available from your finance officer.

OKLAHOMA VOTE FRAUD CHARGED BY G. O. P. LOSER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP)—E. O. Clark of Stigler, Okla., defeated Republican candidate for representative from the 2d Oklahoma district, today filed a contest of the reëlection of Rep. Jack Nichols, a Democrat. Clark charged irregularities in six of the eight counties in the district, among them: The voting of a large number of persons who were not registered and not qualified, the throwing out of ballots as mutilated because voters stamped the Democratic emblem and put a cross after Clark's name, and permitting minors to vote.

He said that in Adair county the clerk of the election board gave out ballots before election to be voted election day and that ballots were cast for persons who were not present election day.

WOMAN, 60, FOUND HANGED.

Mrs. Rose Johnson, 60 years old, owner of a small apartment building at 11315 South Union avenue, was found hanged in the basement there yesterday.

CAN YOU TOP THIS?

"Please, teacher, which is right—Bill or William?"
"William, of course, Johnny!"
"Well," said Johnny doubtfully, "it seems kind of funny to say, 'Look at that sparrow with a worm in its William.'"

Can you top that one? Listen to the "experts" try to top gags and jokes sent in by listeners. Enjoy a half hour of laughs! Tune in—

Snow Beckons Skiing Fans to Wilmot Slopes

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE snow that lies so thick and white over the surrounding countryside is providing an irresistible lure to Chicagoland skiers. The snowy slopes of the hills at Wilmot, Wis., have been in use for two week-ends now, and commuting conditions have been found so favorable despite gasoline rationing that a sizable crowd of sport lovers is expected there tomorrow.

Chicagoans and north shore suburbanites pack their skis on their shoulders and take a trolley or train to Waukegan, where a bus meets them at 10 o'clock for the trip to Wilmot. There is time for at least five hours of skiing, and luncheon may be obtained at the snug little log ski house with its plate glass picture window overlooking the main ski hill. Mrs. Paine Fentress, Miss Marjorie Kelley, possibly the Stewart Boals and her brother, Ensign Ellis A. Ballard; Miss Edith Harrison, and Lt. [j. g.] Lawrence Denman are going to Wilmot from Winnetka and Lake Forest tomorrow. On a recent Sunday Mrs. Boal and a friend started for Wilmot, but missed their train and consequently the bus. They finally made their destination in good time by hitchhiking.

The above are members of the Snow Chase club, which arranged for the transportation system. Other club members who go north from the west suburbs often share a car and use precious gasoline. The Ted De Boers and the Montgomery Orrs of Wayne are expected at Wilmot tomorrow.

J. McWilliams Stones' New Year's Party Off.

Sad news for the J. McWilliams Stones' St. Charles neighbors is that New Year's day this time is to be just another Friday as far as the hard working head of the house is concerned, so the Stones' annual Tom and Jerry party at Stonewood won't be held. The party is one that the Stones and their friends look forward to each year, but which definitely is on the casualty list for 1943.

Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman is recalling invitations for the cocktail party she had planned for Dec. 26 for her granddaughter, Mrs. Hunt McMurtry of New York. Mrs. McMurtry is seriously ill in the east and will be unable to travel out to visit her grandmother and brother, Jarvis Hunt, and Mrs. Hunt.

Wassail bowls will stand beside the Christmas tree in the north lounge on Christmas eve at the Tavern club, whose board of governors is inviting members and their guests to the traditional Christmas eve party. Hors d'oeuvres and music will add to the occasion.

The New Year greetings received from Mr. and Mrs. Angus Hibbard show the Hibbards in silhouette, writing and knitting. Mr. Hibbard undoubtedly was in the throes of composing the New Year's verses to "Dixie" that are contained in the greeting, while his wife cheered him on.

Suzanne Warner to Have an Informal Debut Party.

Miss Suzanne Warner, the Rawleigh Warners' debutante daughter, is foregoing any more formal sort of party than a dinner which she will share with Miss Barbara Wakeley on Jan. 2 at the Woman's Athletic club preceding the club's Christmas supper-dance for the college age group. Miss Warner was to have had a party the day the Princeton Triangle club played here, but any traveling of the Triangle was canceled this year, of course. Miss Warner will return to Sarah Lawrence on Jan. 15. Her brother, Rawleigh Jr., a Princeton student, is here for the holidays, and will be in a Warner family party tomorrow night at the hockey game at the Stadium.

The debutante parties of the week-end before Christmas are so few and so informal that they might be considered almost a war fatality. The James B. Forgans have invited about 60 young people to their Lake Forest house at 7:30 o'clock tonight for supper and dancing. They are entertaining for two Lake Forest buds, Miss Mary Mabbatt and Miss Blissy King. Miss Catherine Remy is entertaining at home from 5 to 7 this afternoon for Miss Madeleine Sheridan, Miss Barbara Corning, and Miss Janet Carle Ingram, all debutantes.

A number of dinner and hockey parties have been planned for tomorrow night. Debutante Yvonne Hoskins is entertaining for two other buds, Miss Helen McCarty and Miss Carol Blossom. The Edward D. Shumways and the Alfred T. Cartons are giving a hockey party for Miss Joan Potter, also a debutante.

Ensign William Denniston Will Marry Eastern Girl.

Mrs. George F. McIntyre of Nayatt Point, West Barrington, R. I., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Catherine, to Ensign William Badger Denniston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brackett B. Denniston of Riverside and Windermere, Silver Lake, Wis. Miss McIntyre attended Miss Wheeler's school in Providence, R. I., and Wellesley college. Her fiancé is a graduate of the Boys' Latin school and of Brown university. He is coming home from the Diesel engineering school at Cornell university to spend Christmas day with his parents and two married brothers, George R. and Brackett B. Denniston Jr. No plans for the wedding will be made until after Ensign Denniston completes his course on Jan. 8.

Lieut. Middleton Miller, who was at home last week on a leave from his army air corps post in the east, missed seeing his new daughter by just two days. The first child of Lt. Miller and the former Katrina Mauff was born on Dec. 15 in Passavant hospital. The baby has been named Estelle for Mrs. Miller's mother, the late Mrs. John Reginald Mauff. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Guthrie of Winthrop, Ia., are little Estelle's paternal grandparents.

Lt. and Mrs. William T. Priestly Jr. [Christabel Wheeler] became the parents of a second son, named for Mrs. Priestly's father, Seymour Wheeler, on Wednesday at the Evanston hospital. Lt. Priestly, who is in California with the army air corps, will not see his new son for several weeks. Mrs. Ward Wheeler is the infant's maternal grandmother.

Opera Company Giving Farewell Party Today.

Following the post-season performance of Hansel and Gretel at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the Chicago Opera company is giving a cocktail party and buffet supper at the Opera club to say "goodby" to the season. A short ballet from the opera, "Lakmé," is included in the program. Mr. and Mrs. George T. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Morton L. Strauss, and Mrs. Haven Core Kelly have purchased boxes so that young men in the army signal corps may see the performance.

A feminine Santa Claus will give out presents at the Chicago Yacht club tonight to midshipmen who will receive their commissions on Christmas eve from the naval reserve school at Northwestern university. Miss Beth Coleman will fill the Santa Claus rôle at the party, which will be a farewell to the 10th class of midshipmen and a welcome to the 11th.

Ready for a Week-End of Winter Sports

Miss Marilynn Morse is one of thousands who are waxing skis and preparing for a week-end of winter sports, whether sliding downhill in their own back yards or at some local hill. Miss Morse, a Sarah Lawrence student, is spending the holidays with her parents, the junior Robert H. Morses. She had a debut party in Boston before her family returned to Winnetka to live last October.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

[The following is the fourth of a series in a survey by THE TRIBUNE of women's activities during the first year of the war.]

Educational and protective functions for the girls the service men left behind them are being emphasized by war work organizations of this war perhaps more strongly than those of any other. The mothers of air corps men may meet to discuss the duties and dangers facing their boys. The wives of men in the army and navy are banded together for mutual comfort and the unraveling of rules and regulations which govern their conduct and rights.

The Association of Army and Navy Wives, a national organization with headquarters at 1428 East 57th street, is such a group. Organized on Jan. 6, 1942, in Macon, Ga., by the Infantry School Women's club of Fort Benning and the women's defense league of Macon, Ga., the association now has a Chicago membership of 1,560.

What started as a bulletin giving information from "old" army wives to the "new" has grown into the "Army Woman's Handbook," and a "Navy Woman's Handbook" has just been published. The small profits from the sale of the books, of which Mrs. Carter Collins is the author, pay the maintenance expenses of the association.

An information bureau answers an average of 100 questions a day for service wives, 2,500 have been helped to find paying jobs, and several thousand have been placed in volunteer organizations.

A service wife may choose between two types of membership in the association—one, the subscribing national membership with annual dues of $1, which includes a subscription to the association magazine, and the other, the service membership in a local unit with no dues unless the unit cares to charge them for special events.

Almost immediately after Pearl Harbor a small group of navy mothers met to discuss plans for an organization to serve navy men in this area and to volunteer help for existing service agencies. On March 18 the Navy Mothers' Club of Chicago, Inc., was born, and today it boasts 600 members, headquarters at 335 North Michigan avenue, and a navy sisters and wives auxiliary of about 100 women.

A rumpus room was opened at headquarters in July and the Navy Mothers write a card to the mother of each boy who visits them. Besides helping with the work of such groups as the Red Cross and Travelers Aid, the club has made 38 bed jackets and bed slippers for the sick bay at the naval armory and sent 20 bedside lamps there. Once a month two members take cigarets to patients in the hospital at Great Lakes. Members pay dues of $1 a year, but no funds are solicited.

Only mothers of flying officers in the army air force may join the Mothers of Flying Army Officers of America, Inc., 1614 North Central avenue. The mother of a ground crew officer is not eligible. Organization of this group was completed in September, and it now has 53 members. Cakes, cookies, candy, and cigarets have been donated to the service centers, six ping-pong tables and several afghans were given to the air force schools here, and magazines and birthday cards are sent to men serving overseas.

Boxes of toilet articles, stationery, and food are sent to men in the army and navy every second month by the 98 members of the Women's War Service club which meets in the Paul Revere fieldhouse. Contents of the boxes are bought by a purchasing chairman with funds raised thru parties and entertainments and the 25 cents a month dues paid by members. Women must have a relative in the army or navy and be sponsored by a member to be eligible for membership.

The Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Decorators, which has done a large share of cheering war work thru its camp furnishing fund, is contributing still further in providing holiday decorations for the downtown Chicago service men's centers.

In addition to trimming 65 Christmas trees, the group, headed by Miss Cornelia Conger, will hang paintings in each center. Thru the coöperation of the Art institute of Chicago, "Virgin with Infant Christ and St. Catherine" will be hung in the Washington street center, and "Coronation of the Virgin" will be placed on the stair landing at the Auditorium center. Both will be placed against blue backgrounds framed in Christmas garlands.

Tonight will be a special event on the calendar of 400 service men stationed in Chicago, when the Red Cross production unit of the Merchandise Mart, in coöperation with the mart's tenants' war service auxiliary, will give a buffet dinner and program in the Merchants and Manufacturers club. Lighted Christmas trees, holly wreaths, and Santa Claus with his bag full of gifts will provide the traditional background. Mrs. Edward A. Vandy, chairman of the Red Cross unit, and Maj. Carson A. Hatfield of the 6th service command will lead the grand march opening the dancing program.

Smartly Acted and Good Fun Is This Movie

"THAT OTHER WOMAN."
Produced by Twentieth Century-Fox.
Directed by Ray McCarey.
Presented at the Palace theater.

THE CAST.

Emily	Virginia Gilmore
Henry Summers	James Ellison
Ralph	Dan Duryea
Constance Powell	Janis Carter
Grandma	Alma Kruger

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

It's the sort of thing—in a minor sort of way—that Rosalind Russell and Carey Grant do so well. Smartly acted and directed, full of laugh provoking situations—silly as the dickens!—crisply dialogued, and artistically staged, photographed, and costumed.

It tells the story of a man and his secretary. . . . The first is a handsome Lothario who loves dames and the odor of fine perfumery. . . . The latter is a clever and handsome young woman who gets him out of one pair of designing hands only to find him happily running his head into another gold digger's carefully prepared noose. And she, his "office wife," loving him like mad all the time!

Now Emily, our secretary, has a modern and farseeing grandmother. Gram detects how matters lie and decides that the time has come for Emily to play games. . . . With Gram's aid a new trap is planned. . . .

Henry Summers runs true to form. . . . A perfumed note—and "Miss Borden, I won't be back this afternoon." . . . But this time Miss Borden is the girl at the end of the street car line. . . .

For a while she has things working pretty satisfactorily. . . . Then a former charmer provides complications. . . . The prey is whisked away by secretary to his Connecticut cabin to complete a certain job for which clients are waiting. . . . Gram, who was to have gone along, doesn't. . . . All is exceedingly proper, however, and most disappointing—due to broken well ropes, a southern gentleman who wants to protect Miss Emily's honor, and several other thises and thatses. . . .

The ending is what you want it to be.

I think Virginia Gilmore is charming. Pretty, natural, and with a devastating lisp. James Ellison plays with zest and humor. Alma Kruger entertains delightfully as grandma, and other players are on their toes. Direction by Ray McCarey, one of the finest of the comedy megaphoners, is splendid, even if he did have to work from a wheel chair! [Leg injury.]

See you tomorrow.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Notebook.

The 1942 Front Views and Profiles notebook goes on sale Wednesday, Dec. 23, at newsstands and Tribune public service offices [15 cents a copy, 18 cents by mail]. In its 64 pages of column excerpts, selected on the basis of comment elicited when they first appeared, we hope you will find something of diversion, pleasure, and stimulation.

In it are anecdotes of the great, near great, and humble unknown; vignettes from the Chicago scene; the lovely "Letter from a Soldier to His Wife"; comments on the state of the nation; a hitherto unpublished bit, "The Story of Creation," by a young Negro boy; and poems by Martha Wendt, Anita McLean Willison, Lillian Barr Henning and a host of others, including the amusing "Indian Bureau Moves to Chicago" of Neanderthal Man. In fact, it contains a little bit of everything—a smile, a tear, a laugh, a sigh of nostalgia, all enclosed in a jacket designed by Rue Winterbotham Shaw. We hope you like it.

And if you don't think it difficult to plug something you yourself are putting out, try it some time.

Sure Is.

A compatriot of ours, returning to Chicago this week from Omaha, sat at breakfast on the train with a sturdy Omaha business man who became annoyed when their waiter gazed out the window at the moving scenery with remarkable intensity instead of taking their orders.

"What's the matter?" the business man finally asked the waiter. "Haven't you ever waited on a table before?"

With an easy smile and a drawl the waiter replied: "Naw, suh, I ain't never waited on any table befo'. In fact, I ain't never been on a train befo' this. It sure is interestin', ain't it?"

Seasonal Joy.

A 12 year old Deerfield boy, Ward Anderson, is the envy of all his friends. He is allergic to Christmas trees and has been out of school all month because a Christmas tree is in his classroom.

Relativity.

A young girl from an eastern preparatory school stopped on her way thru town the other day to visit Mrs. John H. Merrell and told, with annoyance, of the man who occupied the other half of her seat on the train. "He kept sitting there before supper and never would go away," she protested, "and it worried us because we had a box of candy on that seat and were afraid to reach over and take it." "What kind of a man was he?" Mrs. Merrell asked. "O, I should say he was an elderly man," the girl said thoughtfully. "He must have been in his late 30s."

Christmas Scene.

A woman went into a men's store to buy a Christmas present for her grandfather and puttered futilely about until a helpful salesman accosted her. "How about a nice tie, madam?" he asked. "No," the woman said. "No, not a tie. He has a beard." "Well, madam, maybe a pullover to wear around the house," the salesman continued. "No," the woman said. "It's a very long beard." The salesman looked about in desperation. "Well," he said hopefully, "do you think a pair of spats would show?"

Disillusionment.

Maria Matyas and Jeanne Madden, the Hansel and Gretel of the Chicago Opera company, did a creditable job this week of convincing children at the Children's Memorial hospital they were the real brother and sister of the fairy tale until Miss Matyas inadvertently undoubled her fists. "Aw," one little boy shouted in anger, "you're no boy; boys don't have red finger nails!"

Hosiery Is Still Top of List as Christmas Gift

BY REA SEEGER.

Hosiery still tops the lists as the most valued gift for the most exacting women. Now is no time to be difficult about the scarcity of silk and nylon, for rayon stockings are surprisingly smooth, unexpectedly sheer and look enough like the former silken snares to fool the best eyes in town. For much has been done with rayon. Experts of all kinds and with all sorts of experience have and are still doing everything toward perfecting the weaving. Strands of rayon are being twisted even more than formerly to attain the tensile strength of silk, the dye jobs are perfect, tho limited, and the fit is also appreciably better with every shipment of new models.

There are a few luxury finds for the gift shoppers such as the silk mesh in a flattering neutral shade with nylon feet and tops. The mesh pattern is huge. They're the most exciting buys in town. Wear them with dress parade clothes for afternoon or evening.

Another silk mesh is the finer patterned queen's lace design with cotton tops and feet, but the cotton band at the top has a trick weave that allows for stretching and at the same time prevents runs. Both these mesh or lace weaves are ideal gift buys, three to six pairs to a box.

Rayon hosiery features mesh and lace patterns, too. Stunning very sheer ribbed patterns in street shades are almost as thin as two thread chiffons. Oxford gray and blacks are likewise available in this ribbed mesh rayon . . . the oxford gray tone is a grand find for the women who wear gray as other women prefer beige. Fine lisle hosiery still is and always will be the smartest complement for tweeds. Very smart women always wore lisles with tweeds when the rest of the world wore silk chiffons day after day with no thought of anything else.

"Wedding Postponed"

By Susannah Shane

[Copyright: 1942: by Harriette Ashbrooke.]

INSTALMENT XXX.

LONG SHOT.

Steelman studied the end of his cigaret some more. His manner now was deceiving casual.

"Were you aware, Plaice, that Mrs. Carson before she was killed, sent a note to Miss Devlin concealed in her wedding dress?"

"How strange. What for?" Plaice's own cigaret described an arc as he brought it up to his mouth, and his hand covered rather more than was necessary of his face.

"She asked her to come to the cottage immediately and bring her diamond engagement ring with her."

"Really, this is very strange. I don't think I entirely understand the . . ." Plaice's voice trailed off, muffled behind his hand.

"Perhaps I can explain it to you. For some reason," Steelman said with ominous eveness, "Mrs. Carson wished to prevent your marriage to Miss Devlin. On July 19 she came out to her cottage for that express purpose.

"The cottage was to be, so to speak, her base of operations. She tried to get in touch with Miss Devlin's father and failed. [And now for the first of the long shots.] She tried to get in touch with Miss Devlin herself and with you. She failed because you were actively conniving in that failure.

"On July 21, just to make sure that Mrs. Carson would have no opportunity to get at Miss Devlin, you took her, her stepmother and the entire wedding party on a cruise that lasted to within six hours of the actual wedding.

"You did not bring Miss Devlin back home until you knew that the house would be completely surrounded with special guards who had been called in to keep an eye on the wedding presents. You felt sure that in that way you were destroying all opportunity for Mrs. Carson to see Miss Devlin before the ceremony and to throw a monkey wrench into the works."

Steelman paused slightly. Plaice was sitting exactly as before. His cigaret had gone out, but his hand was still covering the lower part of his face. His eyes, looking at the inspector, were difficult to read, veiled by a deliberate blankness. Steelman went on.

"But Mrs. Carson was too smart for you. She contrived to get a note inserted in Miss Devlin's wedding dress in such a way that it would be read immediately the dress was put on. And it was read. It directed Miss Devlin to come at once to the cottage and to bring with her the diamond engagement ring which you had given her."

Another pause. Then Plaice said, "Go on, inspector. I'm listening to your fantastic story."

"Hardly fantastic when we have the wedding dress and know the manner in which the note to Miss Devlin was concealed in it. Hardly fantastic when we have the note." [Another long shot in the dark!]

Steelman's eyes were on Plaice, watching for the effect. There was none immediately. Then Plaice spoke.

"You have—the note?"

"We have the note."

"May I see it?"

"No."

There was a long intake of breath that seemed to stiffen the steel in Plaice's jaw. "Go on. I'm waiting."

"That's what Mrs. Carson was doing night before last. She was waiting for Tessa Devlin in order to tell her something that would have prevented your wedding. But when Tessa Devlin got there to hear what that something was, Mrs. Carson was already dead. Some one had murdered her."

Another pause. Then: "And I suppose I'm the one who did it-"

Steelman didn't say anything. He just nodded.

Plaice rose slowly and walked to a porthole and looked out over the threatening water. There were more white caps now and the fresh breeze was turning into a real blow. In the quiet cabin they could hear the slap and rattle of gear and the increased drumming of the sea.

"I'm afraid, inspector, you're not very careful on your checkups."

"You mean Mrs. Kimbark?"

"Yes."

It was the inspector's turn now to rise and cross the lounge to the porthole. He drew a newspaper from his side pocket and handed it to Plaice, open at the big black headlines.

MRS. CAROL KIMBARK
KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENT UPSTATE

Plaice's gaze fell on the headlines. There was no mistake about it this time. He started. The attack was too sudden. Then he grabbed the paper and his eyes tore into its black print, leaping from paragraph to paragraph.

"Good heavens!" It was the expression of a man who suddenly feels the ominous trembling of the foundations beneath him.

"Unfortunately for you, Plaice we never had a chance to talk to Mrs. Kimbark. When we went to question her last night she had already been lying for hours under her wrecked automobile."

The paper fell from Plaice's hands. His back toward the inspector now. He was staring out over the water. Suddenly he whirled around.

"All right. Round one to you. Any alibi I had is shot. Only if I'm a murderer, I've got to have a motive. And what motive have I got for killing Mrs. Carson?"

"The best in the world."

"I don't understand you."

"I shouldn't think it would be so difficult as all that. It's very simple, really. That story about a Mrs. Frome is all rot, Plaice. There never was a Mrs. Frome, so you never could have gotten that ring from her. The ring belonged originally to Mrs. Carson. It was her engagement ring that her husband gave to her and then took back when he got tired of married life and went off prospecting. The same ring you wrote about in your letter to her."

"And how was I responsible for that?"

"Because you see, Plaice, you were the man who gave it and took it back. You were Mrs. Carson's husband."

It was as if some fierce flash had riven the atmosphere of the room, paralyzing for the moment the three men who stood there, Plaice at the porthole, the two detectives beside the table, fixed, immobile.

Nunn's mouth dropped open, stupidly. Steelman's snapped shut in a firm line. And the eyes of both of them were on Plaice. The emotions of a moment before had frozen on his face, leaving no muscular play for new ones.

The boat gave a roll and an ash tray slid against a lamp with a tiny crash that broke more than the enamel coating of its pottery.

For a moment it loked as if Plaice's legs were going weak under him. The inspector made a movement forward. Plaice drew back, seemed to find some stability in pressing hard against the wall behind him, some ally in his inner struggle for control. Then he straightened, and his eyes grew steadier.

"Well, Plaice, what about it?" The inspector's voice was cool and even and hard. Plaice tried to match him in reply.

"Maybe you know what you're talking about. I don't."

"Then you deny that you were ever married to Mrs. Phoebe Carson?"

"I deny it because it isn't so—and I challenge you to prove it."

"Ah, there was the rub, the inspector thought. He had no proof, and yet, he was as sure as he had ever been sure of anything that his shot in the dark had found a target.

But what target?

He spent all of an hour trying to find out. A maddening, tantalizing, infuriating hour. Shooting questions at Plaice, digging fiercely into the past, re-creating the decades that lay behind.

But he'd never been married. Never. Neither to Mrs. Carson nor any other woman. Dogged, stubborn denial backed up with a defiant challenge to prove it. Montana on a farm. No family still living except a sister in Butte. Then Colorado School of Mines, and after that, mining engineer jobs in Colorado.

Then news of the big strike in British Columbia over 21 years ago. He'd gone north. He'd run into Devlin in prospecting country. They'd each staked out claims and then come back to Chacautonil for the winter.

What kind of a fellow was Devlin then? Where'd he come from?

A greenhorn, but lucky. He'd come from some place in the east. Nova Scotia. No, Newfoundland. One of those places. Hadn't been in B. C. long.

A lonely kind of a guy. Never ran around much like the other prospectors. And then after he and Plaice had come back from that first trip on which they had each located a claim, he'd met Tessa.

The Stage

By Cecil Smith

Darius Milhaud, the celebrated French composer who now lives in California and teaches at Mills college, is at work on an opera. Still about a year from completion, it will be his first opera since the production of "Maximilien" in Paris in 1932.

The central character of the libretto, based on a pre-war French drama, is Simon Bolivar, the soldier and statesman chiefly responsible for the liberation of many South American countries from Spanish domination more than a century ago. The opera's text will be in French.

Two women figure in the story, altho Mr. Milhaud did not explain exactly how when I asked him about it the other evening, for he is quite reticent about discussing his work. One will be a coloratura soprano, and Lily Pons has expressed great interest in the part. While no commitment has been made, the Metropolitan Opera company is watching the progress of Mr. Milhaud's composition. The production required would be a heavy and elaborate one, for the opera is in nine scenes.

Mr. Milhaud has never visited Venezuela, the focal center of Bolivar's career. He is no stranger to South America, however, for during the last war he was an attaché of the French consulate in Rio de Janeiro. This experience sharpened his interest in South American lore and music. Venezuelan musical elements, he says, are contained in the score of "Bolivar," and he is "in constant communication" with friends in that country.

Except for "Le Pauvre Matelot," a one act opera presented a few years ago by the short-lived Salzburg Opera guild, Mr. Milhaud's stage works are unknown in Chicago and for the most part in America generally, altho the list of them is long, containing such famous items as the opera "Christophe Colomb" and the ballets "Le Boeuf sur le Toit" and "La Création du Monde."

A new ballet, "Moses," was scheduled for presentation by Ballet theater this year, but this plan was thwarted by a typical ballet complication. Eugene Loring had devised the choreography for "Moses," while rights to the music were and still are owned by Ballet theater. When Mr. Loring left Ballet theater to form his own company, he had to leave the Milhaud score behind. Nevertheless, he produced a "Moses" ballet to other music and scored a round failure with it. And now Milhaud's "Moses" music has no choreographer, and Mr. Loring has no Milhaud score.

Unwise to Wed Secretly, Doris Advises Girl, 18

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Hazel's problem is this:

She is 18, very much in love with a soldier due to go overseas soon. They have been going steadily for two years. The young man is 23. He has been trying to persuade Hazel to marry him for over a year. She has refused because of the uncertain future, she says. Rather, it's her parents who are urging her to wait.

"I don't know what to do," the girl confides. "He is coming home on a furlough soon and he wants to get married and I want to marry him now, too. My parents would not give their consent. I don't know whether to obey their wishes or his and mine now. I know he would be very happy if I married him. Do you think it would be honest under the circumstances if we married secretly and then had a church ceremony when he returned? Many people tell me I should marry him as it would be patriotic. I don't know now who to listen to. My friend wants me to go to the state in which his camp is to be married and stay there with him. If I did that I would never be able to come home again to my parents. Could you help me to a decision?"

"Hazel."

Dismiss the idea of a secret marriage, Hazel. If you decide to marry him, do it openly and above board, they way he'd prefer, we feel sure.

Eighteen is young for marriage. It's young for the extra burdens that fall upon the young wife left behind, included in which may be having to go thru childbirth without him near, having to play mother and father to the infant later. But these are really no greater hazards than the man faces; they require no more courage. You know you are in love. You two have talked marriage and known close companionship for a couple of years. So, if young marriage to a service man were justified you two should qualify as the right sort of applicants for a license.

We wish your parents would sit down with you at a round table conference and talk out every angle with you, but do it sympathetically and with an understanding that there's a war on now and waiting is not always the best policy.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: There is enough fighting going on in the rest of the world without extending it to the nation's bridge tables. So kindly settle this argument before it gets to the point of open warfare.

"In last night's rubber bridge session there was one hand that never should have been dealt. It was:

West, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 7 6 4
♥ A 10 6 3
♦ Q 5 2

WEST
♠ 10 8 5
♥ 9
♦ 10 6 4

EAST
♠ Q J 9 3
♥ 7 5 2
♦ 9 8

SOUTH
♠ A K 2
♦ A K J 7 3
♣ None

"West opened with three clubs. North passed. East huddled for 10 seconds, then bid four clubs, on what, we should all like to know! South came in with four hearts, and everybody passed! West led the club king, and South, without taking a finesse or even a deep breath, gathered in all 13 tricks.

"Then the fun began! South called North nine different kinds of sissy and North tossed it all back with interest.

"Who slipped, and how?"

Before attacking the North-South problem, let's straighten out that matter of East's four club bid, which apparently earned nothing except contempt. It was that bid which really put the fly in South's ointment and made it difficult for North-South to reach their correct contract, hence East should have received high praise, at least from his own partner!

Now for the actual bone of contention.

North was absolutely right not to "disturb" South's four heart bid in any way. How could he tell whether South had made his bid "under pressure" or had something to spare? Could he visualize a rock crusher such as South actually held? Definitely not! Thus, it follows that South's bid was not sufficiently informative. South was in the unpleasant position of having to run a slight risk in order to disclose his great strength, in short, South should have cue-bid the opponents' suit, even at the five level. If North, unfortunately, answered with five spades, South would have to pass, but if North's response had been five hearts [as it would have been] or five diamonds, South would be justified in raising to a small slam. The grand slam was unbiddable against the vigorous defensive barrage put up by West and East.

"What kind of recipe is most likely to win a $5 prize in your daily contest?"

It's a question many of you have asked and while we can't say that any particular recipe will receive preference over another, perhaps a few helpful suggestions are in order.

In selecting a recipe to enter in the contest you might ask yourself the following questions:

1. Is this recipe tried and true, one that works successfully, and is it well liked by family and friends?

2. Is it an unusual recipe, not one you'd be likely to find in any cook book?

3. Does it take food shortages and rationed foods into account?

4. Is it a timely and seasonable recipe? [Be sure to mail special holiday recipes at least a month in advance to allow plenty of time for testing and printing.]

In selecting your entry it is also well to remember that easily and quickly prepared dishes, high in nutritive value and not extravagant, are the popular recipes these days. So hunt out those "meat stretchers," simple salads, and vegetable variations. You may have a prize winner tucked away in your files.

Recipe Contest Rules.

1. Write or type your recipe legibly, listing all ingredients in the order of use.

2. Use only standard level measurements.

3. Give complete, clear directions, including such helpful information as time and temperature, number of servings, and size of pan.

4. Put your name and address on each sheet of paper.

5. Mail your entry [not more than one each week, please] to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Today's honorable mention winners are all holiday recipes.

1,000 Expected Tonight at Misericordia Benefit

Approximately one thousand guests will fill the grand ballroom and balcony of the Palmer House tonight for the annual dinner-dance of the executive board of the Misericordia hospital and infants' home.

The Housewife

A useful accessory for the bath tub, especially when a youngster or an elderly person is using it, is a rubber mat which is held firmly to the bottom of the tub by suction cups. It will prevent many a fall and twisted ankle or shoulder. You'll find these mats in the bath shop sections of the stores. EDITH WEIGLE.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 18.—Brian Donlevy turned down "A Guy Named Joe" at Metro, and George Murphy is campaigning for it. George was giving his all to his big scene in "Bataan Patrol" today when a frog started croaking. The director yelled, "Cut!" but every time the lights went on the frog started. Then by the look of things you'd have thought the studio workers were marines on Guadalcanal the way they went on a manhunt for a lowly frog. No—didn't find him. . . . Bill Goetz at Twentieth Century isn't one to be caught shorthanded. In fact, he's looking ahead into the future and has been busily buying up all the good plays, books, and original stories he can lay his hands on because he knows that if this $25,000 ceiling goes into effect the stars are going to make fewer pictures, and they'll be mighty choosey about parts. So he'll have something to tempt them.

Well, Well.

Kay Aldrich went east to be married to Lt. Robert Combs of the navy. But something happened. Wonder whether that something was John Swope? . . . Is some one kidding? Read one day that Spencer Tracy was going to South Africa to entertain our men on Christmas day. Day following, lo and behold, Spencer returns from a visit to New York. Somebody's kidding somebody, and it ain't Spencer. . . . Tennis Champ Gene Mako spent two days in the army before joining the navy. But, O, shucks, just as an actor in "Private Miss Jones"—the navy's real. . . . The famous polo player, Tommy Hitchcock, is in town for a few days. Just back from England with lots of tidbits wish I could pass on.

Work and Play.

Gingers Rogers isn't worried about her Christmas dinner. Lela's bringing turkey's eggs and butter from her Oregon ranch. They expect to entertain soldiers from Texas. There's quite a to-do about Ginger using her dressing room at R. K. O. for make-up, hair, etc., then motoring to Paramount to work. "But," says she, "why be uncomfortable when I have all the comforts up the street?" And speaking of hair, she's doing it differently for "Lady in the Dark," and I think you'll like it—pompadour in front, soft small roll at sides which go into nothing at the nape of the neck, with not a spear hanging down her back. First shot in picture will be just one of Ginger's baby blue eyes. She was wearing a snazzy suit, which Mitch Leisen had designed, with a blouse exactly like a man's full dress shirt, in soft silk. And they're creating a little number to cost around $10,000—a bodice of sequins, a circular skirt of finest mink, with a stole to match. And speaking of clothes, Travis Banton is designing special dresses for those stars in "Stage Door Canteen." In the dress there'll be a place for everything—powder puff, comb, lipstick, cigarets, fountain pen—you know, all the junk a girl carries in a bag. The sketches are mighty cute.

Hard to Believe.

For once gasoline rationing helped. In fact, it got a girl a job. Due to rationing, Mike Curitz rides the bus to the studio every morning. While on one he saw a stately girl who looked foreign, went over to her, introduced himself, asked whether she were Russian. She said, "Yes." So he took her to the studio and made a test. She got the part of Mme. Molotov in "Mission to Moscow." But what she didn't tell Mike was that she was on the way there to play an extra in his picture. Her name is Lala De Tolly. . . . Cary Grant doing a scene in "From Here to Victory," had to walk along a narrow ledge outside a big building. He did a take and director said, "No good." "What's the matter," asked Cary, "was I hanging out too far?" "No," was the reply, "you were shaking the building too much."

Will They Spit?

When the new musical, "Fit as a Fiddle," opens on Broadway, it will feature three former Jeeter Lesters of "Tobacco Road" in the leads. It's producer, Lynn Root, also is working with George Balanchine on a musical with a Russian background for Zorina. . . . Dr. Hugh Heaton makes a pretty good suggestion for a comedy picture. He remembers back in 1919 when Bert Lytell starred in "One thing at a Time, O'Day." Says the good doctor, "it could be even funnier now and might be used as a delicate hint to those who stay up nights fixing up the world after the war's over—instead of doing the one thing we all have to do—that is win it." But, doctor, do you think Washington would like it?

Does It the Hard Way.

It may be some time before Hollywood gets a look at Jennifer Jones. Henry King is trying to take the whole company of "The Song of Bernadette" and make the picture in a remote section of Oregon. Henry has always believed the real thing is infinitely better than a copy, and who doesn't? He made Jesse James in the Ozarks, and years ago took "The White Sister" to Rome. They didn't do badly.

Children Can Make Colorful Tree Trimmings

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Recently we mentioned some decorations the children might make for this year's Christmas tree, if you should engage upon the project of trimming the tree entirely with whatever the children and the rest of the family might make.

Silver paper, pasted back to back or on both sides of a lightweight cardboard, can be cut into star shapes, or bell shapes, or even angel shapes from a stencil, and suspended from the branches by a black thread, which is invisible. This idea might be carried out with colored paper, too.

Candy canes, one exception to the homemade idea, are always gay. We always prefer the tiny ones. Lollipops could be tied on, too.

A young member of my family invented last year a very cunning simulated candle. We haven't been going in for electric lighted trees lately. Here's the recipe: Cut white writing or drawing paper into a three or four inch square and lay aside. Now take a pipe cleaner and wind around its middle section a thin rolling of cotton batting, cigaret shaped. Then roll this in the paper square making a candle shaped cylinder. Paste down the edge of the paper to hold the cylinder shape. This now leaves two ends of the pipe cleaner sticking out. One is used to wind around the branch of the tree, standing the candle upright. For the other end cut a piece of paper shaped like a candle flame. Crayon this in yellow with an orange or red mark at base shaped like a teardrop to simulate the effect of a burning candle. Then paste this on the upper end of the pipe cleaner.

In running over these decoration suggestions, we noticed we forgot to mention our favorite, made like this: We cut first a little circle of cardboard, not more than an inch and a half or two inches in diameter. We unrolled batting and folded over part making two layers. Next we laid the circle on the cotton and cut around it. Then we pushed a threaded needle thru the cotton with one end well knotted, of course. Next we fluffed the cotton into a ball, then trimmed it with the scissors to roundness. But something was lacking! So we pounced upon a box of those tiny gold stars with glue on the back that you can buy in any stationery store and stuck them all over the little white cotton ball. Pretty good, we thought! And hope you do, too.

Gilded walnuts are another suggestion, but we were never clever about managing to hang them well.

As you all "get going," I am sure that other ideas will come to you. But even these decorations will make a homey, attractive tree.

Two Musical Programs to Aid War Relief Funds

A concert of all Russian music for the benefit of the Chicago committee of the Russian war relief society, and a musical program for the benefit of the Greek war relief are to be given tomorrow. The Saidenberg Symphonietta will play for the Russians at 3:30 o'clock in Thorne hall, with Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Louis Eckstein and Mrs. Philip D. Block among the ticket holders. The Greek party is at Mrs. Grover Winston's in Lake Shore drive from 4 to 7.

Thru the Looking Glass

Last minute ideas, all well under $5.

1. Bouquet bath sets of eau de cologne and dusting powder. Take your choice of jasmin or rose geranium. You have a general idea, probably, of what jasmin is like. It's rich, and pretty heady. The rose geranium is sweetness balanced by a bit of spice. Both are beautifully packaged, with special emphasis on the daintiness of color and design that all women like, there is a convenient gift card inside, and the price is $3.

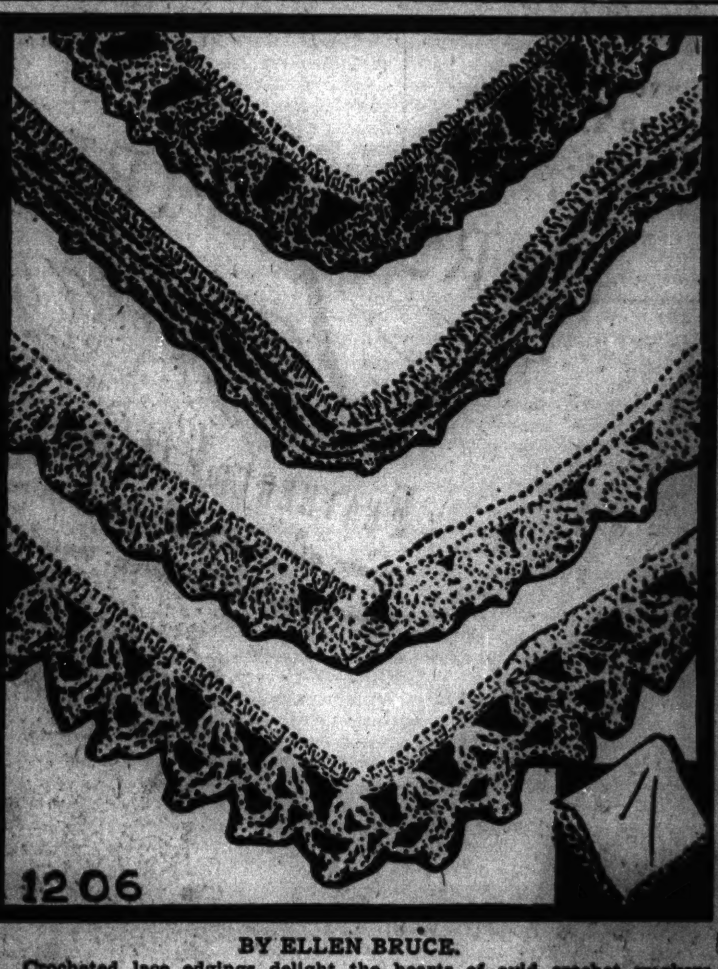
2. A little peach colored cardboard house, decorated with ginger brown hearts, filled with a threesome of bath preparations in spicy fragrance. There is dusting powder, fragrant and feathery, a bottle of cologne and three cakes of sweetly spicy soap shaped like the rolypoly gingerbread men. They're peach colored. It's an amusing gift set, and the bath trimmings are the kind she'll like, especially if she's young in years or heart. The whole set, $3.

3. To tuck in the toe of a stocking: A cake of yellow hand soap, honeysuckle scented, and talcum in the same delectable fragrance. Both are wrapped in cellophane, tied with a bit of honeysuckle vine, and cost $1.

4. A chubby cake of June geranium bath soap [that's an unusual fragrance and a beautiful one that all women like] is done up in a giddy little "cake" with red frosting. In the center there's a tiny, lightable candle on which she can do some Christmas wishing. $1.50.

5. A ration card beauty case of leather, with two inside pockets, one for her ration cards the other for her purse cosmetics. Leather can be navy, red, green or tan; linings are contrasting checks. In it are nail enamel and oily remover [space can be used later for her compact] and a lipstick in one of the new, nonpriority cases of sturdy cardboard. $1.25.

Four Crocheted Edgings



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted lace edgings delight the hearts of avid crochet workers, because they may be used for so many household and personal items. These four edgings are adaptable to dainty handkerchiefs as well as doilies or bed linens. They are simple in design and work up quickly.

For instructions in crocheting the 4 lace edgings, No. 1206, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Boss Goes Shopping.

Two requests came the same day, each from an employer who would like to give a dozen or so girls in the office "not-too-expensive" Christmas gifts—something in the price range of two to three dollars.

How about small leather folders [on the order of bill folds] which hold camera-size pictures? They come in various colors, and are not too bulky to be slipped in a top desk drawer or carried in a purse . . . handy when some one asks: "How's Bill these days?" and a gal wants to show how he looks in uniform. Some hold two pictures . . . some three, some four.

How about pretty colored note paper? Almost all women like smart stationery, attractively boxed. And the art of letter writing is due for as big a revival this winter as warm underwear!

Does a leather portfolio appeal to the boss' pocketbook—the kind that makes letter writing a pleasure in an easy chair? Or, a small sewing kit to keep in a desk for a day when the seams split? Or, that old steady —the powder compact, this year in many new guises? [I like the small oval, translucent ones.]

Would lapel pins in the shape of bizarre birds or animals turn the office into a menagerie? They're cute and capricious and dress up the Same Old White Collar.

Would sets of toilet goods—sweet smelling concoctions—be too personal a type of gift? [One lavish employer is giving the girls in his office elegant fitted cosmetic cases which satisfy the heart of any woman over 10.]

How would handkerchiefs do—those with big, bold colored initials so good looking in a dress pocket? Or tiny, leakproof perfume vials for the handbag? Or key chains, either silver initialed or leather with some silly little trinket on the end? Or saucy umbrellas for a rainy day? Or corsages for the company Christmas party? Or those flat, bright colored leather envelop purses . . . all tied up with holly and good wishes?

Knew It All the Time.

The word which Dr. Briggs had in mind which has five pronouns hidden in it is "usher."

Memoirs of a Movie Cashier.

"My first 10 days in the box office I felt as tho I were in a showcase and—judging from the questions asked me—I could have joined the Quiz Kids.

"What time does the feature begin . . . can I see the entire show if I come in now . . . how long does the show last . . . is there a clock in the theater—I have to get back to my defense job at 6 p.m. . . . did you see a blond man go in an hour ago . . . did some one leave a round package two weeks ago last Thursday . . . have my girl friends gone in yet? . . . and on it goes.

"And then there are the people who put down 20 cents and almost blow me out of the box office by bellowing 'ONE' while the guy with a dollar bill just stands and stares at me vacantly . . . says, finally, 'Well, you got my money, ain't you?' I smile sweetly [I hope] and say, 'How many, please?' to which he scowls and answers 'Do I look like twins?' or 'Think I got a midget in my pocket?'

"I could go on, but I suppose it takes all kinds to make a movie-going world and we have as big an assortment of patrons as we have nuts in our candy machines."

Cheerfulness an Essential Part of Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

No possible amount of careful attention to the achievement of perfection in appearance can be fully effective without that essential companion piece to real attractiveness, charm.

The vivacious and glamorous Hildegarde, who herself is such a notable exponent of all that is charming, has a theory that the fundamental quality necessary to personality appeal is cheerfulness. She points out that no woman, however facially beautiful or faultlessly garbed, ever charms men if her expression is downcast or "sour" looking, her eyes weary or bored, her mouth droopy and petulant.

This doesn't mean that one should go around straining one's facial muscles in a determined effort to look "gay," and heaven preserve us from that switch-on-switch-off automatic smile business. A cheerful look can't be put on like makeup; it is the natural reflection of an attitude of mind. It can, however, be cultivated by patient and persistent governing of the thoughts and moods you allow to express themselves in your face.

Hildegarde graciously offers these suggestions for cultivating the charm of cheerfulness:

1. Relentlessly "prune out" all those shadowy reflections of irritation and discontent that can so easily become habitual characteristics of your expression.

2. Become conscious of the "feel" of your expression at intervals during the day [catch yourself in the subway on this one!] and deliberately reset it in more pleasant lines.

3. Your mouth really feels more comfortable if the corners tilt, up, rather than droop. How are they now, down? Bring them up! [You'll be surprised how this one simple action actually perks up your spirits and brightens your eyes at the same time.]

4. Adopt the "face the world with a smile" slogan and adhere to it religiously, not forgetting that a smile begins with the eyes. Not a grin, just a cheerful, alert attitude at all times.

5. Above all, don't brood! It doesn't help matters, and it's devastating to your looks.

"What kind of recipe is most likely to win a $5 prize in your daily contest?"

It's a question many of you have asked and while we can't say that any particular recipe will receive preference over another, perhaps a few helpful suggestions are in order.

In selecting a recipe to enter in the contest you might ask yourself the following questions:

1. Is this recipe tried and true, one that works successfully, and is it well liked by family and friends?

2. Is it an unusual recipe, not one you'd be likely to find in any cook book?

3. Does it take food shortages and rationed foods into account?

4. Is it a timely and seasonable recipe? [Be sure to mail special holiday recipes at least a month in advance to allow plenty of time for testing and printing.]

In selecting your entry it is also well to remember that easily and quickly prepared dishes, high in nutritive value and not extravagant, are the popular recipes these days. So hunt out those "meat stretchers," simple salads, and vegetable variations. You may have a prize winner tucked away in your files.

Recipe Contest Rules.

1. Write or type your recipe legibly, listing all ingredients in the order of use.

2. Use only standard level measurements.

3. Give complete, clear directions, including such helpful information as time and temperature, number of servings, and size of pan.

4. Put your name and address on each sheet of paper.

5. Mail your entry [not more than one each week, please] to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Today's honorable mention winners are all holiday recipes.

Stir in raisins which have been mixed with orange juice and rind. A useful accessory for the bath tub, especially when a youngster or an elderly person is using it, is a rubber mat which is held firmly to the bottom of the tub by suction cups. It will prevent many a fall and twisted ankle or shoulder. You'll find these mats in the bath shop sections of the stores.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 18.—Brian Donlevy turned down "A Guy Named Joe" at Metro, and George Murphy is campaigning for it. George was giving his all to his big scene in "Bataan Patrol" today when a frog started croaking. The director yelled, "Cut!" but every time the lights went on the frog started. Then by the look of things you'd have thought the studio workers were marines on Guadalcanal the way they went on a manhunt for a lowly frog. No—didn't find him. . . . Bill Goetz at Twentieth Century isn't one to be caught shorthanded. In fact, he's looking ahead into the future and has been busily buying up all the good plays, books, and original stories he can lay his hands on because he knows that if this $25,000 ceiling goes into effect the stars are going to make fewer pictures, and they'll be mighty choosey about parts. So he'll have something to tempt them.

Well, Well.

Kay Aldrich went east to be married to Lt. Robert Combs of the navy. But something happened. Wonder whether that something was John Swope? . . . Is some one kidding? Read one day that Spencer Tracy was going to South Africa to entertain our men on Christmas day. Day following, lo and behold, Spencer returns from a visit to New York. Somebody's kidding somebody, and it ain't Spencer. . . . Tennis Champ Gene Mako spent two days in the army before joining the navy. But, O, shucks, just as an actor in "Private Miss Jones"—the navy's real. . . . The famous polo player, Tommy Hitchcock, is in town for a few days. Just back from England with lots of tidbits wish I could pass on.

Work and Play.

Gingers Rogers isn't worried about her Christmas dinner. Lela's bringing turkey's eggs and butter from her Oregon ranch. They expect to entertain soldiers from Texas. There's quite a to-do about Ginger using her dressing room at R. K. O. for make-up, hair, etc., then motoring to Paramount to work. "But," says she, "why be uncomfortable when I have all the comforts up the street?" And speaking of hair, she's doing it differently for "Lady in the Dark," and I think you'll like it—pompadour in front, soft small roll at sides which go into nothing at the nape of the neck, with not a spear hanging down her back. First shot in picture will be just one of Ginger's baby blue eyes. She was wearing a snazzy suit, which Mitch Leisen had designed, with a blouse exactly like a man's full dress shirt, in soft silk. And they're creating a little number to cost around $10,000—a bodice of sequins, a circular skirt of finest mink, with a stole to match. And speaking of clothes, Travis Banton is designing special dresses for those stars in "Stage Door Canteen." In the dress there'll be a place for everything—powder puff, comb, lipstick, cigarets, fountain pen—you know, all the junk a girl carries in a bag. The sketches are mighty cute.

Hard to Believe.

For once gasoline rationing helped. In fact, it got a girl a job. Due to rationing, Mike Curitz rides the bus to the studio every morning. While on one he saw a stately girl who looked foreign, went over to her, introduced himself, asked whether she were Russian. She said, "Yes." So he took her to the studio and made a test. She got the part of Mme. Molotov in "Mission to Moscow." But what she didn't tell Mike was that she was on the way there to play an extra in his picture. Her name is Lala De Tolly. . . . Cary Grant doing a scene in "From Here to Victory," had to walk along a narrow ledge outside a big building. He did a take and director said, "No good." "What's the matter," asked Cary, "was I hanging out too far?" "No," was the reply, "you were shaking the building too much."

Will They Spit?

When the new musical, "Fit as a Fiddle," opens on Broadway, it will feature three former Jeeter Lesters of "Tobacco Road" in the leads. It's producer, Lynn Root, also is working with George Balanchine on a musical with a Russian background for Zorina. . . . Dr. Hugh Heaton makes a pretty good suggestion for a comedy picture. He remembers back in 1919 when Bert Lytell starred in "One thing at a Time, O'Day." Says the good doctor, "it could be even funnier now and might be used as a delicate hint to those who stay up nights fixing up the world after the war's over—instead of doing the one thing we all have to do—that is win it." But, doctor, do you think Washington would like it?

Does It the Hard Way.

It may be some time before Hollywood gets a look at Jennifer Jones. Henry King is trying to take the whole company of "The Song of Bernadette" and make the picture in a remote section of Oregon. Henry has always believed the real thing is infinitely better than a copy, and who doesn't? He made Jesse James in the Ozarks, and years ago took "The White Sister" to Rome. They didn't do badly.

Children Can Make Colorful Tree Trimmings

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Recently we mentioned some decorations the children might make for this year's Christmas tree, if you should engage upon the project of trimming the tree entirely with whatever the children and the rest of the family might make.

Silver paper, pasted back to back or on both sides of a lightweight cardboard, can be cut into star shapes, or bell shapes, or even angel shapes from a stencil, and suspended from the branches by a black thread, which is invisible. This idea might be carried out with colored paper, too.

Candy canes, one exception to the homemade idea, are always gay. We always prefer the tiny ones. Lollipops could be tied on, too.

A young member of my family invented last year a very cunning simulated candle. We haven't been going in for electric lighted trees lately. Here's the recipe: Cut white writing or drawing paper into a three or four inch square and lay aside. Now take a pipe cleaner and wind around its middle section a thin rolling of cotton batting, cigaret shaped. Then roll this in the paper square making a candle shaped cylinder. Paste down the edge of the paper to hold the cylinder shape. This now leaves two ends of the pipe cleaner sticking out. One is used to wind around the branch of the tree, standing the candle upright. For the other end cut a piece of paper shaped like a candle flame. Crayon this in yellow with an orange or red mark at base shaped like a teardrop to simulate the effect of a burning candle. Then paste this on the upper end of the pipe cleaner.

In running over these decoration suggestions, we noticed we forgot to mention our favorite, made like this: We cut first a little circle of cardboard, not more than an inch and a half or two inches in diameter. We unrolled batting and folded over part making two layers. Next we laid the circle on the cotton and cut around it. Then we pushed a threaded needle thru the cotton with one end well knotted, of course. Next we fluffed the cotton into a ball, then trimmed it with the scissors to roundness. But something was lacking! So we pounced upon a box of those tiny gold stars with glue on the back that you can buy in any stationery store and stuck them all over the little white cotton ball. Pretty good, we thought! And hope you do, too.

Gilded walnuts are another suggestion, but we were never clever about managing to hang them well.

As you all "get going," I am sure that other ideas will come to you. But even these decorations will make a homey, attractive tree.

Two Musical Programs to Aid War Relief Funds

A concert of all Russian music for the benefit of the Chicago committee of the Russian war relief society, and a musical program for the benefit of the Greek war relief are to be given tomorrow. The Saidenberg Symphonietta will play for the Russians at 3:30 o'clock in Thorne hall, with Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Louis Eckstein and Mrs. Philip D. Block among the ticket holders. The Greek party is at Mrs. Grover Winston's in Lake Shore drive from 4 to 7.

Thru the Looking Glass

Last minute ideas, all well under $5.

1. Bouquet bath sets of eau de cologne and dusting powder. Take your choice of jasmin or rose geranium. You have a general idea, probably, of what jasmin is like. It's rich, and pretty heady. The rose geranium is sweetness balanced by a bit of spice. Both are beautifully packaged, with special emphasis on the daintiness of color and design that all women like, there is a convenient gift card inside, and the price is $3.

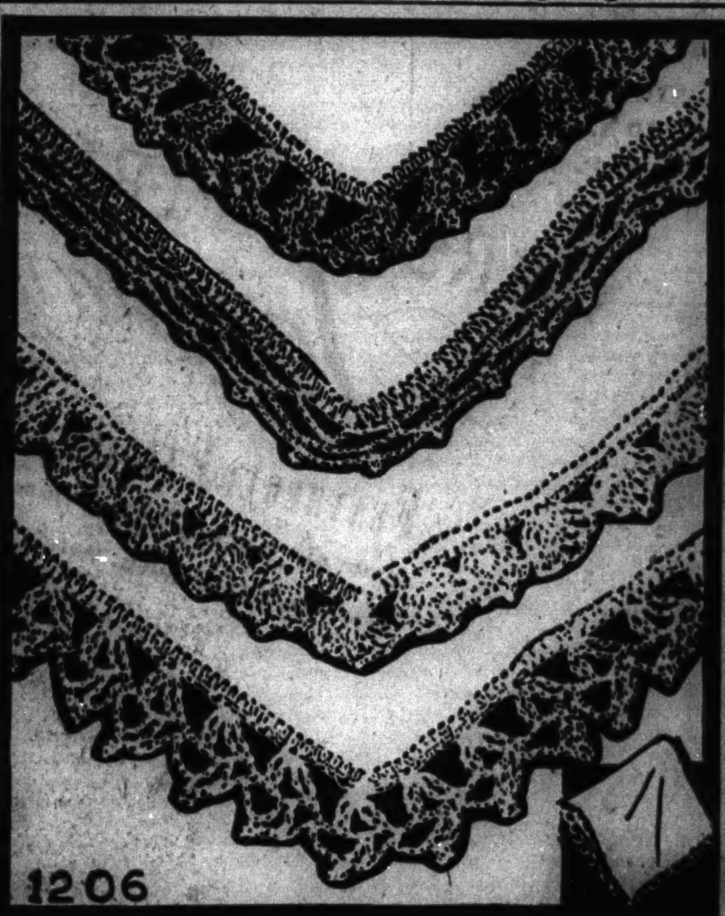
2. A little peach colored cardboard house, decorated with ginger brown hearts, filled with a threesome of bath preparations in spicy fragrance. There is dusting powder, fragrant and feathery, a bottle of cologne and three cakes of sweetly spicy soap shaped like the rolypoly gingerbread men. They're peach colored. It's an amusing gift set, and the bath trimmings are the kind she'll like, especially if she's young in years or heart. The whole set, $3.

3. To tuck in the toe of a stocking: A cake of yellow hand soap, honeysuckle scented, and talcum in the same delectable fragrance. Both are wrapped in cellophane, tied with a bit of honeysuckle vine, and cost $1.

4. A chubby cake of June geranium bath soap [that's an unusual fragrance and a beautiful one that all women like] is done up in a giddy little "cake" with red frosting. In the center there's a tiny, lightable candle on which she can do some Christmas wishing. $1.50.

5. A ration card beauty case of leather, with two inside pockets, one for her ration cards the other for her purse cosmetics. Leather can be navy, red, green or tan; linings are contrasting checks. In it are nail enamel and oily remover [space can be used later for her compact] and a lipstick in one of the new, non-priority cases of sturdy cardboard. $1.25.

Four Crocheted Edgings



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted lace edgings delight the hearts of avid crochet workers, because they may be used for so many household and personal items. These four edgings are adaptable to dainty handkerchiefs as well as doilies or bed linens. They are simple in design and work up quickly.

For instructions in crocheting the 4 lace edgings, No. 1206, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Boss Goes Shopping.

Two requests came the same day, each from an employer who would like to give a dozen or so girls in the office "not-too-expensive" Christmas gifts—something in the price range of two to three dollars.

How about small leather folders [on the order of bill folds] which hold camera-size pictures? They come in various colors, and are not too bulky to be slipped in a top desk drawer or carried in a purse . . . handy when some one asks: "How's Bill these days?" and a gal wants to show how he looks in uniform. Some hold two pictures . . . some three, some four.

How about pretty colored note paper? Almost all women like smart stationery, attractively boxed. And the art of letter writing is due for as big a revival this winter as warm underwear!

Does a leather portfolio appeal to the boss' pocketbook—the kind that makes letter writing a pleasure in an easy chair? Or, a small sewing kit to keep in a desk for a day when the seams split? Or, that old steady—the powder compact, this year in many new guises? [I like the small oval, translucent ones.]

Would lapel pins in the shape of bizarre birds or animals turn the office into a menagerie? They're cute and capricious and dress up the Same Old White Collar.

Would sets of toilet goods—sweet smelling concoctions—be too personal a type of gift? [One lavish employer is giving the girls in his office elegant fitted cosmetic cases which satisfy the heart of any woman over 10.]

How would handkerchiefs do—those with big, bold colored initials so good looking in a dress pocket? Or tiny, leakproof perfume vials for the handbag? Or key chains, either silver initialed or leather with some silly little trinket on the end? Or saucy umbrellas for a rainy day? Or corsages for the company Christmas party? Or those flat, bright colored leather envelop purses . . . all tied up with holly and good wishes?

Knew It All the Time.

The word which Dr. Briggs had in mind which has five pronouns hidden in it is "usher."

Memoirs of a Movie Cashier.

"My first 10 days in the box office I felt as tho I were in a showcase and—judging from the questions asked me—I could have joined the Quiz Kids.

"What time does the feature begin . . . can I see the entire show if I come in now . . . how long does the show last . . . is there a clock in the theater—I have to get back to my defense job at 6 p. m. . . . did you see a blond man go in an hour ago . . . did some one leave a round package two weeks ago last Thursday . . . have my girl friends gone in yet? . . . and on it goes.

"And then there are the people who put down 20 cents and almost blow me out of the box office by bellowing 'ONE' while the guy with a dollar bill just stands and stares at me vacantly . . . says, finally, 'Well, you got my money, ain't you?' I smile sweetly [I hope] and say, 'How many, please?' to which he scowls and answers 'Do I look like twins?' or 'Think I got a midget in my pocket?'

"I could go on, but I suppose it takes all kinds to make a moviegoing world and we have as big an assortment of patrons as we have nuts in our candy machines."

Cheerfulness an Essential Part of Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

No possible amount of careful attention to the achievement of perfection in appearance can be fully effective without that essential companion piece to real attractiveness, charm.

The vivacious and glamorous Hildegarde, who herself is such a notable exponent of all that is charming, has a theory that the fundamental quality necessary to personality appeal is cheerfulness. She points out that no woman, however facially beautiful or faultlessly garbed, ever charms men if her expression is downcast or "sour" looking, her eyes weary or bored, her mouth droopy and petulant.

This doesn't mean that one should go around straining one's facial muscles in a determined effort to look "gay," and heaven preserve us from that switch-on-switch-off automatic smile business. A cheerful look can't be put on like makeup; it is the natural reflection of an attitude of mind. It can, however, be cultivated by patient and persistent governing of the thoughts and moods you allow to express themselves in your face.

Hildegarde graciously offers these suggestions for cultivating the charm of cheerfulness:

1. Relentlessly "prune out" all those shadowy reflections of irritation and discontent that can so easily become habitual characteristics of your expression.

2. Become conscious of the "feel" of your expression at intervals during the day [catch yourself in the subway on this one!] and deliberately reset it in more pleasant lines.

3. Your mouth really feels more comfortable if the corners tilt up, rather than droop. How are they now, down? Bring them up! [You'll be surprised how this one simple action actually perks up your spirits and brightens your eyes at the same time.]

4. Adopt the "face the world with a smile" slogan and adhere to it religiously, not forgetting that a smile begins with the eyes. Not a grin, just a cheerful, alert attitude at all times.

5. Above all, don't brood! It doesn't help matters, and it's devastating to your looks.

COLLEGE SPORT LEADERS AWAIT PLANS OF ARMY

Big Ten May Lift Freshman Bar.

The effect on intercollegiate athletics of the army and navy plan announced Thursday for training military units in colleges and universities cannot be determined, according to sports leaders, until details of the program are announced. Until a specific directive is given, however, the Western conference will continue its intercollegiate program as outlined in the meeting Dec. 8 and 9 and is hopeful that intercollegiate competition will be given a place in the physical conditioning of Uncle Sam's students.

As soon as details of the army and navy program are announced, it is considered likely that the Western conference will follow the action taken in other sections of the country and make freshmen eligible for intercollegiate teams.

For Selected Group.

The joint army and navy plan for education of a selected group, thought to be approximately 250,000 between the ages of 17 and 22 years, will involve contractual agreements between approximately 350 institutions and the federal government.

College sports leaders yesterday pointed out that as far as the Western conference is concerned the proposed program may be merely an expansion of the units now in training at the several universities. Chicago, Northwestern, and Wisconsin, for instance, already have navy units in training. The army is using facilities at the University of Illinois. These students are enlisted in the army and navy. Notre Dame also is enrolled in the navy program.

The current plan follows very closely the program worked out by the American council on education in its report by Dr. Edmund Day, president of Cornell university. The National Collegiate Athletic association is a member of the council on education.

Some Important Questions.

"The proposed plan is spendid and all colleges will coöperate to the utmost," Maj. John L. Griffith, who is commissioner of athletics for the Western conference, said yesterday. "The part intercollegiate athletics will have in the physical training of these men, chosen by the army and navy, cannot be predicted until the details are announced in Washington, D. C.

"Important questions are: Will a civilian or a military man be placed in charge of conditioning? If an army man is named to command at each university, to what extent will he wish to use the university physical education staff? Will participation in intercollegiate sports be a part of the program?"

Maj. Griffith also sees a similarity between the army and navy educational program and the student army training corps of 1918, altho he pointed out that the army then took over the colleges completely while this plan only calls for a contract for use of facilities.

Speculation affirms that the place of intercollegiate athletics will depend on the men placed in charge of the programs just as the intercollegiate football schedules this fall of the navy's pre-flight schools were outlined by Lt. Comm. Tom Hamilton as a part of the flyers' conditioning.

Five Hundred on Midway.

A telephone call to Washington, D. C., yesterday brought the information that the army probably will place its soldiers in universities that now have ROTC units. It also was reported that the army had recommended use of civilians in training its men, since it now lacks officers to carry out its training program in established camps. Except for medical and engineering students, it is considered unlikely that the army will keep any of its young men in college for more than a year.

Much of the athletic program of the army, with the exception of the army air corps, has been arranged by Col. Theodore Bank, Washington, D. C., who coached at the University of Idaho before assuming his present duties.

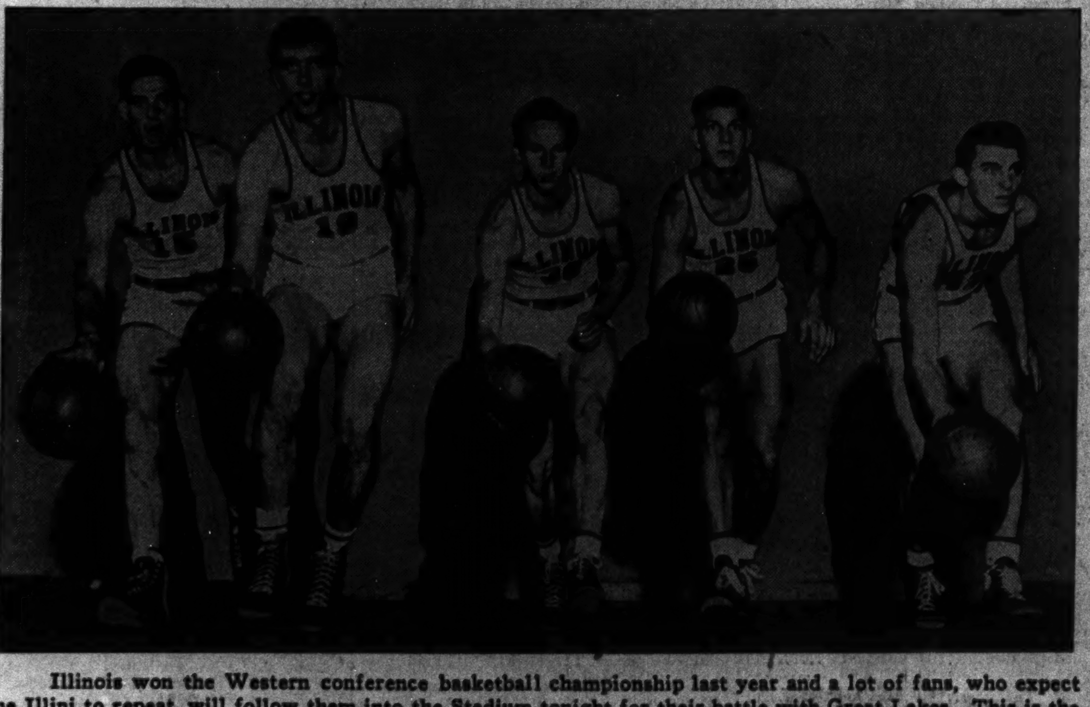
More than 500 army air corps cadets are now enrolled in the meteorology course at the University of Chicago. The navy has a signal corps school which uses the university fieldhouse and Bartlett gymnasium.

"We have worked out a program based on compulsory participation of an hour each day," Kyle Anderson, acting director of athletics, said yesterday.

"Our men must have physical conditioning, and this undoubtedly will be true of the units to be established at other universities," Anderson added.

Northwestern university's athletic staff stands ready to assist in any way possible with the new education program, K. L. Wilson, director of athletics, said yesterday. "If the program is expanded at Northwestern, our men, who already are engaged in the physical training of the navy students, will increase their work as requested."

It Looks Like a Big Night in the Stadium



Illinois won the Western conference basketball championship last year and a lot of fans, who expect the Illini to repeat, will follow them into the Stadium tonight for their battle with Great Lakes. This is the Illinois starting lineup (left to right): Jack Smiley, guard; Capt. Art Mathisen, center; Ken Menke, forward; Gene Vance, guard, and Andy Phillip, forward. Both rivals are unbeaten this year. De Paul will meet Southern California in the other half of the double header.

Mize Bats In 110 Runs to Camilli's 109

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[AVERAGES ON PAGE 23.]

The National league's No. 1 slugger last season, according to the findings of the official statistician, was Johnny Mize. The ex-Cardinal, now a Giant, made excellent use of his new home—the Polo grounds—where the foul lines are not much more than a hop, skip and jump in length.

The muscular Mize, in addition to looking after the defensive chores around first base, put so much power into his bat that he accounted for 110 runs to make himself the RBI champion.

Mize's margin was a slim one run over Dolph Camilli, the Dodgers' first baseman, who enjoys his own special target in the chummy right field of the Brooklyn park. Each of these gentlemen exploded 26 home runs to aid them in their slugging campaign. Mize also harvested 25 two baggers and 7 triples.

Ott Sends Home 93.

Mel Ott, the little man who manages and does some outfielding for the Giants, was, as usual, among those able to command respect at the plate. As a slugger, Ott finished close to Mize with 93 runs driven in. The Giant boss again caused a streak of charity to spread among the opposing pitchers. They walked him 109 times, frequently for fear they might inadvertently throw him the home run ball. It was the tenth season in which his passes totaled 100 or more. His 93 runs batted in gave him a lifetime count of 1,648, a league record.

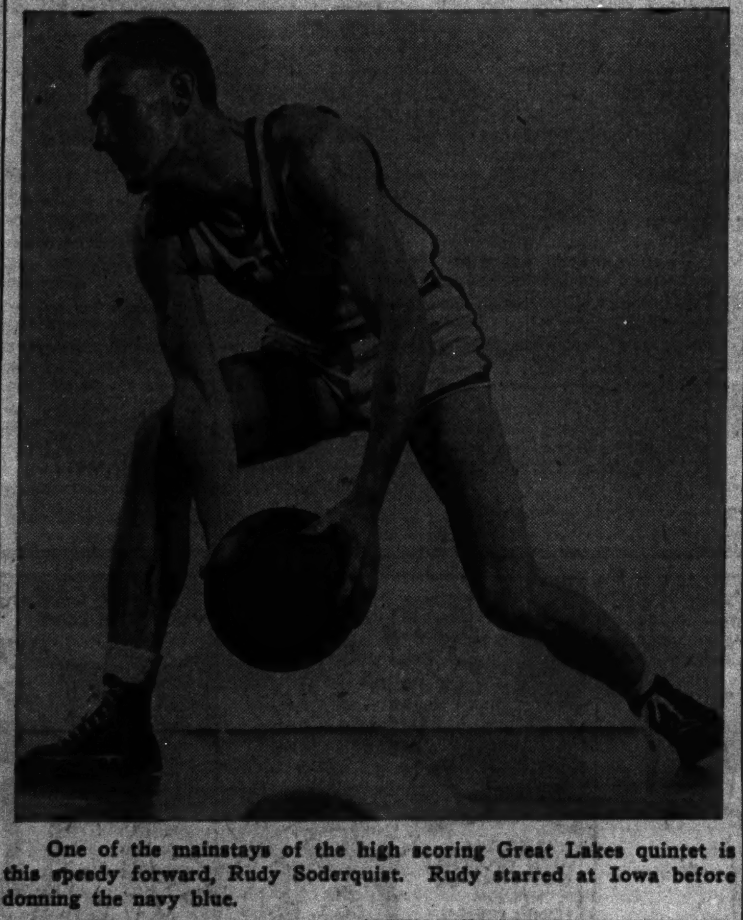
The slugging figures brought out the value of at least three of the Cardinals' bats in the team's successful climb to the pennant, and subsequently the world title. Enos Slaughter of the champions' right field department belted 98 runs across the plate, making him third in the league on a percentage basis. Immediately behind Slaughter was his fly chasing mate, Stan Musial, who accounted for 72 runs. Walker Cooper, the catcher, was the third Cardinal in importance, his bat driving home 65 runs.

Vince Out-Fans Dolph.

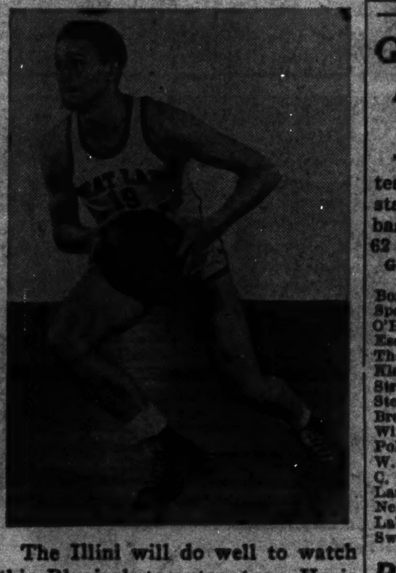
Leading in the matter of dubious deeds were Vince DiMaggio of the Pirates and Camilli. They put on another of their strikeout duels. DiMaggio won by fanning 87 times, two more than Camilli's total. The Dodger first baseman won the duel easily in 1941 by fanning 115 times. DiMaggio finished second with 100.

Their at-home record for the year tells why the Cardinals nosed out the Dodgers for world series playing privileges. On their own lot the new champions compiled an amazing 60 victories of 77 games played. On the road the Cards won 46 and lost 31. The Dodgers won 57 against 22 lost at home, and while touring built up a record of 47-28.

Bill Nicholson of the Cubs and Dickie Bartell of the Giants were the best targets. Each was plunked 8 times by pitched balls. . . . The Dodgers were in 44 games decided by one run and won 27 of them. . . . The Cardinals captured 18 shutout victories and were blanked 7 times. . . . The Dodgers won 16 and lost 8 shutouts. . . . Nicholson was the best of the Cubs at driving in runs. . . . He took care of 78. . . . Lou Novikoff netted 61. . . .



One of the mainstays of the high scoring Great Lakes quintet is this speedy forward, Rudy Soderquist. Rudy starred at Iowa before donning the navy blue.



The Illini will do well to watch this Bluejacket center, too. He is Wilbur Schumacher, who was one of Butler university's top scorers for three seasons.

PVT. LEW RIGGS PREDICTS FLAG FOR BROOKLYN

Fort Myers, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP).—Pvt. Lew Riggs, who gave up a third base assignment with the Brooklyn Dodgers to join the army air forces, has his heart set on becoming an airplane mechanic.

Now assigned to the base headquarters squadron of the flexible gunnery school near here, Riggs predicted today that Brooklyn would win the pennant next season. At present he is assigned to the orderly room of the base headquarters squadron but has applied for an airplane mechanic assignment.

ILLINOIS MEETS GREAT LAKES ON STADIUM COURT

De Paul, U. S. C. Complete Tonight's Card.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The University of Illinois basketball team, defending champions of the Western conference, will meet the undefeated Great Lakes quintet tonight at 8:15 in the Stadium in the opening contest of the second double header of the season. De Paul's unbeaten squad and Southern California complete tonight's program.

This double header not only will decide supremacy in the metropolitan area as far as the Illini and the Bluejackets are concerned, but the caliber of play will be difficult to match in the eight double header bills the Stadium will sponsor after the holidays. More than 10,000 saw last week's games in which De Paul defeated Purdue and Notre Dame whipped Northwestern. A larger crowd, so Stadium officials said yesterday, is in prospect tonight.

They're Veterans of Title Game.

The Stadium's record intercollegiate basketball attendance, more than 19,000 spectators, watched Illinois in its last appearance in the west side arena as the Illini clinched the 1942 Big Ten title by defeating Northwestern, 63 to 49. Seven of the 12 players Coach Doug Mills has chosen for tonight's game played against Northwestern.

The five players who will start tonight against Great Lakes largely were responsible for the victory over Northwestern a year ago. Had they played thruout that game it is likely they would have established a conference scoring record. They are Andy Phillip, Ken Menke, Gene Vance, Jack Smiley, and Art Mathisen, who is captain of this year's quintet. All except Mathisen were sophomores last year and were regulars. Mathisen shared the center assignment a year ago with Vic Wukowits.

Work Out on Battle Scene.

Illinois arrived yesterday and worked out briefly in the afternoon on the Stadium court. De Paul and Great Lakes also were ready well in advance of their games but Southern California, beginning its transcontinental tour, will not arrive until noon today. The Trojans' itinerary includes games in Detroit, Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, and St. Louis.

Lieut. Paul Hinkle, coach of the Great Lakes squad, is expected to start Bob Davies of Seton Hall and Eddie Riska of Notre Dame at the forward positions; Dick Klein of Northwestern at center, and George Hamburg of Colorado and Bob Dietz of Butler at the guards.

While little is known of the Southern California team other than that it possesses a number of veterans, this fact insures a close game with De Paul. The Trojans won 54 to 48 from the Blue Demons in their stadium game last December.

De Paul Is Improved.

De Paul has an improved quintet, however, and in George Mikan, 6 foot 8 inch center, is particularly strong on rebound shots. Mikan has not been used to control the defensive rebounds, however, because of the stellar performances of the guards, Tony Kelly and Dick Starzyk.

Jim Cominsky, senior forward, a graduate of St. Patrick high school, is one of the most accurate shots in collegiate basketball. Starting lineups:

ILLINOIS.		GREAT LAKES.
Smiley	F	Davis [Seton Hall]
Menke	F	Riska [Notre Dame]
Mathisen	C	Klein [Northweseern]
Vance	G	Hamburg [Colorado]
Phillip	G	Dietz [Butler]

Boston Bruins Sign Boyd to Replace Injured Cain

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 18 (AP).—Manager Art Ross of the Boston Bruins tonight signed Irwin [Yank] Boyd, a 34 year old right winger, to fill in for Herb Cain, who suffered a twisted knee in last night's game in New York. Cain is expected to be idle for at least 10 days.

GEORGIA NEGRO WINS NEW YORK SHARE OF TITLE

18,817 See Bout for Lightweight Crown.

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—Beau Jack, a busy young Negro who skyrocketed out of the Augusta [Ga.] National Golf club less than two years ago, won the New York version of the world lightweight championship tonight by flattening Tippy Larkin of Garfield, N. J., in three rounds in Madison Square Garden. Jack weighed 132¾ pounds and Larkin 134¼.

One of the largest crowds of the indoor season, 18,817, jammed the Garden to see the fun. They contributed to a gross gate of $58,468.

After being floored in the first few seconds of the fight for a one count, the slim Garfield Italian, who learned his fighting in CCC camps, came back to battle Jack to a standstill for the next few minutes in one of the fastest and punchingest fights put on in the Garden in years.

Jack Does It.

But Jack, whose real name is Sidney Walker, came charging in at the Jerseyan minute after minute, despite short right jolts which did him no good, and he finally caught Tippy with a short right hand half uppercut near a neutral corner early in the third round.

The result was that less than a minute after the party got under way Jack connected with a short hook that dumped Tippy near a neutral corner. Larkin—whose real name is Tony Pilliteri—was back on his feet just as the referee counted "one," but it went into the books as a knockdown.

For the rest of the round Larkin met the Georgian head-on in a punch-for-punch collision that brought the huge crowd to its feet roaring. Late in the round Larkin caught on to Jack's "combination" and connected several times with short right hands that met the whirlwind little Negro barging in head-on. One of these brought Jack up sharply, rocking him back on his heels and shaking him right down to his roots.

Thru the second round it was the same thing, as Jack swarmed in with the same tactics with which he upset Allie Stolz a few weeks ago to move high up among the lightweight contenders, and Tippy caught him with short chopping rights to head and body.

Then The Clincher.

The third round opened with more of the same, and it was rip-snorting give and take until Beau suddenly feinted with a left and let go the short right uppercut that did the damage.

Thus, just about a year after he belted his way into the big time—and less than three months since the time he was generally regarded as just a pretty good club fighter without too much class—Jack holds the world lightweight crown, even if it is a crown without too many jewels.

These are the jewels eliminated thru the row which has developed since Sammy Angott retired from the ring and gave up the lightweight championship because of injured hands a few weeks ago.

The New York state athletic commission, after first agreeing to a plan to hold a nation-wide tournament before naming a titleholder, switched and decided to recognize tonight's winner as the head man of the 135 pounders. Afterward the commission will sponsor a tournament, the survivor of which will be given first shot at Jack's "title." New Jersey's fistic father, John Hall, agreed to this plan.

In Comes Maryland.

However, the National Boxing association, despite the fact it had recognized tonight's two fighters as top contenders for the crown, refused to go along with this plan on the ground that recognition of tonight's winner constituted a bad case of hand picking a champion. As a result the N. B. A. will recognize no boss man of the division until a nation-wide tournament is completed.

Then, just to make the picture resemble a jig saw puzzle slightly more, there was talk at ringside tonight that Maryland plans to give its title blessing to the winner of a forthcoming bout between Willie Joyce of Gary, Ind., and Slugger White of Baltimore.

GEORGIA'S COSTA OPINES HE HAS A KICK COMING

Hopes to Make It Jan. 1 Against U. C. L. A.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 18 (AP).—The University of Georgia football squad, en route to Pasadena, Cal., for its Rose bowl date with the University of California at Los Angeles, is taking with it a complete football uniform, including shoulder guards and pads, purely as props.

The uniform belongs to Georgia's place kick specialist, Leo Costa, and the only reason he dons it dutifully before every game is that the rules say he must be completely protected. He hasn't played a second since the opening game his sophomore year—he saw four minutes service at center against Oglethorpe then—but he has scored in every game Georgia has played in the last three years.

Time Is Always Out.

In all, he has scored 102 points since matriculating as a freshman at Georgia in 1939, all of them place kicks for extra points after touchdowns, made while playing time officially is suspended.

Georgia partisans like to say that Costa never misses. But he does, occasionally. Georgia scored 54 touchdowns this year in its successful bid for a Rose bowl invitation—and Leo added 43 extra points. Two of the 11 bobbles went wide of the uprights, and nine were blocked. At that, he ranked seventh among Southeastern conference scorers.

His kicking coach, J. B. Whitworth, was something of a place kicker in his day. In fact, he booted a field goal for Alabama in the Rose bowl in 1931, when the Crimson Tide beat Washington State, 24 to 0. But Whitworth says there's nothing he can teach Leo that Costa doesn't know already.

Forty-two players and their coaches are in the Georgia party, which includes eight freshmen.

BOSTON HEADS SOUTH.

Newton, Mass., Dec. 19 (AP).—Boston college's squad of 35 men left here today for Miami, where it will participate in the Orange bowl football game New Year's day against Alabama.

The squad will go directly to Miami, where it will set up its training quarters for the Orange bowl contest. Coach Denny Myers said, before leaving 10 hours ahead of the team to stop off in Washington to see about his plans for entering the navy, Full Back Mickey Connolly and Co-Captain Fred Naumetz probably would not be able to see more than limited duty due to injuries.

FREE SEATS FOR SOLDIERS.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 18 (AP).—It appeared today that there will be a free gate at the Sugar bowl for an anticipated 10,000 service men.

The Young Men's Business club here already has snapped up 3,000 of the bargain tickets for soldiers which will be distributed free to the service men. Today the idea coming from Tulsa for business men to buy up more of them and give them to soldiers if they will root for Tulsa was accepted enthusiastically here. Tulsa will meet Tennessee in the annual Sugar bowl game New Year's day.

The plan, introduced in Tulsa, received such enthusiastic support from the city's football fans, that hundreds of dollars were subscribed to the fund in the first few hours. Followers of the Golden Hurricane hit upon the idea when office of defense transportation prohibited sale of tickets outside of New Orleans and environs.

The service men's tickets cost $1.10 and will be the only discount from regular rates.

The Tulsa team is due tomorrow morning. The Tulsans will take a look at the Sugar bowl, eat a French Quarter luncheon, and move on to Bay St. Louis to open their training camp. Tennessee will come in over the week-end to Edgewater park, which is near by.

Anything Can Happen Now.

First the New York Yankees, then the Minnesota Gophers, and now the Chicago Bears. It wouldn't surprise me to read that Joe Louis was knocked out by one of his pupils at the Fort Riley boxing center to complete a year of blitzkrieg of the immortals of sport.

Shortage.

There's a shortage of sugar, or so they say;
And a shortage of rubber and meat and cheese;
And a shortage of coffee grows worse each day
With the shortage of ships that sail the seas.

But the shortage I fear is a shortage of wit,
Should the Wake contributors decide to quit
Sending in their quips because of the blocks

Carry East's Banner Into Shrine Game

One of the east's best backs and one of the middle west's outstanding ends get together in the North Shore hotel in Evanston as the All-East football squad gathered yesterday for the trip to San Francisco and the Shrine hospital benefit game on Jan. 1. The back is Paul Governali (left) of Columbia and the end is Wisconsin's Dave Schreiner. The squad left last night for the Pacific coast.

East All-Star Squad Starts Trip to Coast

Football players who made headlines during the 1942 collegiate season assembled yesterday at Northwestern university to receive their equipment as members of the All-East team, which will meet the West All-Stars in the annual Shrine benefit game at San Francisco, Cal., on New Year's day. The party left for the west last night.

The squad was recruited by Coaches Andy Kerr of Colgate and George Hauser of Minnesota who will serve as co-coaches.

Among the middle western players, many of whom played against each other during the 1942 season, were George Lynn and Les Horvath of Ohio State's Big Nine championship eleven; George Ceithami and Al Wistert of Michigan; Harry Wright of Notre Dame, Dick Wildung and John Billman of Minnesota, and Al Klug of Marquette.

Paul Governali, Columbia's great forward passer who set a new eastern passing record, headed a large contingent of eastern players.

Bill Fox, Colgate quarter back, was unable to join the squad because he is to report to the marines within the next few days.

The squad roster follows:

ENDS—Dave Schreiner, Wisconsin; Bob Dove, Notre Dame; Bill Burkett, Iowa; Ed Murphy, Holy Cross.

TACKLES—Dick Wildung, Minnesota; Al Wistert, Michigan; Al Klug, Marquette; Tom Vochs, Colgate.

GUARDS—John Billman, Minnesota; Morton Shiekman, Pennsylvania; Harry Wright, Notre Dame; Tom Alberghini, Holy Cross.

CENTERS—Spencer Moseley, Yale; Joe Sabasteanski, Fordham.

BACKS—Paul Governali, Columbia; Bill Daley, Minnesota; Max Kielbasa, Duquesne; George Lynn, Ohio State; Steve Filipowicz, Fordham; George Ceithami, Michigan; Bert Stiff, Pennsylvania; Les Howath, Ohio State.

Fair Grounds Switches Jan. 1 Races to Morning

New Orleans, La., Dec. 18 (AP).—Another step toward filling the 72,000 seating Sugar bowl here New Year's day when Tulsa plays Tennessee was the announcement today that the Fair Grounds has shifted its racing program that day from afternoon to morning as not to interfere with the game.

HAWKS BATTLE LEADING BOSTON SIX TOMORROW

The Boston Bruins, leaders of the National Hockey league, will invade the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night to meet the Blackhawks. Altho the Bruins are playing the second place Maple Leafs in Toronto tonight, they cannot lose their top position in the race even should they suffer defeat.

Altho the Bruins have made an amazing record recently, losing only one game in the last 14 and not one this season at home, they will be up against a team tonight which also possesses a great home ice record. The only team able to win from the Leafs in Toronto this season is the Blackhawks.

Priorities and border regulations hindered the arrival of Art Wiebe, who was scheduled to report to Manager Paul Thompson last night. The Hawks' veteran defense man now is to arrive this afternoon at 2:40 o'clock.

Whether Wiebe will be ready to take part in tomorrow night's engagement will not be known until he has had a parley with Thompson. Wiebe has been coaching an amateur team in his home town for the last three weeks and Thompson has high hopes that he will be ready to play against the league leaders. In that event Bill Thoms will be shifted to a forward line post.

Joe Matte, who played defense for the Hawks a number of games this season, was sold to the Cleveland Barons of the American league yesterday.

WEST. MICHIGAN BEATS CENTRAL QUINTET, 42 TO 37

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 18 [Special].—Western Michigan came from behind tonight to hand Central Michigan college its first defeat of the basketball season, 42 to 37. Harold Gensichen led the Broncos with 16 points and Bob Wardrop was high for the losers with 14.

NEW GAS RULES PERIL START OF FLORIDA RACING

Tropical Park Officials Hope for Easing of Ban.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP).—An unsuspected obstacle—a new curtailment of gasoline sales—sprang up today in the path of track operators preparing for the opening Monday of Florida's winter horse racing season. Altho all agreed that the sport could not survive in Miami under restrictions put into effect today, Tropical Park went ahead with plans for the inaugural of its meeting.

"I feel that this is a temporary measure, and that adjustments will be made," said Henry L. Straus, president of Tropical Park, referring to the office of price administration order limiting drivers to three or four gallons of gasoline for an indefinite period.

Ready to Open.

"We are all ready to go ahead," he added. "The horses are at the track, the plant is prepared and employés are ready to take their posts. We'll do everything we can to have racing. We're not downhearted. We'll not squeal until we're hurt. Under this drastic regulation, all Tropical Park can do at this time is to await developments."

Straus added, however, that he did not see how racing could continue unless motorists could buy gasoline.

Alex Balfe, chairman of the state racing commission, echoed Straus' words. "There just can't be any racing under today's restriction," he said.

1,400 Horses Ready.

Both Miami tracks—Tropical and Hialeah Park—are situated several miles outside of the city, most patrons of each depending on automobiles to get to the races.

About 1,400 horses already have been shipped to Miami for the 96 racing day season, and 300 more are awaiting transportation.

Since Hialeah's meeting is not scheduled to begin until Jan. 13, officials of the track withheld comment today while they watched developments.

ARMSTRONG IS VOTED STANDOUT COMEBACK OF 1942

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—Henry Armstrong, the little fighter who has won 13 bouts since coming out of retirement early last summer, today was acclaimed the year's outstanding comeback in sports.

Of the 86 sports writers who voted on this subject, 50 listed the one-time triple champion of boxing among their three choices for the foremost comeback. These votes were divided into 22 firsts, 17 seconds and 11 thirds and on the basis of three, two and one point for each class, gave him a total of 111 points.

The feat of the St. Louis Cardinals in making two comebacks, first to snatch the National league pennant from the Brooklyn Dodgers and second to win the world series after losing the first game to the New York Yankees, was recognized as the second most important about-face.

The voting:

W. G. A. PLAN FOR AID TO CADDIES TO BE ENLARGED

1943 Objective Is Evans Scholar Fund.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

W. T. Woodson.

The Western Golf association, second oldest governing organization in the game and the author of the only plan designed to attend the needs of caddies, will carry on thru 1943, William T. Woodson of the Flossmoor Country club, newly elected president, said last night. The W. G. A. last year reorganized its membership pattern to such an extent in the direction of caddy welfare that it abandoned its club member scheme in favor of an individual pattern.

Woodson said the caddy plan, as reflected in its association with the Chick Evans scholarship fund at Northwestern university, will be the prime objective of the association during the coming year. Whether or not the W. G. A. will conduct its three competitive events next year rests with conditions during the spring.

Country Wide Plan Foreseen.

"We aim not only to sustain the Evans scholar plan for deserving caddies at Northwestern but also to make preparations for a broad enlargement of the plan thruout the country," Woodson said. "More important, of course, is the necessity of taking care of the caddies thruout the country.

"The Evans scholar fund speaks for itself. There are now 23 former caddies at Northwestern, chosen for an education there, and largely self-supporting. After the war we hope to put into effect a plan on which we are now working. That will make the university scholarship plan for caddies nation-wide. Northwestern will be the center in the central states and we hope to set up similar plans on the Pacific coast, in the south, and in the east."

Elect Other Officers.

Elected with Woodson were James L. Garad of Indian Hill and John G. Searle of Glen View, vice presidents; Harold Gifford of Highland Park, secretary; Cameron Eddy of Glen View, treasurer, and Carlton Blunt of Glen View, general counsel. Maynard G. Fessenden of Bob o' Link, past president of the Chicago District Golf association, and Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, past president of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, were named respective chairmen of the membership and caddy welfare committees.

ST. MICHAEL AND ST. PHILIP WIN IN PREP TOURNEY

St. George Triumphs in Own Tournament.

Tourney Facts

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
St. Michael, 36; St. Gregory, 33.
St. Philip, 56; St. Patrick, 25.
St. George, 30; Mount Carmel, 29.

GAMES TODAY.
Quarter-finals.
2 p. m.—De La Salle vs. Loyola.
3 p. m.—Joliet vs. Fenwick.
8 p. m.—St. Philip vs. St. Michael.
9 p. m.—Leo vs. St. George.

Quarter-final pairings in the St. George High school basketball tournament were completed last night as St. Philip, St. George, and St. Michael gained victories in concluding first round contests. The quarter-final contests will be divided over this afternoon and this evening, with two games at each session.

Tho St. Philip ran up the biggest score in the tournament, 56 to 25, in overwhelming St. Patrick, the real thrillers were the games which started and closed the night's activities. In the first contest St. Michael made a basket and a free throw in the final 40 seconds to edge out St. Gregory, 36 to 33. Then in the final game St. George overcame a 17 to 14 lead at the half to beat Mount Carmel, 30 to 29.

Mt. Carmel Opens Strong.

The Mt. Carmel quintet began play by scoring a pair of baskets in the first minute of play, and continued to carry the attack to St. George for the greater part of the first half.

In the third period both teams matched baskets. With only a minute and a half remaining, St. George held a 25 to 22 advantage. This was pushed to 27 to 22 on Jim Shelley's field goal. A moment later Gene Delaney and Ernie Kovack threw in three baskets and a free toss for Mt. Carmel. In the final minute, however, Jimmy Curran, fleet St. George forward, maneuvered the ball in close in a spectacular dribbling exhibition and connected on a basket to bring the score to 30 to 29 just before the gun went off.

Old Foes May Meet.

In the event both win their games this evening, the St. Philip and Leo quintets will have an opportunity to renew an association that has this season given the Lions a pair of victories over Bill Shay's club. Both victories, resulting from free throws made in the last minutes of play, were the only defeats suffered by the tall, experienced St. Philip team.

LOYOLA BEATS BRIGHAM YOUNG QUINTET, 50 TO 44

Capt. Jack Stanton, with 16 points, led Loyola university to a 50 to 44 victory over Brigham Young university last night in Loyola gymnasium. Stanton sank seven baskets and two free throws to put his team ahead in a game that was tied 11 times. The score at the half was 24 to 24.

The Cougars from Provo, Utah, were homeward bound after an eastern trip that netted a victory over Canisius college and losses to Long Island and Temple universities.

Successive baskets by Carmen and Stanton gave Loyola a 24 to 20 lead late in the first half. Welling and Rochins tied it for Brigham Young with two pot shots and the teams left the floor all even.

Appoint Whelchel Athletic Director at Naval Academy

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 18 (AP).—Rear. Adm. J. R. Beardall, United States Naval academy superintendent, announced today that Capt. John E. Whelchel, Navy football coach, had been appointed athletic director here, effective Jan. 11, 1943.

Whelchel succeeds Capt. L. S. Perry, athletic director since last June, who will be ordered to a new assignment. For the time being, Whelchel will continue as head football coach, Beardall said.

Whelchel's promotion from commander's rank, which he has held for the last few years, came simultaneously with the announcement of his appointment to the directorship.

The recent football campaign was Whelchel's first as head coach here, altho he had served on previous coaching staffs as an assistant. He succeeded Lt. Col. E. E. [Swede] Larson as head coach just one year ago.

CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE

3 BILLION BUSHEL CORN CROP SETS ALL-TIME HIGH

Wheat Yield Ranks Second Only to 1915.

A corn crop of 3,175,154,000 bushels, largest in United States history, and a wheat crop of 981,327,000 bushels, second only to the billion bushel crop of 1915, were forecast yesterday by the department of agriculture in its final 1942 crop estimate. The corn total was about 10 million bushels less than estimated a month ago, and the wheat figure was revised downward approximately 3 million.

The soy bean crop estimate was 209,559,000 bushels, about double 1941 production and more than five times that of the 10 year [1930-'39] average.

Harvest Well Balanced.

The 1942 harvest was described as "well balanced." It was estimated to be 14 per cent larger than last year and nearly 12 per cent above the previous record production in 1937. The federal crop reporting board said new records were set for production of grains, hay, and forage crops, oil seeds, beans and peas, fruits, and commercial vegetables. Sugar and syrup crops were only slightly below their highs, while cotton, potatoes, and tobacco production was considered about average.

Acreage was increased only about 2 per cent this year, but yields per acre averaged 36 per cent above the pre-drought period of 1923-'32, and 14 and 12 per cent, respectively, above 1940 and 1941 yields.

The board said record production of feed and forage crops gave assurance of continued heavy live stock output.

Record Corn Crop Compared.

The record corn crop forecast compares with 2,677,517,000 bushels in 1941, the 10 year average of 2,307,452,000. The wheat estimate compares with last year's 943,127,000 bushels and the average of 745,575,000.

Oat production was placed at 1,358,730,000 bushels, against 1,180,663,000 last year and the average of 1,016,061,000. Rye was put at 57,341,000 bushels, compared with 45,364,000 last year and the average of 37,870,000.

The department of agriculture reported that 89,484,000 acres of corn were harvester and that the yield per acre was 35.5 bushels. The wheat acreage harvested was 49,464,000, with a yield of 19.8 bushels per acre.

The Illinois corn crop is placed at 433,438,000 bushels, a yield of 54.5 per acre, second only to the 596,796,000 bushels for Iowa, which set a yield record of 61.5.

BOARD TO STUDY UNION'S DISPUTE WITH DONNELLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—Chicago printing trades unions, which for the last 37 years have been trying to gain a foothold in the R. R. Donnelley & Sons company plants here, were a step nearer that goal when the war labor board announced today it was setting up a tripartite board to investigate the dispute. It said the "parties to the dispute will be called to Washington for hearings."

No stoppage occurred at the Donnelley plant but the unions' dispute with that concern was the basis of a stop work order recently at the Cuneo Press and other union shops in Chicago and Philadelphia. The unions charged, and the employers denied, that these plants were being used temporarily to handle Donnelley's excess work for Time and Life magazines and others, including catalog printing for Montgomery Ward.

The Donnelley case reached the board formally today in a certification from the secretary of labor. The board then announced an agreement which will end work stoppages and decided to dismiss the case.

WHEAT FUTURES ARE LIFTED BY MILLER DEMAND

General Buying Rises; Offerings Light.

Wheat futures prices swept upward nearly 2 cents a bushel at one time yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade, establishing new seasonal highs for all deliveries and lifting September to $1.37⅝, top for any delivery on the exchange since 1937. Final prices were 1⅛ to 1⅝ cent higher. Other grains followed the rise in wheat, with corn and oats up ⅛ to ⅝ cent and rye, 1½ to 1⅞ cents.

The wide climb of wheat futures resulted primarily from active mill buying. General demand was stimulated by the continued scarcity of actual grain from producing areas and cash market strength. The resignation of Price Administrator Leon Henderson also was said to have improved market sentiment. Offerings were light.

Term Resignation Favorable.

Henderson's resignation was construed by wheat operators as likely to be favorable to an upward revision of flour ceilings, altho there still are no definite indications that the price limits will be raised when put into a permanent form. Flour demand was reported brisk, but mills were restricting sales because of the squeeze between rising wheat prices and the ceilings.

It was disclosed yesterday that American cereal interests have purchased 3½ million bushels of Canadian oats and are seeking another million bushels.

On the basis of the size of the oats purchase, Chicago traders said that the cereal companies possibly are preparing to fill a huge government order for oatmeal. The barley presumably is destined for American breweries.

Imports Grow in Volume.

Canadian oats have been coming into this country in increasing volume despite record domestic supplies of feed grains, traders said, because of a scarcity of choice qualities here and the vast amounts being fed dairy and meat herds.

Cash wheat prices at peaks for five years and longer continued because of the absence of country marketings and the consequent artificial scarcity in the face of a two year domestic available supply of the grain.

Nearby deliveries of corn sold at their highest prices since last August and the deferred contracts set new seasonal peaks. Purchases from the country were reported relatively light, while shipping demand continued active. Demand for oats was supported by the sharp advance in wheat, but buying was dampened somewhat by the disclosure of the Canadian grain purchases. Soy beans closed ⅛ to 2½ cents a bushel higher, the May delivery gaining the largest amount.

E. S. Taylor Again Elected Suggestion Systems Head

E. S. Taylor, a director of the Pullman company's employé suggestion system, has been reëlected president of the National Association of Suggestion systems, it was announced yesterday. Also reëlected were F. A. Denz of United Airlines, Inc., secretary, and H. W. Seinwerth of Swift & Co., and F. R. Evers of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, directors. H. F. Foley of Peoples Gas Light & Coke company replaces H. C. Marmaduke of the Illinois Central railroad, as treasurer.

24 YEAR PEAK FOR DECEMBER IS SET BY HOGS

Cattle Prices Are Steady on Light Supplies.

Prices of all classes of live stock were higher in the stock yards yesterday, with hogs at a 24 year high for December. Increased demand was attributed to the fact that packers who have exhausted their 1942 civilian quota and were being forced to close received notice from the office of price administration that they could sell up to 10 per cent of their first quarter quota of 1943 from Dec. 20 to Dec. 31 without violating the law.

Brisk competition sent the hog prices higher. Packers paid an average of $14.15 a hundred pounds, 5 cents above Thursday, and the highest December price since 1918. Advances were mostly 5 to 10 cents, despite the fact that aggregate supplies at the leading packing centers was 13 per cent heavier than a week ago.

Top Loads 5 Cents Higher.

Top loads of hogs were 5 cents higher at $14.30, the best price paid since Nov. 11. Prime 310 to 335 pound "lard hogs" brought the top, while the majority of good 250 to 300 pound butchers brought $14.20 and $14.25. Younger hogs weighing 180 to 240 pounds ranged mostly from $14.10 to $14.25. Only a few light sows sold at $14.05 to $14.15, while the majority of smooth 350 to 425 pound averages sold at $13.90 to $14. Heavy sows, weighing 450 to 600 pounds, ranged from $13.50 to $13.95.

The advance of hog prices this week has been against the seasonal trend, indicating the vast lend-lease outlet, traders said. Top grades of hogs which brought $14.30 sold at $13.60 two weeks ago. The daily average showed a rise of 60 cents in seven days.

Cattle Prices Steady.

A small supply of cattle arrived and brought steady to strong prices. Best steers sold at $15.60, while the majority brought $13.50 to $15.25. Steady prices prevailed for practically all classes of beef cows, heifers, canners, cutters, bulls, and calves.

Most of the fat lambs sold within a range of $14.50 to $15.50, the latter the top. The general trade was steady with the day previous.

COMPANY GIVES BONUS IN FORM OF TAX SAVINGS

Note Distribution Starts Campaign in Area.

Treasury tax savings notes were distributed yesterday to employés of the Chicago Metal Hose company instead of their usual cash Christmas bonuses. A message from John E. P. Farrar, president, reminded employés in the Maywood and Elgin plants that next year's big tax payments will be met more readily if systematic savings are accumulated.

To supplement this start toward meeting the tax bills, the metropolitan Chicago victory fund committee launched its first "save for taxes" campaign for workers of a war plant in this area.

Chicago Metal Hose company was selected for the beginning of the campaign because many of the employés are relatives or close friends of members of the 192d tank battalion, which played a major part in the defense of Bataan.

War Reaches There Early.

"Our people were among the first to have the war driven home to them because so many boys from here were on Bataan," said A. E. F. Johnson, vice president in charge of production, in distributing the notes. "Now the employés are among the first to line up behind the plan to save for income taxes. Most of them will pay income taxes for the first time in 1943."

On behalf of the victory fund committee, Frank C. Rathje, president of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company, and Stephen Y. Hord of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., commended both the company and the employés on adoption of the plan.

Upon written instruction of the employés, the company agreed to make specified pay roll deductions for the purchase of treasury tax savings notes, series A-1945, in denominations of $25. The notes may be applied against income taxes payable in 1943 or later.

Receive War Savings Stamps.

Newer employés who were not eligible to receive their bonus payments in the form of tax notes were paid war savings stamps and urged to purchase more stamps for conversion into notes.

One of the employés participating in the bonus distribution was Miss Thelma McRoy, whose fiancé, Alex Gorr, left the 192d tank battalion's Maywood armory two weeks before the date set for their wedding.

The victory fund committee is stimulating the 9 billion dollar December government financing campaign, which includes tax savings notes among various other securities.

POLICY OF OPA HIT AS THREAT TO HOME FRONT

Accused of Creating Critical Situation.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—On the heels of Leon Henderson's resignation as price czar, a special house committee investigating the problems of small business today released a report blaming office of price administration policies for "a threatened breakdown on the home front."

The sweeping indictment of OPA was released as the capital expected Sen. Prentiss M. Brown [D. Mich.], who was defeated in his bid for reelection last November, to take over Henderson's post and to relax the rigid restrictions of the rationing programs. Replacement of stocky, belligerent Henderson, who antagonized congress, with the placid amiable senator, is expected to gain congressional sympathy for the highly unpopular price administration.

Staves Off Investigation.

Roosevelt, who sacrificed Henderson to congressional and public wrath, refused to discuss the expected Brown appointment or say whether OPA rationing machinery will be thoroly overhauled. In accepting Henderson's resignation, Mr. Roosevelt was seen as staving off congressional investigations of the price control administration which might prove disastrous to the administration, and placating the congressional farm bloc which threatened to wreck the anti-inflation program if Henderson were retained.

The preliminary report of the special house committee cited "crucial situations" which have developed thru faulty administration of the national economy from Washington by OPA and to a lesser extent by the war production board:

"Burocracy Run Riot."

1. OPA policies "have seriously undermined and weakened" the nation's system of consumer goods distribution and "a collapse which might gravely imperil the prosecution of the war appears inevitable unless these policies are speedily corrected."

2. The present situation is one of "burocracy run riot" as a result of "unnecessary reports and multiplicity of regulations" under which business must operate.

3. "Price squeezes and inequitable distribution of merchandise" make profitable operation almost impossible.

4. Small business has received virtually no help from the smaller war plants corporation, set up within the WPB to extend such help, with the result small businesses are folding up.

Unless the conditions complained of are corrected, the committee said it will introduce legislation at the next session of congress to compel correction "in order to avert the destruction of independent small business, and, with it, the middle class of this country."

OPA Red Tape Assailed.

Complaining of the multiplicity and complexity of orders and regulations, the report said:

"This factor alone will close the doors of business which might otherwise remain open. And what is said here about unnecessary government red tape in the field of distribution applies equally to manufacturing."

In a section devoted to price squeezes and inequality of distribution, the report said operating margins between replacement costs and ceiling prices are "too thin to permit continued operation except at a loss."

The committee found that OPA ignored numerous complaints or handled them with so much red tape that the complainants were thoroly bewildered.

Small Business Ignored.

The committee expressed itself shocked to learn that the Smaller War Plants corporation had done almost nothing to aid small businesses.

In congressional circles it was believed that the farm bloc played a considerable part in forcing Henderson's resignation because the bloc was prepared to force a bill thru the next congress which would force the administration to include all of the costs of farm labor, including that of the farmer and his family, in computing farm parity prices. Such legislation would send food prices skyrocketing and play havoc with the administration's anti-inflation program.

In return for agreement to drop the bill, the bloc is reported to have demanded Henderson's head, agreement to moderate increases in farm price ceilings and the promise that Henderson's farm subsidy plan would be abandoned.

Other Reasons for Decision.

While the farm bloc was a factor in Henderson's ouster, it was not solely responsible for the decision. Henderson was thoroly unpopular in all sections of congress and his office faced investigations by both the house and senate, which would have exposed much administration dirty linen to an aroused public.

Brown was silent on his expected appointment. The senator was en route to his home in Michigan for the holidays. Friends said he will accept what Mr. Roosevelt characterized as a "difficult and thankless task" in accepting Henderson's resignation. Brown cannot accept the job until after Jan. 6 because he was a member of the congress which created OPA and one which will not expire until that date.

He is known to be opposed to price fixing on luxuries and nonessentials and for concentration on price fixing of such essentials as food, clothing, fuels, rents, and the like to keep them well within the public's reach.

Ward Finally Signs—Still 'Under Duress'

The big 'tis duress, 'tisn't duress word battle between Montgomery Ward & Co. and the war labor board apparently is ended. Forbidden to use the word "duress" in a union contract, the mail order house announced in Chicago yesterday that it had signed "the document" anyhow —under duress.

And up to a late hour last night the company had had the last word.

The "document"—the company says it isn't a contract if there's duress—was signed during the day at the mail order house office by two company officials, four union officials, and 24 members of the union's negotiating committee.

"Executed Under Duress."

Afterward the company issued this statement:

"Montgomery Ward today complied with the President's order of Dec. 12. The company executed the document under duress and only because the President, as commander in chief in time of war, expressly so ordered."

The "document" is retroactive to Dec. 8, said Francis Heisler, attorney for the union. It contains a maintenance of union membership clause, to which the company objected.

Ward says the maintenance clause is the closed shop. WLB says it isn't. Under the clause, employés who were union members and did not quit the union within 15 days after WLB ordered the company to sign the contract must remain members and pay dues for the one year life of the contract. The union is the CIO United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employés, local 20.

Ward Challenges WLB.

The case was certified to WLB on June 3. Ward challenged WLB jurisdiction over a company not engaged in war work. WLB overruled the challenge. On Sept. 5 WLB ordered the company to raise the pay of 6,800 Chicago mail order employés 5 cents an hour. The company complied. WLB left the maintenance clause and checkoff issue for later action.

On Nov. 6, WLB ordered the company to sign a contract granting the maintenance clause and checkoff. Ward refused on Nov. 13, but said that "if the President of the United States directs that Ward accept the board's rulings, we will respectfully obey."

WLB dumped the case into President Roosevelt's lap. On Nov. 19, the President ordered the company to sign.

Then, the Union Balked.

On Nov. 30 company and union officials met to sign the contract, but the meeting broke up when the company insisted on inserting a statement that it was signing under duress.

The union balked, and appealed to WLB. WLB called Ward officials to Washington for a meeting Dec. 7 and told them "duress" could not go into the contract. Ward refused to sign. Then WLB proposed to compromise by letting the contract say the company signed under "protest" Ward still insisted it was "duress."

On Dec. 8 the board ordered the company to sign and call it a "protest." On Dec. 10 the company announced it again had rejected the order, but would sign if so ordered by the President. President Roosevelt issued his second order Dec. 12, directing the company to sign.

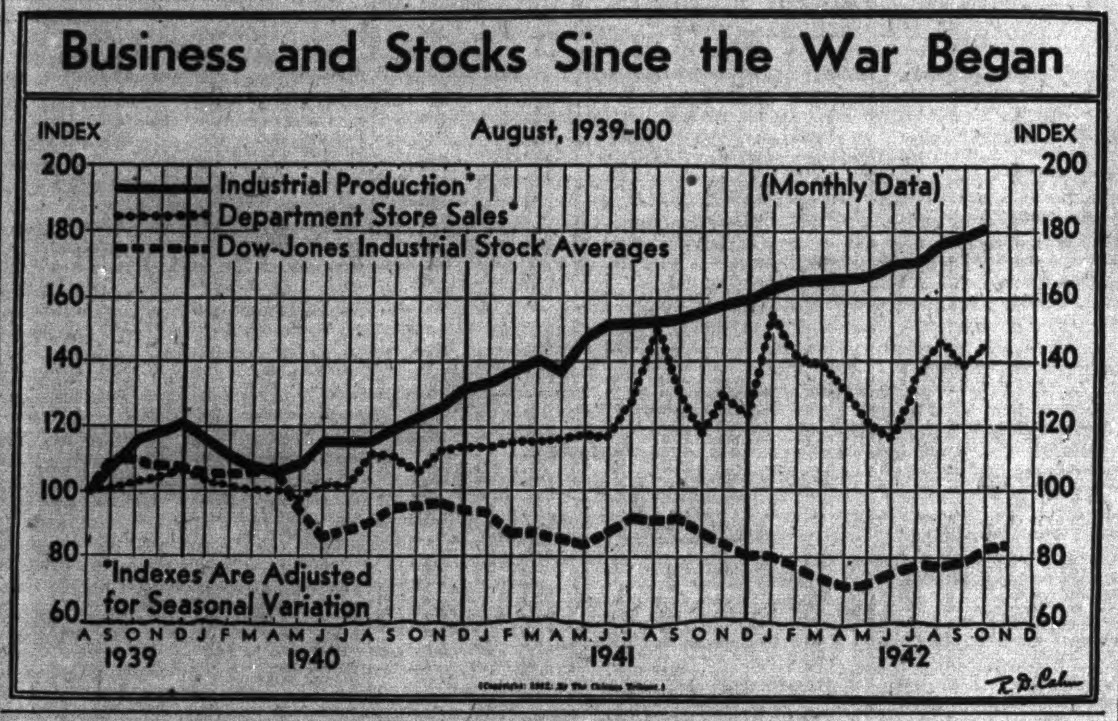
And that's what it did yesterday— "under duress."

ELLERY STONE IS ELECTED NEW HEAD OF POSTAL

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—Ellery W. Stone, a vice president, today was elected president of Postal Telegraph, Inc., to succeed Edwin F. Chinlund, who will continue chairman of the board. The retiring president, the corporation said, will devote his time principally to the proposed merger of telegraph companies.

Stone has been associated with communications since he became a radio operator in 1911, while in high school in Oakland, Cal. A lieutenant in the navy during the World war, he holds a reserve rank of commander.

Stone joined Postal in 1938 as a vice president after being president of the Federal Telegraph company and vice president of International Telephone and Telegraph corporation.



Warns Public Again of Lack of Train Space

More than 7 million troops will have been moved in Pullman sleeping cars this year, George A. Kelly, vice president of the Pullman company, estimated yesterday. This number does not include soldiers, sailors and marines traveling on furloughs.

George A. Kelly.

Discussing the prospects for ordinary civilian travel this winter, Kelly said three factors will determine the rail and sleeping car accommodations available. These are [1] size of troop movements, [2] regional conditions, with demands heavier in some sections than others, and [3] coöperation of the publi with travel suggestions made by the railroads and the office of defense transportation.

Some Areas Less Congested.

In regions where military travel is not so heavy, it is indicated, civilians will find it easier to get train accommodations. This situation may prevail in some sections of the west and northwest, for example.

Kelly said that as the holiday travel period swings into high too much attention cannot be given to such railroad advice as to obtain sleeping car and parlor car accommodations early. The traveler can get a better ride by consulting railroad officials as to trains that are apt to be least crowded.

Concerning advance cancellation of reservations, Kelly said:

"In most cases failure to do this deprives another traveler of needed space. Furthermore, when reservations are canceled too late for resale of the space, refund of fares for unused tickets cannot be made under interstate commerce commission regulations.

Public Coöperates Fully.

"There is a shortage of space on practically every train now. It is obvious, therefore, that those coöperating with the refund provisions aid greatly in the wartime program of conserving space on trains."

Kelly said the public has been coöperating fully when troop trains get the right of way, there being a minimum of complaint.

Meanwhile, Chicago railroad officials reported they are handling the present heavy volume satisfactorily. Trains are late largely because of the heavy volume of war freight. Student holiday travel has been staggered and in a few instances colleges are foregoing extended vacations, thereby relieving the situation.

Week's Municipal Loans Set at Million Dollars

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—New state and municipal financing scheduled for next week sank to the exceptionally low level of about a million dollars, a compilation by the Daily Bond Buyer disclosed today.

Reject Government Land Prices

BY AL CHASE.

Several property owners whose land was taken over by the government and used as part of an 800 acre extension of Great Lakes Naval station asserted yesterday that prices offered them were so low that in several instances, when taxes were deducted, their entire investment would be wiped out. In one case the land owner said she actually would owe the government money if she accepted its offer.

As far as can be learned, few owners have accepted the federal offers and they have done so under protest, expecting to contest the action when a hearing is held on July 7, 1943.

The protests are not confined to the small property owner who purchased a lot and kept up taxes and assessments, with the idea of eventually building a home on it. Several wealthy owners asserted the government offers are too low.

Meeker Owns 187 Acres.

Among them is Arthur Meeker who owns 187 acres. It is understood he values his land at $500 an acre. The government appraised it at $125 an acre, and offered that. Which is right will be decided next July.

The land was taken by the government under a new method which both sides of the present legal argument agree is a big improvement over seizure by condemnation. This land was acquired by a "declaration of taking" in which the government declares a value and then deposits that amount with the United States District court clerk.

The property owner may draw approximately 75 per cent of this money without losing any of his legal rights.

Owners complained that the government appraiser treated the properties taken over for Great Lakes as farm land and not as a development in the heart of an estate region. They said that if the parcels of land had been considered as home sites the valuations would have been higher.

Pays $1,095; Offered $25.

One instance cited was the offer of Clarence W. Beatty, assistant United States district attorney, in charge of the acquirement program, to Mrs. Bert Hilgers, 4945 West Byron street. She bought a 60 by 135 foot lot in 1932 for $1,095 in the Shore Crest subdivision of Frederick H. Bartlett & Co. [all of which is now part of Great Lakes].

She was offered $25 by the government. Figuring taxes and assessments of $43, she theoretically, at least, owes Uncle Sam $18. Beatty said, however, rights to the $18 would be waived. Mrs. Hilgers will protest.

The government has not yet made any offers to the Bartlett concern for a large number of lots it still owns. Atty. Raymond H. Schultz said he will represent Bartlett in court and will not accept any offer as long as any client has any argument with the government which might be affected adversely by such an acceptance.

QUESTIONNAIRE WOES OF BUSINESS WILL BE EASED BY WPB OFFICE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—The WPB set up an office today to handle complaints about its questionnaires. Business men who get "questionnaires which they believe cannot be answered are invited to bring their troubles to James Clay Woodson," the WPB said in announcing his appointment as "industry advocate."

The WPB said that upon receipt of complaints Woodson would "balance the need for the requested data against the burden imposed upon business concerns in compiling it."

"When Mr. Woodson finds that questionnaires burden industry more than they help the war program," the announcement said, "he will so inform the office of survey standards within the WPB, of which he will be a member. This office has the power to veto questionnaire forms."

TREASURY BEGINS SENDING FORMS FOR VICTORY TAX

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 (AP).—The treasury today began distributing to internal revenue collectors two forms to be filled out by employers who begin withholding the 5 per cent "victory" tax from their employés pay on Jan. 1.

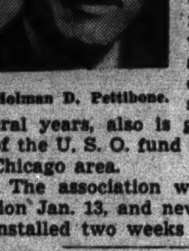
The forms, about the size of bank checks, are identified as V-1 and V-2. Employers must fill in V-1 with information on the amount withheld and sent to the internal revenue collector at the end of each quarter, with a complete schedule of employés and deductions.

Form V-2 is the employé's receipt which the employer must fill out in duplicate, giving one copy to the employé at the end of 1943 and sending the other to the collector of internal revenue.

The tax applies to every individual having a gross income of more than $624 a year.

H. D. PETTIBONE IS NOMINATED AS C. A. C. PRESIDENT

Holman D. Pettibone, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, yesterday was nominated to succeed Aubrey H. Mellinger, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, as president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Pettibone, who has served as a director and officer of the association for several years, also is general chairman of the U. S. O. fund campaign for the Chicago area.



Holman D. Pettibone.

The association will hold its election Jan. 13, and new officers will be installed two weeks later.

ACCEPT HAWKES' RESIGNATION AS CONGOLEUM HEAD

Kearny, N. J., Dec. 18 (AP).—Directors of Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., manufacturer of floor coverings, tonight accepted the resignation of Sen. Elect Albert W. Hawkes, Republican, as its $100,000 a year president and general manager. Hawkes agreed to remain as chairman of the board. Bernard G. Steinetz, first vice president, was named to succeed Hawkes. His salary was not announced. He has been with the company 17 years.

Hawkes, whose salary as senator will be $10,000 a year, defeated Sen. William H. Smathers, Democrat.

ELECT CORLETT PRESIDENT OF GOSS PRINTING

Robert C. Corlett yesterday was elected president of the Goss Printing Press company. He has been serving as executive vice president since the retirement of Martin Brueshaber as president earlier in the year, and will retain his position as treasurer of the company.

Joseph A. Riggs was elected vice president and will have the additional duty of general manager. Curtis S. Crafts was reëlected secretary.

Corlett has been with the Goss company, which has important war contracts, for 24 years.

Chicago's Share of Motor Fuel Tax Is Half Million

Chicago received $518,075 as its share of Illinois motor fuel tax receipts for November, George B. McKibbin, state director of finance, announced yesterday. The total allotted Illinois municipalities was $996,250.

Urgent Need of Auto Repair Men Reported

A critical shortage of automobile and truck mechanics has developed in the Chicago area because of war demands, Samuel Shapiro, general manager of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, said yesterday. The association has just completed a survey in which 190 automobile dealers reported that they now have only 1,134 mechanics —a net loss of 46.5 per cent from their 1941 employment of 2,118.

Samuel Shapiro.

"This shortage is dangerous to the conduct of the war because cars and trucks must be kept running to keep our war economy functioning at a high level," Shapiro said. "This cannot be done unless there is an adequate number of repair men at work."

Men Needed Urgently.

The dealers are urgently in need of at least 570 men, Shapiro said. Of the men lost by the dealers, 726 went into war industries and 621 were drafted or enlisted, or left for other reasons. The 190 dealers said that they are repairing 82,795 cars monthly.

The association reported that in the first 10 days of gasoline rationing service work for dealers was at an unusually high level, especially large repair jobs.

Meanwhile sales of used cars were reported to have slipped since gas rationing. Used car sales in November were down to an average of six per dealer, compared with seven in October, nine in September, and 19 in November, 1941. An average of 21 used cars was on hand per dealer on Dec. 1, compared with 20 on Nov. 1 and 31 on Dec. 1, 1941.

Report on Cars in Stock.

The association reported there are about 8,600 nonpool new cars in stocks of dealers and distributors and about 5,450 in deep-freeze. The nonpool cars are available for purchase by persons who get permits from rationing boards. The deep-freeze cars are held in reserve for army needs.

The 8,600 figure compares with a new car inventory last Jan. 1 of about 18,000 new cars.

Of the used car stocks, it was reported that late model cars were being held in larger numbers, whereas the stocks of older cars have been shrinking considerably.

COURT UPHOLDS COUNTY TAX ON AIR LINE FIRM

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 18 (AP).—In a decision that may affect all the major air transport companies of America, the Minnesota Supreme court ruled today, by a 4 to 3 vote, that Northwest Airlines, Inc., must pay personal property taxes and penalties totaling $18,266 to Ramsey county.

The high court upheld Judge Kenneth G. Brill in an action in which Ramsey county and the state contended Northwest Airlines is subject to 1939 taxes levied on its entire fleet of planes operating between Chicago and the Pacific coast.

Both Judge Streissguth and Associate Justice Maynard E. Pirsig, who wrote the majority opinion, emphasized that the state has power to tax the entire fleet of airplanes "so long as no part of it is permanently located in another state."

Sale of Three Rock Island Road Elevators Approved

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday authorized trustees of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad to sell three grain elevators on the Calumet river to the East St. Louis Grain Elevator company for $400,000. The road paid a million dollars for the elevators in 1904, but recently maintenance cost has exceeded rentals received thru leasing the properties, the trustees said.

Your attention is called to the fact that on and after December 24th, 1942, Southern United Gas Company, a Delaware corporation, will upon the surrender of coupons numbered thirteen (13) attached to its First Lien 6% Income Bonds, dated as of June 1, 1936, at the Principal office of The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, pay two dollars ($2.00) per fifty dollars ($50.00) principal amount of the bonds to which such coupons are attached. This represents 4% on the principal amount of the bonds.

If you hold any of the above bonds we suggest that you prepare the proper Governmental Ownership certificate and that you immediately forward the completed certificate and coupons numbered thirteen (13) to The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, 15th and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, Pa., for payment.

EXPECT WIDER MEAT SHORTAGE IN QUOTA RULE

Plants Give Warning of Rationing.

Stockyards men yesterday said that the new government order reducing packers' sales of meat for civilian consumption after Jan. 1 may create such a shortage that even the new 35 ounces a week voluntary consumer quota cannot be filled and compulsory meat rationing will become imperative.

Privately they asserted also that the order, issued by Leon Henderson as price administrator is misleading and covers up the extent of the reduction in civilian supply.

Called misleading was the statement that the beef quota for packers' sales for civilian trade will remain unchanged at the existing level of 70 per cent of the 1941 production.

Period of Lighter Production.

The stock yards men said that the base period for arriving at the packers' quota actually was changed from the last quarter of 1941, a heavy production period, to the first quarter of 1941, a period of much lighter production. The effect is the same as if the 70 per cent level had been reduced.

As a result, it was said, consumers can look forward to eating 18 per cent less beef in the next three months than they have eaten in the last quarter of this year.

On the basis of the revised allocation orders as a whole for the first quarter of 1943, per capita meat consumption in the nation will fall to the lowest mark on record, stockyards men predicted.

They estimated that the 1943 first quarter quota will be 19 per cent less than that for the last 1942 quarter. They said the cut is the most drastic yet made, and predicted that even civilians located in the large meat packing centers such as Chicago soon will feel the pinch.

Less for Domestic Trade.

According to stock yard estimates, packers will sell 47 per cent less veal to civilians in the next three months than has been sold in the last three months, pork deliveries to the domestic trade will decline about 17 per cent, and lamb and mutton will drop about 18 per cent.

Pork sales for domestic consumer use will be reduced Jan. 1 to 70 per cent of the amount sold in the first three months of 1941. The present quota is 75 per cent of the amount sold in the last three 1941 months. Veal sales to civilians will be cut from 100 per cent of the last quarter of 1941 to 70 per cent of the first quarter of that year. Lamb and mutton sales are to be cut from 95 per cent of the last three months of 1941 to 75 per cent of the new base.

According to spokesmen for retail butchers the new OPA announcement has sounded the death knell of hundreds more shops thruout the nation. Retail butcher shops have been closing rapidly over the last few weeks in all sections of the country because of the meat shortages as well as inability to operate under meat ceilings.

SCULLY CHANGES NAME TO U. S. STEEL SUPPLY

The name of the Scully Steel Products company, United States Steel subsidiary, will be changed to the United States Steel Supply company, effective Jan. 1, E. E. Aldous, president, announced yesterday. He said the principal reason for the change was to identify the supply company more closely with United States Steel subsidiaries, whose products it sells.

Establish Flat Price Pegs on Mutton, Lamb

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—The office of price administration today set flat dollars and cents ceilings on wholesale prices of lamb and mutton and at the same time authorized retailers to charge 3 cents a pound more for mutton than their highest price from Sept. 28 thru Oct. 2.

No changes were authorized in ceilings for lamb sold at retail, which are based on individual sellers' top prices for July 27 to 31.

The new wholesale price maximums for lamb replace ceilings based on individual packers' and wholesalers' highest prices for July 27 to 31. The revised ruling, setting specific price ceilings, was issued in an effort to relieve a "squeeze" which has developed because of the disparity of ceilings among individual sellers, officials said.

Chicago Prices Will Rise.

The new lamb ceilings will reduce the average wholesale price level in most areas, but will boost levels a cent or two a pound in Chicago and San Francisco, and bring smaller increases in New York City, Philadelphia, and Boston, OPA said.

As a result of the wholesale price boosts in Chicago and San Francisco, officials said, it may be necessary to boost retail price ceilings in these cities from the present maximums, which are based on July 27 to 31 prices.

Mutton prices at wholesale and retail were not placed under any control until Oct. 3, when they were frozen at the Sept. 28 to Oct. 2 level. This freeze expired Dec. 3, since which date prices have been going up. Today's order places wholesale mutton price ceilings at about 3 cents a pound higher than the Sept. 28 to Oct. 2 level, and permits this boost to be passed on by retailers.

Wholesale Ceilings Listed.

The wholesale price ceilings for lamb in the Chicago zone [zone 5] per hundred pounds are: Grade AA, $27; grade A, $25.50; grade B, $23.50, and grade C, $21.25. For mutton, the wholesale maximums in the Chicago zone are: Grade S, $14.25; grade M, $13, and grade R, $11.75. Prices are for "round dressed, pluck out" carcasses.

Today's order sets up 10 zones identical with the zones specified in last week's order fixing ceilings on beef sold at wholesale.

Prices in the Chicago zone are 50 cents higher per hundred pounds than those in the Kansas City, Mo., zone [zone 4] which is the basing point. The difference is allowed for freight rates for the basing point.

NORTH WESTERN OFFERS PLAN TO PAY ON CLAIMS

Would Give Payment to Shareholders.

The Chicago and North Western railway yesterday petitioned the United States Supreme court to approve a step which would eventually permit shareholders to realize a partial return on their investment. Under a reorganization plan approved by the interstate commerce commission and confirmed by the court, the stock had been declared worthless.

Helen W. Munsert and Luther M. Walter, attorneys for the road and its trustee, Charles M. Thomson, asked the court to approve the use of available cash to pay the road's obligations to the RFC.

Has Cash to Pay RFC.

The petition said that because of vast improvement in the line's financial affairs since the reorganization plan was evolved in 1940, the road has 60 million dollars in cash or its equivalent to pay in full the RFC debt which is $48,178,750.

The reorganization plan had settled this debt by allotting the RFC securities with a face value of $135,833,808, consisting of new securities of a proposed successor company and those of other companies held as investments and to be delivered by the estate.

Under the attorneys' plan, securities to be relinquished by the RFC in return for cash would be allocated among holders of 20 year convertible bonds of 1949, and preferred and common shareholders. The reorganization plan had allotted the bondholders 40 million dollars in securities of the successor company, half their claims.

Would Satisfy Bond Claims.

Providing another 40 millions to the bondholders, completely satisfying their claims, would leave about 95 millions of the 135 millions of RFC securities for allocation to preferred and common shareholders. Since both classes of stock share equally in a distribution of assets, this would allow the allocation of 50 per cent of the par value of the preferred stock [$22,395,000] and the common stock [$158,440,330].

Reiterating their contention that the ICC plan had restricted capitalization in the reorganization to an unfairly low level, the attorneys asserted the capital should be boosted at least $53,361,041 above the ICC limit of $449,974,309. The proposed increase represents the amount of increase in the road's total assets since the ICC plan was approved.

MILLION SHARE VOLUME BOOSTS STOCKS LITTLE

Profit Cashing Restrains Many of Leaders.

New York, Dec. 18 (AP). — Many stocks today edged into new high ground since last October in the second broadest market of the year, and dealings again topped the million share mark, but cashing of profits on yesterday's rally resulted in some irregularity.

Variations either way ranged from small fractions to $1 or so a share, and the Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at 40.3. Of 912 individual issues traded, against 913 yesterday, 388 were up, 277 down and 247 unchanged.

Altho bullish sentiment continued to predominate in Wall street, brokers said commitments were lightened here and there on the belief that yesterday's upswing might have gone a bit too far. Tax selling again was taken in stride, and war news and business developments both were considered favorable.

Low Priced Shares Active.

Blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares of stocks selling under $5 accounted for a sizable portion of the volume of 1,088,284 shares which compared with Thursday's biggest turnover of the year, 1,307,730 shares.

The list encountered mild difficulties after the opening, altho selective demand was sufficient to keep assorted favorites on the rise. Uneven tendencies prevailed at the close.

Merchandising stocks were aided by estimates of record holiday spending. Oils had the benefit of reports federal officials were considering boosting crude prices as a means of increasing output.

CHICAGO LIST RISES.

Chicago stocks continued their upward trend yesterday with nine issues, some in extremely limited volume, selling at new 1942 price peaks. Chicago Flexible Shaft and Texas company, two of the nine, rose 1 and 1⅛ points, respectively. Most of the others were up fractionally, altho few dropped from their peaks and closed slightly below Thursday's final level.

Middle West, the volume leader, was down ¼ point, and Chicago corporation was up ⅛. Of the 134 issues traded in turnover of 43,000 shares, 62 closed higher, 27 were lower, and 45 were unchanged.

BOND RANGE NARROW.

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—The bond market moved in a narrow range today after yesterday's brisk advance.

Four of the five major groups in the Associated Press average remained unchanged, only utilities advancing .3 of a point, largely as a result of an advance of about 2 points in American Water Works 6s. Sales held up fairly well, however, at $10,734,900 par value, against $12,313,600 yesterday.

Brokers said there was a little profit taking, but blamed failure of buyers to follow thru with sufficient additional purchases on the indecisive market.

United States government loans did virtually nothing, with main activity in the current treasury offering. Argentine 4s and Copenhagen 5s were among foreign issues improving.

FIRST DIVIDEND IN DECADE VOTED BY STORAGE FIRM

Standard Cap Authorizes Special 25 Cents.

The first common stock dividend since 1932 was declared yesterday by directors of the United States Cold Storage corporation, Chicago, who announced that 25 cents a share would be paid. The company paid 50 cents in 1932.

The company also declared a dividend of $1 a share on the prior preference stock, bringing the 1942 total to $2.50, the same as last year. Payment of 60 cents a share on the junior preference stock was the first this year and equaled an initial disbursement made in 1941.

Votes Special Payment.

Standard Cap & Seal corporation, Chicago, declared a special dividend of 25 cents on the common stock, the first payment on the issue since 1940 when 60 cents was paid. The company manufactures milk bottle caps and hoods and machines for sealing these closures.

Directors of the Riverside and Dan River Cotton Mills, Danville, Va., ordered paid on Dec. 29 the preferred dividend of $225,000 owing since Jan. 1, 1938. It carries 6 per cent accrued interest. The directors also declared the normal 3 per cent semi-annual current dividend payable Jan. 1, 1943.
